MISSING GIRL FEARED MURDERED

21st Ward Chairman Loses City Job

Today

Poor Trotzky.
Word of Fear.
Big Business.
The Oil Fight.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

BEING head of a revolution is pleasant until the tide turns. Lenin died in time, Trotzky didn't. First they sent him to cold Siberia and now they exile him to Turkey. When he goes to heaven, the ghosts of Danton and Robespierre will sympathize with Trotzky.

MEANWHILE the Soviet has an exhibition in New York of things that Russia can make, without the help of the czar, and it's an impressive exhibition.

THE Russian government teaches full-grown men and women to read and write, abandoning the Czar's theory, "The less they know the more easily they are governed."

That and giving the land to peasants helps to sustain Russia's new government.

An English tramp said he ate well, slept well and felt well. But when anybody talked about work he "came all over a tremble."

IN SPAIN there is talk of a revolution. It may not amount to much, but the magic word revolution makes finance tremble.

Yesterday the value of Spanish exchange dropped 32 points.

This is nonsense. Spain is a strong, prosperous country. But fear does not reason.

IF YOU are talking about prosperity, it will interest you to know that General Motors set a new high record, earning $279,100,000 in 1928; $38,565,000 in the last two months.

That means more than 6 per cent on 43,500,000 shares of common stock now outstanding.

That really is "big business."

HALEY FISK, president, and Vice President Frederick Ecker, who manage finances for the Metropolitan Life Company, have the thanks of their policy holders. This year the Metropolitan will divide in dividends, for policy holders, $77,138,725—bigger by $9,000,000 than any previous distribution.

Col. Stewart, one of the first to use airplanes in business, keeps busy all over the country.

Meanwhile, little buyers of oil stocks see prices shrinking and tremble. They needn't. The fight will be over soon. The oil will remain.

GEN. ATTERBURY'S Pennsylvania Railroad gives shop employes $3,500,000 more per year. That's good for employes, still better for the railroad.

Industrial leaders realize that their prosperity depends on general prosperity. Big corporations, paying well, build up for themselves a sort of industrial "samurai" as valuable and reliable as the "two sword men" that protected Japan's nobles in the old days.

WHILE England is telling Uncle Sam what he may and may not build in the way of cruisers, "beaten Germany" gives us a useful lesson.

Berlin has built a 9,000-ton cruiser, carrying 11-inch guns, able to blow out of the water the modest 8-inch gun cruisers that Uncle Sam proposes to build.

Some day perhaps our noble government will learn to attend to its own business instead of letting Europe attend to it.

THE Prince of Wales visits English miners, half starved, suffering from cold, and is "heartsick at what he sees."

WHAT radio means to the world, particularly to this country with its millions of radio sets, is not appreciated.

Public thanks are due to the Radio Corporation of America that at great expense engages an excellent orchestra led by Walter Damrosch to play every Friday morning at 11 o'clock for school children and all others that care to "tune in."

Every public school should have a good radio, and the teacher's duty should be to suspend classes and tune in for broadcasting worth while.

If you have a little money to spare, buy a good radio set for the public school nearest you, especially if it happens to be a country public school.

Rich cities should be ashamed to have any public school class without a radio set.

EVERYBODY knows how hard France fought to recover Alsace Lorraine. For more than 40 years the statue of Strasburg, on the Place de la Concorde, in Paris, was draped in mourning.

Then came the great war and France got back Alsace.

NOW Alsatians want to go back to Germany. The German mark is worth par. The French franc is worth less than 20 cents on the dollar.

Base ingratitude, Poincare calls it. Perhaps it is, but Alsatians were Germans when France annexed them long ago. And besides, business is business.

Gets License To Marry Man She Once Fled

RUTH M'CONNELL

Perhaps Miss McConnell, 26, Indianapolis art and music student, is married today to Kenneth B. Coulter, 43, Clifton (N. Y.) capitalist, whose friend in an airplane last December chased her across the continent. Coulter, in a wheel chair, and Miss McConnell yesterday took out a marriage license and "disappeared."

GIRL WHO FLED MAY WED TODAY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Whether Kenneth B. Coulter, Clifton Springs, N. Y., capitalist, and Miss Ruth McConnell, Indianapolis art and music student, have made use of the marriage license they obtained here last Tuesday was still uncertain today.

Preparations at the McConnell home indicated that an event of some sort was anticipated, for decorations were being put in place. Henry McConnell, the father, however, had nothing to say although he intimated that he was considering the issuance of a formal statement concerning the romance of his daughter and Mr. Coulter.

Miss McConnell last December fled from Rochester, N. Y., to San Francisco by train. She was followed by Dr. D. O. Meeker in an airplane.

Miss McConnell answered a telephone call at noon, and said she had nothing to give out.

AIR MAIL HERE TO EXPAND

Increased air mail facilities for Pittsburgh, effective April 1, were announced today by Clifford Ball, Inc., with headquarters at Bettis Field. The present air mail service, now limited to day flying only, will be doubled with the establishment of a night service as well. It was stated that this increased service is due to the efforts of Congressman Clyde Kelly.

A fleet of four planes completely equipped for night flying will be placed in operation, it was said, and assurance has been given that proper emergency fields between here and Cleveland, O., will be laid out and the necessary beacon lights installed by April 1. This is the first move in a nation-wide double transcontinental air mail service.

The new service will be of particular importance to Pittsburgh in that it will give this city an eastern air mail connection.

Mail posted here as late as 9 o'clock in the evening, it is said, will be delivered by carrier in New York and the New England states the following morning through connections at Cleveland.

At present the out-bound mail plane leaves at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. With the new service, another will leave at 10 o'clock at night. The inbound plane now arrives at 1:45 in the afternoon and to this will be added one arriving at 4 o'clock in the morning.

LADY MARY HEATH LAUDS GIRL'S RECORD AIR FLIGHT

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Miss Eleanor Smith, 17-year-old aviatrix, was sleeping soundly at her home in Freeport today after flying 13 hours, 16 minutes and 45 seconds to set a new solo endurance flight record for women.

She was unaware of the flood of congratulatory messages which had come to her, among them one from Lady Mary Heath, English aviatrix.

Miss Heath's telegram read: "Splendid child. Very proud of you. Do you know you have longest night fly by women as well as other records? Congratulations."

Immediately after she made her easy landing at 3:33 a. m. she was taken before a fire to "thaw out."

"I had intended staying aloft at least 15 hours," Eleanor said on landing, "but a stiff, cold wind which sprung up shortly after 3 o'clock forced me to land."

GIRL GONE, MURDER FEARED

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Two airplanes and more than 1,000 citizens assisted sheriffs' posses from two counties today in the search for Edith May Dierdorf, 10-year-old West Terre Haute newsgirl, who disappeared Sunday morning.

The only clues so far are the finding of the girl's newspaper bag under a highway bridge that spans Busseron Creek, near Paxton, Ind., 40 miles south of here; the report of a Terre Haute grocer that the girl rode away with a man in an automobile after the purchase of chewing gum in his store, and the report of a miner that he saw an automobile, tallying with the grocer's description, stop on the highway and that an occupant threw something out.

SEARCH OLD MINES

The two arplanes today flew over the towns of Sullivan, Carlisle and Paxton, while police and citizens continued a search of abandoned coal shafts, creek banks and ditches.

Terre Haute citizens have offered a $500 reward for the return of the child and the Terre Haute Tribune has offered a like amount.

Busseron Creek Sunday was a raging torrent, due to heavy rains. It is feared the girl's body may have been thrown into the creek and washed several miles downstream.

STORM HAMPERS SEARCH

SULLIVAN, Ind., Jan. 31.—(INS.)—A heavy fall of snow during the night that blanketed the countryside today acted as a serious obstacle in the search for the body of 10-year-old Edith Dierdorf, of West Terre Haute, who the authorities feared has been kidnaped and slain in this vicinity.

A squad of Terre Haute police officers were expected to return here today to resume the search along the creeks south of here, where the missing girl's bloodstained newspaper bag was found.

BANKER'S WIFE GETS VERDICT

Michael Berardino, wealthy New Kensington banker, was ordered to pay his estranged wife $5,000 within 30 days and give her $300 monthly for her maintenance, one of the largest awards on record in County Court in such cases, under an opinion handed down today by President Judge Richard A. Kennedy.

They have been separated since August 2, 1927, when, according to testimony of Mrs. Berardino, "Mr. Berardino forced me out of my home with threats upon my life." They were married in 1916 and have one child, 11, attending school at Baden.

Berardino forced her to sit an hour in a chair while he sat in another with a revolver in his hand, the wife testified. She was Marguerite Cancelliere, of Pittsburgh, before her marriage. Her brother, John C. Cancelliere, corroborated her testimony.

New 'Carrie Nation' Wrecks Pool Parlor

ANDERSON, Ind., Jan 31.—(INS.)—The Black Bear Pool Parlor at Markleyville, near here, was badly in need of repairs today after a Carrie Nation act staged by Mrs. Pearl McCallister, who suspected her husband had obtained liquor in the place. The irate wife hurled 18 empty whisky bottles through the plate glass window.

Ford to Abandon Branch of Railroad

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—The Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad, owned by Henry Ford, asked the Interstate Commerce Commission today for authority to abandon its Wellston branch, extending from Jackson to Wellston, O., a distance of 17½ miles.

Plays Cupid

MARILYN MILLER

Marilyn Miller, actress, played cupid for her mother and father and last night started her mother off from Chicago to meet the father in California where the parents will be remarried. The couple separated in 1920, but Marilyn brought about a reconciliation and finally an agreement for re-marriage.

5 ABOVE ZERO FORECAST

As a forerunner to a 5-to-10 degree above zero temperature, predicted for tonight, darkness enveloped Pittsburgh this morning. The Duquesne Light Company reported the heaviest electric load ever carried as thousands of office lights were turned on almost simultaneously.

The lighting company reported an increase of 20,000 kilowatts, running its peak load to 299,000 kilowatts, the heaviest in the company's history.

The snow, which came with the darkness, Weather Forecaster W. S. Brotzman reported, would continue most of the day and tonight the mercury will drop.

Tomorrow will see the frigidity intensified, Brotzman said, as extremely low temperatures prevail over a wide area in the West. The mercury will likely hit zero tomorrow night, he said.

Miss Gentry, Flier, Crashes With Plane

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Violet Gentry, Mineola aviatrix, crashed today after taking off from Roosevelt Field in an attempt to establish a new flying record. Miss Gentry was not seriously injured in the crash, in which one of the wings of her plane was broken. The plane suddenly dipped and fell from a height of some 200 feet shortly after she had taken off. It fell in a field a mile from the take-off point.

Firemen Who Gave Child Oxygen Beat Death

PERRY, Kan., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Two Topeka firemen who for 12 days nursed the spark of life in 7-year-old Margaret Brown by the constant administration of oxygen, were relieved from duty today when their little patient, suffering from a lung infection was pronounced almost out of danger.

For the first time in 13 nights Margaret slept without the aid of oxygen and her physicians said this morning her condition was good.

The child asked for her dolls and also talked about school and her playmates.

Without the oxygen and blood transfusions from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown, the physicians said, Margaret could not have survived the crisis.

OIL FEUD BOOSTS STOCK

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—The sudden burst of activity in Standard Oil of Indiana stock in the curb market revived the talk in the financial district today of aggressive buying of the stock by the opposing Rockefeller and Stewart forces in the big proxy fight.

The stock advanced nearly 2 points to 95 today, in continuation of the sharp advance which has brought it up about 10 points from Wednesday's low price.

CONTEST TO BE CLOSE

As the battle narrows down to the point where each of the factions are able to count their proxy strength, it is believed that the contest has become so finely drawn that the buying of a few thousand shares may have an important effect upon the final results of the fight.

Though both the Rockefeller and Stewart forces have denied entering the stock market, the excited trading and violent fluctuations in price of Standard of Indiana indicated that "something is going on" in the stock.

COUSIN MAY BE "KEY"

Neither the Stewart nor the Rockefeller camps will affirm the reports that Percy Rockefeller, a cousin of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., would support Stewart in the fight, nor has any word been given out as to the lineup of big blocks of corporation and family holdings of stock in the biggest corporation battle ever staged in this country.

Walsh Denies Police Shake-up Is Planned

There will be no wholesale shake-up of the Pittsburgh Police Department February 1.

Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh said so today as he definitely denied a report that four police inspectors, in office since advent of the Kline administration, either would be transferred or demoted the first of the month.

"There will be no change of inspectors February 1," Walsh said, "and none is being contemplated in the immediate future."

Coolidge Will Speak In Florida Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Nightfall tonight will find President Coolidge speeding southward upon what probably will be his last journey away from the capital as chief executive. His destination will be Mountain Lake, Fla, where tomorrow he is to deliver an address dedicating the bird sanctuary and singing tower established by Edward W. Bok.

Trotzky Sails for Turkey—and Exile

MOSCOW, Jan. 31. — (INS.) — Guarded by red soldiers, Leon Trotzky, former Soviet commissar for war, who has been banished from Russia, sailed from the Black Sea port of Batum for Constantinople, according to word from Batum today.

PITTSBURGH DEFENDED AS HEALTHY LOCALITY

In refutation of statistics recently published in a professional journal, which convey the impression that Pittsburgh's death rate is far higher than that of other cities, the Chamber of Commerce gave out figures today, obtained from the Department of Commerce, with a view of presenting the city's health condition in a different light.

Pittsburgh's death rate in 1928 was 14.7 per 1,000 of population. The general average for 66 reporting cities was 13.1.

The statistics which led to the chamber's inquiry gave Pittsburgh a death rate of 42.8. It develops that this was the figure for the last week of 1928 when Pittsburgh was in the midst of the worst pneumonia epidemic in years.

Pittsburgh's death rate in 1928 was only 8.09 per cent greater than the rate of 1927, the chamber reports, whereas New York's death rate increased 10.17 per cent, Chicago's 8.69 per cent, and that of St. Louis 10.08 per cent.

BLUE LAW FOES ORGANIZE CRUSADE

Pittsburgh business men and civic leaders today formed an association to promote modification of Pennsylvania's ancient blue laws, named temporary officers and approved a proposed modification bill which they plan to introduce before the State Legislature next week.

A. L. Humphrey, president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, was temporary chairman and Wilmer F. Jacoby, secretary of the meeting in the Chamber of Commerce. The members authorized an executive committee to draw up a slate of officers and select a name for the association.

The audience was told that in Philadelphia, too, there is a movement under way to modify the blue laws so that they do not interfere with church activities nor promote commercialism, but still allow a wider field of recreation on the Sabbath.

The principal provision of the proposed bill are these:

"Hereafter it shall not be unlawful within this commonwealth on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, to give, indulge in or attend wholesome

Foch Relapse Caused By Attack of Grip

PARIS, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Marshal Ferdinand Foch's relapse, reported today in his illness from heart and kidney trouble, has been caused by a slight attack of grip, it was learned this afternoon.

Maj. Brunet, of Marshal Foch's staff, told International News Service:

HERD, NOT AT WORK, OUSTED

William A. Herd, of 1233 West North avenue, Republican chairman of the Twenty-first Ward, was suspended today by City Controller Henry Oliver Evans. He was employed as a field auditor at $200 a month. Evans said he was suspended for being absent without leave. Herd will stand discharged unless he makes a satisfactory defense within five days.

INDICTED IN RUM PROBE

Herd was one of the 44 whose indictments in the North Side rum conspiracy case were quashed by Federal Judge Robert M. Gibson.

Herd's position is in the non-competitive class of city employes under the protection of the Civil Service Commission. Under the rules Evans' action consisted of suspending the former employe for five days.

In the event Herd does not make a reply that is satisfactory to Evans the suspension will be permanent. In the latter contingency, Herd would still have recourse in an appeal to the commission for a hearing.

FRICTION COMES EARLY

Shortly after taking office, January 7, Evans instructed all employes of the office regarding his ideas on their duties. It was understood friction developed after Evans and Herd talked but neither would give out details of the conversation.

Evans said after Herd had been absent for more than a week without giving any explanation. He wrote Herd a letter on January 23, stating his absence was "fatal of his usefulness" particularly now when the centralized accounting system was being installed. Herd indicated he would not reply to the suspension order.

Verona, 6, Held In Hill Fight

Alderman John J. Verona and six other Hill district figures were held for court by Alderman Charles B. Quailey today on charges of surety of the peace preferred by Joseph Englesberg, Hill political leader. Englesberg accused the seven men of beating him up in the Club Alabam', Wylie avenue cabaret.

The six are Constables James Louvola, Tony Sciano, Augie Manfredo, "Roach" Manfredo, "Little Cckey" Scorcia and a brother.

The defendants still had to face other charges preferred by Engelsberg, who contended that, after beating him up, one of the seven took his coat and vest which contained $300 and valuable papers.

John D., Jr., Starts For Luxor Saturday

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and his party, plan to leave Cairo Saturday aboard the steamer Seraphis for Luxor. Later the party will go as far as Abou Simbel, near Halfa. Dr. Hafez Bey Fifi, foreign minister, and a brother of Mahmoud Samy Pasha, Egyptian minister to Washington, entertained the Rockefeller party yesterday.

Queen Mary Inspects Details of Reception

BOGNOR, Sussex, Eng., Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Queen Mary arrived at Craigwell House at 12:25 o'clock this afternoon to inspect arrangements for the reception of King George, who will spend his convalescent period there. She traveled by automobile, acompanied by her daughter, Princess Mary, the Viscountess Lascelles.

BLAST RIVER FOR DEATH PACT GIRL

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The ice-filled Susquehanna River and the uncommunicative lips of Harry Bowman, perfume salesman, today withheld proof of the disappearance of Verna Klink.

Investigators concluded the river was more likely to yield evidence first, and plans were made for dynamiting the stream.

Bowman, under arrest, spoke only to repeat his story of a suicide pact; that the woman jumped to her death and he crawled to safety after a leap into the water.

He rejected the prison meals with the comment: "Oh, what's the use."

NEW CHARGE PLANNED

Unable to produce the body to support a charge of murder against the salesman, as they had planned, the police thought of making a charge of highway robbery to balk possible habeas corpus proceedings. This charge would be based upon statements that Bowman took about $1,000 from Miss Klink.

Examination of Bowman revealed marks which the police said were probably inflicted by Miss Klink in the course of a struggle.

GIRL FRIEND TALKS

Ethel Miller, friend of Bowman, broke her silence to tell police that the salesman had come to her room after midnight Saturday wet from the waist down. He explained he had been robbed and pushed into the river.

Heinz Managers Guests at Banquet

Managers of H. J. Heinz Company branch factories in the United States and Canada, who are holding their annual convention here this week, were guests of honor at a banquet given in Heinz auditorium, North Side, last night.

M. F. Taylor pronounced an invocation. A. L. Schiel was toastmaster, and addresses were made by R. D. Porter, Chambersburg, Pa.; C. A. Bartlett, Bowling Green, O.; C. A. Hahn, C. E. Miller, E. D. McCafferty, H C. Anderson and Sebastian Mueller. In recognition of 20 years' service, George Dieckman, Hilton, N. Y., was presented with a gold watch, and James J. Gotts, Ambridge, received a gold medal for 10 years' service.

Sir William Grant, British Admiral, Dies

LONDON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Admiral Sir William Grant, 64, commander-in-chief of the North America and West Indies station of the Royal Navy in 1918 and 1919, died today. He retired in 1920. Other deaths recorded today included those of Rev. Dr. David Fyffe, former moderator of the Presbyterian Church of England, 42, and John Noton, traveler and lecturer.

Oklahoma Governor Asks Quick Trial

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Henry S. Johnston, suspended governor of Oklahoma, today pleaded not guilty to eight impeachment articles and announced himself ready for immediate trial before the senate court. Trial on all of the 11 charges returned against Johnston by the house of representatives was set for Feb. 11.

Crew of Distressed Lumber Ship Saved

PARRSBORO, N. S., Jan. 31.—(AP.) — The 480-ton auxiliary schooner Quaco Queen, lumber laden for Cuba, has been abandoned at sea in a waterlogged condition and her crew of seven are aboard the steamer Mainistee, said a radiogram received here. The schooner sailed from Weymouth early in January.

LAWYER LINKED IN BOND RING

Removal to New York of a Pittsburgh attorney named so far only as John Doe, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Knapp, Bennie Diamond and Leo Gallagher, was being arranged today as federal prosecutors plan to go after bigger game in what they allege is a forged bond conspiracy of vast proportions.

The removal proceedings, deferred today for the third time, will be held tomorrow after arrival of an indictment sent to replace one originally found by a federal grand jury in New York. The first indictment was feared to be defective, and it did not contain the name of "John Doe."

Gallagher posted $15,000 bond this afternoon and was released until tomorrow's hearing.

The new indictment with "John Doe" inserted as a co-defendant was drawn at the request of United States Assistant District Attorney Thomas Todarelli after Todarelli had questioned Bennie Diamond.

BANK INVOLVED

Diamond also was questioned in 1926 after the collapse of the Brotherhood Savings and Trust Company. He describes himself as a tailor and has an address at 115 Carson street, but lives at 6423 Forward avenue, and admits he knows something of the bond business.

Gallagher, a bond salesman, also was questioned after the labor bank closed its doors as a sequel to the attempt of its president, Roland McCrady, to purchase cut-rate bonds from Knapp for $320,000.

BONDS NOT DELIVERED

The bonds were never delivered, but the government investigators apparently believe those bonds were real enough to have a hearing on what Todarelli describes as a nation-wide bond swindle ring.

According to Todarelli, the labor bank swindle was only one phase of the operations which led to the present indictments. The government, he said, is interested in a conspiracy "far bigger and with many ramifications."

Other indictments, some naming Pittsburghers, may be expected, according to government attorneys. All told, six persons are now under indictment in the case, the five Pittsburghers and Romeo Forlini, nationally known bond swindler, whose testimony before the grand jury looms large in the government's case.

The proceedings tomorrow will be limited to formal identification of the defendants and issuance of the removal order. Then Todarelli will return to New York, prepared to call the Pittsburghers at any time for arraignment.

Hoover May Lose Oklahoma Vote By Delay

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—A question of whether President-elect Herbert Hoover would receive Oklahoma's 10 electoral votes, which he won by a majority of some 170,000 votes, was raised today in the office of the state attorney general.

Because the presidential returns were not certified to the secretary of state within the period provided by law, the attorney general was asked whether the state's votes could be counted legally.

Graves Leeper, secretary of state, asked the attorney general for an opinion. The certification of returns reached him only yesterday, although it was dated January 2 and signed by Henry S. Johnston, who was suspended from the Governor's office January 14. The reason for the delay was not explained.

FLU DECLINING, U. S. REPORTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Reports on influenza from 42 states and the District of Columbia to the Public Health Service today showed a total of 55,000 cares for the week ending January 26, compared with 89,000 cases in the same territory for the preceding week.

The Census Bureau said the general mortality rate for the latter period, however, was 17.9 per hundred thousand population, compared with 13 for the corresponding week of last year.

Cities reporting to the Census Bureau recorded 783 deaths from influenza and 1,996 from pneumonia during the week endink January 26, compared with 1,033 from influenza and 2,362 from pneumonia during the preceding week.

Police Hunt Pair In Man's Shooting

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Jan. 31.—State and local police today sought two assailants of James Carni, 43, Italian steel worker, who was shot and seriously wounded last night on his way to work. He is in the Ellwood City Hospital with bullet wounds in his back and neck. Police blame a feud which grew out of acquittal of Carni of a murder charge in the Beaver county courts two years ago.

Foiled in an attempted holdup today, a North Side thug fired upon this car in which Paul Ravenstahl, 23, 141 Hanlon street, and French, 25, 1505 Nixon street, were fleeing from him. Both escaped, but one of the three bullets broke the windshield and the door glass, as indicated above, and flying glass cut Ravenstahl, the driver.

EINSTEIN GIVES NEW THEORY TO SCIENCE

(Copyrighted, 1929, by Associated Press.)

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Prof. Albert Einstein, originator of the famous theory of relativity, today published his latest work, a six-page pamphlet of mathematical formulae for which scientists throughout the world have been waiting eagerly.

The pamphlet, which represents the labor of 10 years in preparation, is called "Zur Einheitlichen Feldtheorie" or "On a Uniform Field Theory," and sells for one mark.

The Associated Press asked Dr. Edward Stowe Akeley, American physicist of Chicago, now at the Institute for Theoretical Physics in the University of Berlin, to present a comprehensive summary of this latest contribution of Prof. Einstein to scientific thought. His summary follows in part:

The new theory is distinguished from all previous ones in that it achieves the fusion of geometry, mechanics and electro-magnetism, not by introducing a more generalized geometry than Riemannian, but rather by a Riemannian geometry enriched by an additional concept—an integral parallelism in the sense that if any two-line elements are given they are either parallel or non-parallel. We have a new geometry, therefore, with both the non-integral parallelism of Riemann and the integral parallelism of Euclid.

DEBT AGENCY'S HEAD CAUGHT

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Richard H. Lindley, office manager of the Creditors' Adjustment Company, who disappeared last June when an estimated shortage of $500,000 was reported in the accounts of the company, was arrested in the home of a friend here today.

Lindley was arrested on a federal indictment charging him with using the mails to defraud. He had been sought since the company failed and an investigation into its affairs was begun by Receiver James H. Chilton.

Telephone Scientist Gets Edison Medal

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Dr. Frank B. Jewett, director of research and development for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and president of the Bell Telephone laboratories, received the Edison gold medal last night "for his contributions to the art of electrical communication."

The presentation was made by Dr. Olin J. Ferguson, senior vice president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, at the institute's annual convention, held here. Dr. Jewett is the eighteenth recipient of the award.

Connellsville Budget Reduced to $100,577

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 31.—After wrestling with the 1929 budget problems for four weeks, City Council has finally pared costs until the figures have been reduced to the operating basis of $100,577.

Firemen and police will be docked for illness or off-time, except vacations, and one man will fill the positions of health officer, city sealer of weights and measures and inspector for the City Planning Commission. Street improvements also will be somewhat curtailed.

Mercer Jail Good Place to Cure Colds

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 31.—"Not a cough in a jail load," says Sheriff Dan Callahan, of Mercer county, in reporting on health conditions at the jail. Callahan reports that he has been housing 107 prisoners in quarters intended for 70, but the best of health prevails among his guests. Influenza was blamed for four deaths at the County Home during the recent epidemic.

Westmoreland City Fire Routs Family

JEANNETTE, Pa., Jan. 31.—The family of Jacob Lazar fled in night clothing from their apartment above the Lazar grocery and meat market in Westmoreland City early today when fire swept the structure. Suffering from the near-zero temperature, they were taken in by neighbors. Firemen were hampered by the severe cold. The loss was $10,000.

Mexican Rebel Chief Surrenders With 203

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Gen. Lazaro Cardenas, military commandant of Michoacan, reported today that Simon Cortes Vieyra had surrendered with 203 followers at Santa Maria De Los Altos. Vieyra was one of the most active insurgent chieftains in the state.

DEPOSED PASTOR PLANS BOXING CAREER FOR SON

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Barred from the ministry by his marriage last week to a divorcee, the Rev. Frederick R. "Kid" Wedge planned today to return for a livelihood to the world of the prize ring that he left 22 years ago when he joined the Presbyterian Church.

He announced that he has virtually determined to launch his 17-year-old son, Hugh, on a professional boxing career. The Rev. Mr. Wedge will be his manager and trainer.

The boy, who won the amateur Mid-Western championship in the light-heavyweight class at Omaha a year ago, is a junior at the Emeryville High School. Sport experts have predicted a brilliant career for him.

The elder Wedge received his training as a fighter in the north woods of Wisconsin, where he was a lumberjack.

That hereafter it shall be lawful for cities of the first, second and third class, and boroughs and townships of the first class by ordinance to regulate games, pastimes and amusements on Sunday.

Convicted Woman Gets Sanity Test

NEW YORK, Jan., 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Esther Evans De Forest Wilson, jungle huntress and Washington Society Matron, was taken from prison to Bellevue Hospital yesterday to determine if she was mentally unbalanced when she shot her husband in his Fifth avenue law office last spring.

Mrs. Wilson was convicted of second degree assault last week. Her sentence this week had to be postponed because of the illness of General Sessions Judge Knott.

Upper Michigan City Snowbound 9 Days

FAYETTE, Mich., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Residents of this city, marooned by the blizzard that swept over the upper peninsula district of Michigan last week, yesterday received their first mail in nine days. There was no communication with the railroad 11 miles north except by ski and snowshoe travel.

Accustomed to hard winters, Fayette had stocked up on food supplies and during the nine-day period of isolation there was a shortage of nothing but incoming mail.

Bird S. Coler Quits, Scores Tammany

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Announcing he would retire tonight after 20 years in public service, Bird S. Coler, commissioner of the department of welfare, today denounced Tammany Hall and Mayor Walker. In the 12 years he served as head of the welfare department, he said, only four of 17 men sent him by the Democratic political organization for appointment as deputy commissioner knew anything about their duties.

MOSES' ILLNESS IN RECORDS

Federal Judge R. M. Gibson today, on petition of Assistant United States District Attorney Joseph A. Richardson, directed that the report of Dr. R. R. Jones, who examined Ben L. Moses, a government prisoner, in Montefiore Hospital, for the government, be filed as part of the records of the case.

Moses was sentenced to serve 60 days in jail last December 18 on a charge of violating the prohibition act, but was removed to the hospital the following day. The report shows that Moses is bedfast and in need of special treatment. The report also gives a complete resume of the ailment which is said to date back several years. Moses first was allowed to go to the hospital for 30 days and yesterday this was extended another 30 days.

MYSTERY MAN RUNS CIGARET CRUSADE

A mysterious upholder of the law has been creating consternation among 20 or more proprietors of small confectionery stores in Swissvale and Wilkinsburg by making informations against them charging the sale of cigarets to minors. The agent, giving the name of L. L. Vatterly, and his address as Edgewood, swore to the informations before Justice of the Peace James Joyce, of Wall.

As a result of the mystery man's activity warrants have been served on 20 of these storekeepers. Six of them received hearings yesterday before Joyce. They were fined $5 and costs, but most of them are reported as having taken transcripts of the case and are prepared to appeal the verdict. They are L. C. McKibbon, G. C. Anderson, Mrs. Anna Anger, E. L. Mills and J. D. Donley, all of Wilkinsburg, and Nick Baker, Swissvale. The remaining 14 are to receive hearings today or tomorrow.

Along with the mysterious prosecutor is said to be an "operator," who makes the alleged buys. He is said to be a minor, but some of the storekeepers allege he appears to be at least 21 years old. Justice Joyce is quoted as saying that he never saw Vetterly before. Michael A. Sotak, 1003 Swissvale avenue, Wilkinsburg, one of those to have a hearing today or tomorrow, says he is unaware of Vetterly's identity.

Rear Admiral Delano Dies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Rear Admiral Francis H. Delano, 80, retired, died today at the naval hospital at Annapolis, Md. He was born in Mt. Carmel, O., April 14, 1848.

"I'M THE GUY" SELECTS SOMETHING COMPLICATED

I'M THE GUY is a simple soul. He loves simplicity. He even pays for it with his cash daily awards in the Sun-Telegraph. However, today's first prize of $5 is going to a more or less complicated wise-crack.

That is minor. It looks complicated at a glanze, but when you analyze it, it is really simple. And it is a novelty. Figure it out:

FIVE DOLLAR WINNER.

"I'M THE GUY who took 3-7 of a CHicken, 2-3 of a CAt and ½ of a GOat and made CHICAGO."—Miss Ida Ruth Murtland, 519 New Castle street, Butler, Pa.

ONE DOLLAR WINNERS.

"I'M THE GUY who said letter A is like 12 o'clock noon, because it's the middle of dAy."—H. J. Drake, 17 Holt street, Pittsburgh.

"I'M THE GUY who looked in the mirror and discovered AGE in IMAGE."—Miss Sue Gue, 400 West Fifth street, McKeesport.

"I'M THE GUY who showed by my face that I held a lucky ace."—Mrs. Helen Pirmez, 419 Valley street, McDonald, Pa.

"I'M THE GUY who made an orator out of a decorator."—Miss Marie Sherbok, Southwest, Pa.

Folks, I'm dropping the coupon we have been printing for your convenience. Most of you find ordinary paper or a postal card more handy.

—I'M the GUY.

Playwright Kills Self

MILAN, Italy, Jan. 31.—The famous playwright, Marco Prague, was found dead today. The police said he committed suicide.

FINES IN SLOT BOX CASES ILLEGAL

Justice of the Peace Wallace L. Baker was found guilty of extortion on six counts, and malfeasance in office, by a jury in Criminal Court today. The jury, locked up yesterday, reached agreement after four hours' deliberation and had the verdict ready when court convened today in the room of Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff. He was released under bail of $2,000 pending a motion for a new trial, which his counsel, Patrick Corr, said would be filed.

Judge Graff directed that Constable E. V. Stokes, placed on trial jointly with Baker, on charges of conspiracy to extort, extortion and malfeasance, be acquitted by the jury because of the failure of the prosecution to identify him with the charges, and also directed that Baker be acquitted on the charge of conspiracy.

SPORTSMEN RAP BILL TO BALK GAME BODY

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 31.—More than 250 representatives of sportsmen's organizations, meeting here today to discuss legislation bearing on game, fish, forests, streams and conservation, adopted a resolution opposing the bill of Senator Horace W. Schantz, Lehigh, which would strip all discretionary power from the State Game Commission.

The Schantz bill would repeal sections of the game code which give the commission jurisdiction over opening and closing seasons, such as deer seasons, and also end the control of the commission over removing game for protection.

Instead, the sportsmen discussed a bill drawn by John Q. Creveling, Wilkes-Barre, president of the United Sportsmen. The Creveling bill would require public hearings on all rulings of the commission.

Sportsmen who continue to oppose the ruling after the final hearing must carry their case into Dauphin County Court within 15 days after the last hearing in order to upset the ruling. Final action of the conference on the Creveling bill is expected late this afternoon.

The recent season for shooting doe deer was mentioned only casually in connection with the Creveling bill. The conference approved a bill backed by the Izaak Walton League and the State Conservation Council, to appropriate $5,000,000 state funds for purchase of land for re-forestation during the next two years.

Four Barrels Wine Too Much Medicine

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 31.—Tony Cincola's excuse that he made wine for his sick wife had no effect upon a jury in County Court. It was charged that four barrels of wine had been found in the cellar of Cincola's Sharon home and the jury, deciding that it was too much for one person, found him guilty. Anna F. Glatian, Farrell, was also found guilty of manufacturing and possessing liquor, and William Huser, Sharon, of possessing and transporting.

APPROPRIATION MEASURE SIDETRACKS CRUISER BILL

Fifth Avenue Wife Stenog To Husband

CHURCHES TAKE DEFINITE STEP TO EFFECT MERGER

NAVY BUILDING PLAN CERTAIN OF PASSAGE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—The administration's new cruiser bill, assured of enactment, was sidetracked temporarily in the Senate today to permit action on the much delayed independent offices appropriation bill.

The cruiser advocates were not alarmed, however, as an agreement limiting debate after Monday will insure enactment of the bill early next week. A poll has shown the bill will be enacted on the final roll call by an overwhelming vote.

SPEED URGED

The administration has urged prompt action on remaining appropriation bills in order to clean up the regular program of Congress.

The Agricultural Department appropriation bill, carrying $145,729,000, was enacted late yesterday, while the independent offices, the War Department and District of Columbia bills are pending in the Senate. Two more have yet to be enacted by the House—the Naval and the Legislative appropriation bills, the latter providing the money for Congress itself.

Once these appropriation bills have been enacted, Congress' work for the session will be concluded, except for minor matters.

REED SLAMS PACIFISTS

Reed lambasted pacifists and internationalists, declaring peace treaties would not protect American interests or American commerce and that a great modern navy was needed as a measure of urgent national defense.

"I would have an American Navy equal to any other two navies in the world," said Reed, "and then I know we would have peace."

"OBSOLETE" SHIPS RAPPED

Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, veteran of the Spanish and World Wars and the Mexican campaign, said he was proud to be a pacifist and to oppose the naval bill. He charged the cruisers, so authorized, would be obsolete before they were launched and he pleaded with the Senate to spend the money required on submarines and aircraft.

Brookhart charged the cruiser program was the "brain-storm" of the "old order of things" and cited instances in the World War where the nation's military strategists were forced to abandon their traditional theories of warfare.

Recalling President-elect Hoover's recent South American trip, Brookhart said: "The first act our new President did was to take a warship and go fishing. He caught two fish and that is the best return we will ever get out of that warship."

ARMY SCHOOLS RIDICULED

Brookhart also made light of the Army schools and their method of training before the war. He said that men who spent 20 years getting ready for war by fighting imaginary battles were unfit to exercise common sense when wars did come, and told the Senate that if war were declared tomorrow he would resign and enlist.

"But I believe that we can get away from this period of revenge and punishment," he declared. "I believe there is something greater than organized murder. There is more imagination in this thing called preparation for war than in all the pacifism in the world."

Utilities 'Influence' on Faculty Charged

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—A resolution requesting a legislative inquiry into alleged influences exerted upon members of the University of Nebraska faculty by public utilities representatives, was introduced in the State Senate yesterday. Senator McGowan, in introducing the resolution, said the recent united senatorial inquiry "disclosed that a combination of power interests are attempting to reach into the educational system of the country for the purpose of using them as a means of developing their propaganda."

'Hoovers' California Host Leaps to Death

WHITTIER, Cal., Jan. 31.—(AP) Death of Judge Madison T. Owens, 76, widely known Southern California jurist, who entertained Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover when they were in Los Angeles last autumn, has been written down as a suicide.

Judge Owens died from injuries received when he leaped from the second story window of a hospital where he had been convalescing from a stroke of paralysis. The jurist had known Mrs. Hoover since her girlhood.

Kidnap Trial Judge Suffers Breakdown

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Judge Robert E. Gentzel has been ordered to a hospital for complete rest following a breakdown induced, his physicians said, by the strain of the Ranieri kidnaping and the Rongetti murder trials.

Judge Gentzel presided over these trials within a month. Both were marked by charges of intimidation, and in the Ranieri trial Judge Gentzel's life was threatened.

MRS. CRUTCHFIELD

J RALPH CRUTCHFIELD

When Mr. Crutchfield goes off to his office, there isn't a wife to be jealous of a blonde stenographer. Mrs. Crutchfield is his stenographer and in his office he's boss!

MRS. CRUTCHFIELD WITH RALPH, JR., AND JACK

But at home, someone else is boss and in this photograph she fondles the two little Crutchfields. "He's a good husband," she says; "She's a good stenographer," he says.

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

THURSDAY, JANUARY 31, 1929

WIFE TAKES HIS DICTATION, IN OFFICE ONLY

In the office he tells her to take a letter, but at home, when Ralph, Jr., or little Jack breaks up the dawn with a song, she tells him to stroll the baby back to slumber.

That is the pleasant situation of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Crutchfield, managing director of the Law and Finance Building and managing director of the Crutchfield home, respectively.

Mrs. Crutchfield is her husband's stenographer. From 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. she obeys meekly when her employer tells her to answer that telephone, or see that a new lock is installed in office 666, or make fewer mistakes in those letters to customers.

WHEN HUSBAND IS ROUTED

But at 5 o'clock the Crutchfields move on to their home in the Fairfax Apartments. And it's then that Husband Crutchfield is routed from the throne and displaced by his comely wife. If the cat's to be invited to leave, if, by chance, the cream runs out, if somebody who's working his way through college selling magazines comes to the door—it's Mrs. Crutchfield, the erstwhile stenographer, who gives the orders, it's Mr. Crutchfield, the former business executive, who must tend to the details.

JUST VOLUNTEERED

The Crutchfields have two young children. Mr. Crutchfield found himself without a stenographer in his busy season. Mrs. Crutchfield volunteered. That was six weeks ago. She's still volunteering successfully. Mrs. Crutchfield finds that she is able to fill the stenographer's role without interference with her duties as a mother.

Here, of course, is a hint to those wives who would like to eliminate the attractive blonde stenographers of their husbands. But Mr. Crutchfield will tell you that he finds his stenographer rather fair to gaze upon.

Theft Case Gets Murder Suspect Life Term

SEATTLE, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Life imprisonment was the sequel recorded in Superior Court here of what attorneys had described as "a murder trial without a murder charge."

Within five minutes after a jury had convicted Decasto E. Mayer yesterday of being an habitual criminal, the court meted out the life imprisonment sentence.

Mayer recently was convicted of grand larceny in the "chargeless murder trial." He was accused of stealing an automobile and watch belonging to James Eugene Bassett, of Baltimore, who disappeared after business dealings with Mayer and his supposed mother, Mrs. Mary E. Smith, who also was convicted of grand larceny. Bassett's body never has been found and the manner of his death has never been determined, but authorities were convinced that Mayer had slain the missing man.

FISHING CLUB LOSES APPEAL

Judge Nelson McVicar in Federal Court today handed down an opinion in which he refused a petition of the Union Fishing Club for return of ledger, minute book and some canceled checks of the club seized when the club was raided by federal prohibition agents January 8.

The opinion also refused that they be supressed as evidence against the club and individual defendants now under indictment on charges of conspiracy to violate the Prohibition Act.

Counsel for the club, at a hearing Tuesday, argued that the seizure of the books and papers was illegal, as the search warrant only called for intoxicating liquors. Government attorneys admitted seizure of the papers, denied that such seizure was illegal, but justified as incidental to arrests for violation of the Prohibition Act in the presence of a federal agent.

MISERY IN COAL FIELDS RAISES WALES' IRE

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, England, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Saddened by scenes of misery and squalor, the Prince of Wales was winding up his trip through the northern coal fields today.

"It's ghastly, positively ghastly," he exclaimed more than once as he witnessed in many mining villages poverty which shocked and surprised him.

Indignation was expressed frequently by the Prince to officials.

One of the worst places visited was the village of Benton, where a collection of tumble-down cottages was in a sea of mud. Rolling his trousers high above his shoetops, the Prince plunged through the quagmire. Being told that families of eight to 10 persons were living in these hovels, he exclaimed:

"It's horrible."

"But they are rent free," he was told.

"That's the best that can be said about them," the Prince answered with a contemptuous ejaculation.

"Not much light here. How ever do you find your way about?"

"We are glad to find any place to live," a woman replied. "Some of these cottages have been condemned, but they are homes to us."

Some cottagers at Bedlington had written the Prince, relating their condition. He responded by calling at their poor homes in a long, dismal stretch of buildings each of which was exactly like the others.

In one of the dwellings the Prince brought joy to a paralyzed girl who was scarcely able to talk when he stood by her side speaking words of sympathy.

CHILDS OUSTS OFFICIALS OF FIRM IN COUP

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—A battle of proxies for control of the chain of Childs restaurants seemed today to be imminent.

It was forecast after a coup was executed by William Childs, founder of the $37,000,000 company which operates 125 restaurants throughout the country. The officers of the company were turned out and replaced by members of his immediate family.

At a meeting of the directors yesterday, Mr. Childs trained his heavy artillery on William A. Barber, counsel for the company, and the other officers went down with him.

In the place of S. Willard Smith, president, Childs put his brother, Luther Childs. Another brother, Sllsworth, was made treasurer, and his wife, Victoria Childs was made secretary. Mrs. Childs, until her marriage to the restaurant magnate last year, was his private secretary.

Hoover Gives $1,000 To Capital Charities

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—President-elect Hoover has contributed $1,000 to the community chest fund now being raised here. The fund is intended to finance 57 charitable organizations throughout the year. President Coolidge had already contributed, but the amount was not revealed. Mr. Hoover's gift, made also on behalf of his wife, was telegraphed from Florida to those in charge.

Bomb Found at Home Of Chicago Reformer

CHICAGO, Jan., 31.—(AP)— A bomb made up of 12 sticks of dynamite, the fuse of which had gone out was found in front of the residence of Daniel L. Gilday, vice-president of the Better Government Association and president of the South Side Englewood Law and Order league. He turned it over to the police.

Court Decides "No Checkee" No Alibi

Yesterday Chong Wing Lee, laundry proprietor, of 418 South Craig street, was convicted of fraudulent conversion. He refused to deliver five laundered shirts to Frank McManus, of Philadelphia, who was visiting a sister in the Morewood Gardens, Morewood avenue, last August.

McManus said he called for the shirts, and because he had mislaid the check, was greeted with, "No checkee, no washee."

Judge George V. Moore ordered the defendant immediately to pay McManus $15 for the shirts and granted a parole for six months upon payment of costs.

OHIO ST. FIRE ROUTS SIX

Six persons were routed when smoke from a fire in the National Shoe Company store at 113 East Ohio street filled their rooms last night. The shoe store was damaged to the extent of $2,500. The persons routed are occupants of a rooming house on the second and third floors of a building at 115 East Ohio street, conducted by Mrs. Ella Foster.

The fire originated in the rear of the shoe store from an undetermined cause and most of the damage was to stock and store equipment. District Chief Martin Loebig estimated the damage. Firemen were called back to the store several hours later when flames broke out again, but they were quickly extinguished. Saul Pearlstone, of 5436 Northumberland street, is owner of the store.

Foot Injury Kills East End Workman

Injured while at work in the plant of the Rust Engineering Company, Lloyd Fitzgerald, 21, of 3618 Penn avenue, died this morning in Mercy Hospital. His right foot was injured January 16.

STATE PADLOCK ASKED FOR FIVE RUM SPOTS

The state of Pennsylvania today asked Common Pleas Court to padlock seven places for alleged violation of the Snyder act. Maj. Robert M. Ewing, special deputy state attorney general, filed the action, which asked for injunctions in the name of the state, county and city, but it is understood that state police secured the evidence against the places and was the prime mover in the court action.

Five of the places are on the North Side, one downtown and one in Soho.

The proprietors of the places and owners of the buildings as listed in the papers:

James DeAngelo, 104 South Diamond street; building owned by Julius Skigner; John Beams, 607 Madison avenue; John and Marie Beams, owners; Charles Gutauskus, 2208 Fifth avenue; Patrick McKnight, owner; Paul Jukic and Peter Bragich, 617 Chestnut street; George Harmic, owner; Andrew Elias and B. Frank, 932 Spring Garden avenue; Frank and Teresa Skledar, owners; Pauline Frisleben, Third avenue and Grant street; Edmund W. Mudge, owner.

In a separate action Maj. Ewing asked that the $2,000 bond of Louis Kubras and Christ Chaconas be forfeited for violation of a padlock against their place at 316 Federal street.

Death Car Driver's Trial Nearing End

The case of W. H. Hopper, of Canonsburg, on trial in Criminal Court before visiting Judge Charles D. Copeland, of Westmoreland County, on a charge of involuntary manslaughter, will be given to the jury today.

He is accused of responsibility for the death of Anthony Forrester, former police captain, in an automobile collision August 13, near Bridgeville. Prosecution witnesses said that defendant drove into the car driven by Forrester, turning it over and causing Forrester's death, and that defendant was intoxicated.

Star to Wed Realtor

PRESBYTERIAN, M. E. SURVEY ORDERED

An important chapter was written into American church history here last night leading clergymen say when they and laymen of the Presbyterian Church of the United States and the Methodist Episcopal Church of the United States took the first concrete step toward merging the two denominations.

The action taken by the conference was in the nature of a resolution which recognizes the organic unity of the two churches, calls for the appointment of joint committees to consider the question of polity, doctrine, administrative work and property interests of the two churches.

NAME COMMITTEES

These committees were appointed: On polity and doctrine, Bishop William F. McDowell, Washington; the Rev. Dr. Ray Allen, Buffalo; F. A. Horne, New York, Methodists; the Rev. Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, Princeton, N. J.; the Rev. Dr. Lewis Seymour Mudge, Philadelphia; Dr. Robert E. Speer, New York, Presbyterians. Committee on administration and property interests, the Rev. Dr. Henry C. Swearingen, St. Paul; the Rev. Dr. Joseph A. Vance, Detroit; the Rev. Dr. William O. Thompson, Columbus, Presbyterians; Bishop Herbert Welch, Pittsburgh; Bishop F. D. Leete, Omaha; Dean James A. James, Chicago, Methodists.

The committees were instructed to study the questions assigned to them and to make full reports to the joint merger committee at the earliest possible time.

PASS RESOLUTION

The resolution reads:

"By authority of the actions of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States, and of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States, recognizing the obligation of organic unity of the churches, which rest in the rock of Christ, this conference of the committee, appointed by the Methodist Episcopal General Conference, and of the department of church co-operation and union of the Presbyterian Church, to which consideration of the matter of the organic unity of these two churches, has taken up its tasks.

"It rejoices in the duty assigned to it. It recognizes the differences in the way, but it cherishes this ideal organic unity as the goal to which we are bound to direct our earnest and immediate effort. It expresses its resolute purpose to proceed at once to the consideration of the practicability of the method of organic unity of the two churches which it represents."

MISSION UNITY

It was voted also to advise the boards of Home and Foreign Missions of the two churches of the conviction of this conference that it should be the continued aim of the boards of the churches to promote co-operation and unity in the work and to support, so far as possible, the effort for the organic unity of all the evangelical churches in the mission fields.

Representatives of both denominations at the conference expressed great satisfaction over the results of the deliberations.

"Nothing less than church history was made in Pittsburgh today," declared the Rev. Dr. Eugene M. Antrim, president of Oklahoma City University. "Nothing but enthusiasm was manifested by both sides regarding the merger. We are heading in the right direction and it will now only be a matter of time before our two great denominations will be amalgamated into one."

He pointed out that the final consummation of the merger cannot possibly occur before 1932, since whatever action taken by the joint merger committees will have to be approved by the Methodist General Conference in that year. The merger will involve 4,000,000 communicants of the Methodist and 2,000,000 of the Presbyterian denominations.

INDORSE MERGER

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—One hundred members of the National Staff of the Presbyterian Church meeting here today moved for speedy negotiations to bring about a union of the Presbyterian and Methodist Episcopal Churches of this country.

A telegram was sent to Dr. Joseph A. Vance, of Detroit, who was in Pittsburgh today conferring with leaders on the proposed union. The message said:

"The national staff of the Presbyterian Board of National Missions, conscious of the various problems of church competition and neglect in home mission fields, and desiring the united forward movement for evangelical Christianity, requests you to express its hope for positive advance toward the union of our church with the Methodist Episcopal and the Southern Presbyterian bodies."

Father to Answer Kidnaping Charge

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Counsel for Orator F. Woodward, jelly manufacturer, charged with kidnaping his own children from their mother in Paris, have agreed to produce him and the children in court today to answer to a writ of habeas corpus sued out by Mrs. Woodward's mother.

Woodward arrived on the Ile de France, but left with the children by the crew's gangplank and so did not meet a process server waiting for him at the passenger gangway. However, counsel for Mrs. Mary Davis, Mrs. Woodward's mother, announced that he had been served at his hotel.

TEACHER, UNINTENTIONAL ALIEN, BECOMES CITIZEN

Miss Maud Shea, a teacher of household economics in Fifth Avenue High School, who had always considered herself an American citizen until she applied for an American passport, became a full-fledged citizen today. Judge R. M. Gibson signed the order admitting her to full citizenship in Federal Court this morning.

Miss Shea, who has been a teacher in Pittsburgh public schools for 30 years, discovered that she was not an American citizen when she made application for a passport to go to Wales.

At that time she was unable to establish that her stepfather, Louis Reif, had been an American citizen. Miss Shea came to this country with her mother, a widow, in 1884. Her mother soon afterward married Reif.

When her citizenship was questioned, Attorney Thomas E. Killgallen and Robert E. Fulton signed a petition, asking the court that she be admitted to citizenship under the Act of 1910, which pertains to such cases. The matter was referred to William Ragsdale, naturalization officer of the Pittsburgh district. Attorney Killgallen and Fulton appeared in court as character witnesses for Miss Shea.

SUZANNE NOT TO MARRY, SAYS HER FRANTIC PAPA

NICE, France, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The return home of Suzanne Lenglen promises to be as exciting as was her departure from America. Papa Lenglen is, his neighbors say, well nigh frantic over the publicity which his daughter received in local papers when the international tennis star quarreled with New York newspaper photographers at the pier.

M. Lenglen, according to family friends, opposed the American trip in the first place, contending that Suzanne should not do anything that would bring her into the limelight. He feared that her impetuosity would create trouble in California or some other part of the United States.

The door of the Lenglen villa now is barred against reporters and to all telephone inquiries. He says:

"I know nothing. Any talk about Suzanne's marriege to Baldwin M. Baldwin is rubbish!"

Friends say that he has not been the same since his daughter listened to the arguments of C. C. Pyle and turned professional. Although the money that resulted saved the Lenglen homestead, the father of the family has remained depressed. He daily crosses the road to the tennis club which he founded, chooses a seat in the sunshine and sits there for hours. He seldom, however, watches the play, although he used to follow every stroke.

Jerusalem Insect Hordes Repulsed

JERUSALEM, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—There was a sharp engagement on both sides of the River Jordan recently between modern science and swarms of locusts. The insects suffered heavy casualties.

The Agricultural Department of the government was notified that the locusts had swarmed north of Jericho on both sides of the river.

It's "Flu" Weather!

...guard health this way

TO AVOID colds, "flu" and other dangerous winter ills, keep the body clear of intestinal poisons. But instead of nasty oils, harsh cathartics and pills that often upset the stomach and gripe, use safe Ex-Lax.

Children love this laxative. It tastes like candy. It is chocolate treated with tasteless, non-habit-forming phenolphthalein, which relieves constipation, cleanses the system and restores normal elimination.

As your doctor will tell you, Ex-Lax is good for both children and grown-ups. It's "flu" weather now! Keep Ex-Lax always on hand. It will safeguard health if taken at the first warning of trouble. Sold by all druggists. Three sizes, 10c, 25c and 50c.

"Of course, I've never said the above! But how I've been tempted to, when a heavy bass whoop or a shrill soprano bark has drowned out my best wise-crack.

"But it isn't good cricket to publicly embarrass a cougher. He isn't barking on purpose. He needs quiet, friendly counsel. He should, in confidence, be told to smoke OLD GOLDS.

"You'll enjoy the show better . . . and so will I . . . if we can just get this tip over to him. For, from my own experience with this smooth and throat-easy cigarette, I don't believe there's a cough in a capacity house-ful of them."

HOOVER TO RUN WHITE HOUSE LIKE BUSINESS

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Service.

LONG KEY, Fla., Jan. 31.—Herbert Hoover is planning a number of innovations in conducting the executive business of the government when he takes over the reins at the White House March 4. One of these involves the office of secretary to the President, always an important post and one that has become increasingly so in recent years with the steady increase of the executive burden.

Instead of one secretary, as at present, Mr. Hoover would like to have at least two, or even three, with a clear division of duties and at salaries sufficient to command the services of competent executives.

Partly at Mr. Hoover's instigation, President Coolidge already has asked Congress to authorize an appropriation of $10,000 a year for a "second secretary." It is quite likely that before he has been long in office Mr. Hoover will request another appropriation of a similar amount for a third secretary.

The burdens of the executive office are now tremendous, and each session of Congress sees them increased. More responsibility is steadily being reposed in the Chief Executive. He must read more reports, make more appointments, accept responsibility for the acts of more men as each year passes.

One of Mr. Hoover's passions is organization and administration. He believes that the present method of conducting White House business is inefficient, that it puts too much detail work upon the President, and that it is simply bad business administration to tie down a $75,000-a-year executive with a lot of routine that should be handled by $10,000 men.

It isn't done in "big business," and Mr. Hoover doesn't believe it should be done in the government, which is the biggest business in the world.

Moreover, it is Hoover's idea of how to meet the perennial problem of "overworking the President."

'WELL DRESSED MAN' TO NEED 20 SUITS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The well-dressed man should have at least 20 suits in his wardrobe, a dozen hats, eight overcoats and 24 pairs of shoes, the fashion board of the National Association of Merchant Tailors declared today in its report to the association's annual convention.

For the ultra-fastidious Beau Brummel, the latest novelty for spring will be a gray ensemble, consisting of a mouse gray sack coat and double-breasted waistcoat with a contrasting gray-striped trousering and gray derby hat, wing collar and Ascot or bow tie.

The wardrobe of a man of social position should include six sack suits a season, two full-dress evening suits, a single and a double-breasted tuxedo suit and evening clothes in tropical weight for summer wear.

MRS. RUTH HANNA M'CORMICK

MRS. M'CORMICK DENIES CHARGE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, who was elected congresswoman-at-large from Illinois, today entered a general denial of charges that she had been "dictating" state appointments by telephone from Washington.

In a statement she specifically denied she had intervened to prevent Mrs. Lottie H. O'Neill, first woman member of the Illinois Legislature, obtaining the chairmanship of the House Committee on Education.

"I did not know she wanted it," Mrs. McCormick declared.

Mrs. McCormick became a target for attack when Mrs. O'Neill was refused the chairmanship of the House Committee on Education, being offered, instead, three minor chairmanships, which she refused.

N. Y. Sculptor Wins Kansas Competition

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Bryant Baker, New York sculptor, has been notified by the Kansas State Pioneer Woman's Memorial Association that his model had won the competition for a commission to execute the pioneer woman's statue to be erected on the state capitol grounds at Topeka.

The notification came from Mrs. George Norris, chairman of the association. Mr. Baker's model consists of the figure of a pioneer woman holding a scythe and leading a child by the hand. The statue is to cost $25,000.

Morrow Starts Back To Post in Mexico

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Dwight W. Morrow, United States ambassador to Mexico, left here last night in his private car, Livingstone, attached to the west bound express. Mrs. Morrow joined him at Stockbridge.

It was understood that he was en route to St. Louis, from where he will go directly to Mexico City.

FLIER JUMPS 3,000 FEET WITH MAIL

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—(INS.)—The "Caterpillar Club" had a new member today in the person of Jack Story, airmail pilot, who last night during a blinding snowstorm, tucked a pouch of valuable mail under his arm and stepped into darkness, 3,000 feet in the air.

The dramatic leap was made near Davenport, Ia., when Story's plane, en route from Kansas City to Chicago, became disabled in the blizzard. The plane, with its wings weighted down with ice, could no longer be controlled.

Shutting off his motor, story seized a sack of choice mail, climbed out on one of the wings and stepped into inky space. His parachute gave him a safe landing. The abandoned plane has not been located, according to late reports to the Chicago airport.

The daring pilot was awaited here by many fliers who hailed him as the newest member of the "Caterpillar Club," an organization of airmail pilots who have been forced to desert planes in the air.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who thrice saved himself by similar leaps, is the most distinguished member of the club.

Coaster, 17, Killed as Sled and Auto Hit

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—William Stephenson, 17, of Conemaugh, died in a hospital here late last night of injuries received in a coasting accident. Russell Hildebrand, of Conemaugh, driver of the car into which young Stephenson's sled crashed, was questioned by police, who later expressed their belief that he was blameless. Stephenson suffered a fractured skull.

Two Rebel Officers Executed in Mexico

GUATEMALA CITY, Jan. 30.—(AP.)—Col. Fernando Morales and Lieut. Col. Carlos de Peon Regil were executed at Quetzaltenango yesterday after a court martial had found them guilty of rebellion and deprived them of their military ranks.

Regil is reported to have made important revelations bearing on the recent revolution which the government suppressed.

POLICE SYSTEM LINKING WHOLE STATE URGED

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(A.P.)—A telegraphic-typewriter system, linking together every city and town in Pennsylvania having 24-hour police protection will be requested of the 1929 General Assembly by the Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Association. The executive and legislative committees meeting here yesterday adopted a resolution calling upon the Legislature to appropriate $375,000 for the purchase and installation of the apparatus.

Under the proposal, police departments would be grouped in four zones with the central office at the State police headquarters here. One of the zones would center in Philadelphia, another in Pittsburgh and a third in the anthracite region. This would provide an instant means of communication between departments, and the police officials describe it as a great help in apprehending criminals.

The proposed firearms bill would require registration of all pistols and revolvers and provide extra penalties for crimes committed with firearms. It would also prohibit the sale, possession and distribution of machine guns. A committee was named to confer with Charles E. Fox, former Philadelphia district attorney, who prepared the firearms bill introduced in the Legislature by the State Crimes' Commission.

Mayview to Lift Flu Epidemic Quarantine

The quarantine established December 16 at the City Home and Hospital, Mayview, to check the spread of influenza and pneumonia, will be lifted at 9 a. m. Sunday and visitors again will be admitted to the institution, according to announcement by Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director of the welfare department.

Mayview escaped an epidemic of influenza and pneumonia and there was no increase in the death rate as a result of the precautions, Mrs. Rauh said.

Wood St. Firm Wins $10,000 City Suit

After eight years of delay, a consent verdict of $10,000 was awarded the Joseph Woodwell Company, Wood street hardware dealers, against the City of Pittsburgh for a 20-foot strip of property taken in the widening of Second avenue. The Woodwell company leased the land and was required to move its brick building onto adjoining land. Viewers awarded $20,000 damages in 1920. The Woodwell company appealed from the award, asking $50,000. The city also appealed, saying $20,000 was too much.

FEBRUARY first ushers in the great home classic—the February Furniture Sale—an event, which in many respects, transcends every other occasion on the store's calendar!

February and furniture are synonymous in the public mind, and for good reason.

The justification for this is that most people have to be stimulated by unusual circumstances to bring themselves to consider home improvements.

Like starting a savings account, taking out life insurance, buying a home, and other things which make for prosperity and happiness, many people have to be persuaded and induced to make home improvements.

Fair To All

There is no discrimination in this action. The sale is publicly advertised, and open to everybody.

Some stores would discontinue the February Furniture Sale, because of the sacrifice of profit, which this sale, honestly conducted, entails. We are willing to continue it, because we believe that is still needed by the furniture industry and home interests.

10,000 New Homes

Official figures for the Pittsburgh district, for the past five years, show that over 10,000 new homes have been built. People progressive enough to build new homes should be encouraged to furnish them in a manner and quality worthy of their good taste and ambitions.

The Horne February Furniture Sale provides this encouragement in the form of great stocks of moderately priced furniture, at substantial concessions, supplemented by attractive and convenient payment arrangements.

It obviously is possible to sell furniture lower for one month than for 12 months.

Close to 100,000 people will visit our furniture floor and interior decorating studios this month. They will come from all over Western Pennsylvania, and beyond. Surely this justifies a substantial concession upon our part.

Not only is interest in home improvements enormously stimulated by the February events at this time, but this interest extends throughout the entire season.

The full benefits of the sale are made available to the public beginning tomorrow. See the great stocks here, and the February Sale prices. The privilege of deferred payments is extended in connection with the sale. Our arrangements in this respect are particularly liberal and attractive. A staff of more than 30 interior decorators and artists is at your disposal for consultation and suggestions, without charge. Twelve model rooms have been prepared to display new treatments for walls, floors, and windows, which every woman interested in home furnishings should see for decorative ideas they offer.

ITALIAN GROUP GIVES DINNER TO KELLY

Congressman Clyde Kelly was honored last night at a testimonial banquet in the Schenley Hotel, tendered by Italian-Americans of Western Pennsylvania. The speakers were Michael A. Musmanno, state legislator; Giovanni Giurato, Italian vice consul; Judge Frank P. Patterson, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis and Frank Vittor, sculptor.

After Vittor's address, Mrs. Kelly unveiled a bust of Kelly done by Vittor, local sculptor. The statue was brought from New York to Pittsburgh by airplane. G. C. Fusco, chairman of the banquet, explained that the testimonial was in recognition of Kelly's efforts in protecting Americans of foreign birth or parentage from liability to military service in any other country.

Music was by the Amerita Orchestra and the Letter Carriers' Clyde Kelly band. Civic and political leaders were in attendance and letters of regret from President-elect Hoover, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Senator David A. Reed and others were read.

State Chiefs Mark Fisher Anniversary

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The second annual anniversary luncheon commemorating the advent of the Fisher administration was held at the Penn Harris Hotel here yesterday with Gov. Fisher presiding.

The luncheon, which had been postponed from January 18, was attended by members of the state cabinet in formal attire. Judge Thomas J. Baldridge, of the Superior Court, made a farewell address, and expressed his appreciation of the harmonious relations existing between the various departments during his tenure as attorney general. His successor, Cyrus E. Woods, also spoke.

PUBLIC OPINION

Nothing is accepted until the public has tried it out and has been thoroughly convinced. Thousands of Blood Cell Serums (Copyrighted, 1909) have been administered in many of the large cities of the United States—patients praise Serum usefulness and endorse its action.

With this record of usefulness, don't you think it worth your while to investigate and secure freedom from pain? We are successfully treating Rheumatism, Anemia, Debility, Asthma, Stomach and Nervous Disorders, High Blood Pressure and all disorders of the blood. One Serum gives relief in many cases. Come and talk to patients.

All laboratory examinations of blood and urinalysis, Free. Physicians make no charge for consultation or advice. Patients pay for Serums only.

DETROIT BANDIT SLAIN DURING GUN BATTLE

DETROIT, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—A bulletin broadcast from the police radio station last night, warning cruising police cars to watch for two bandits in a taxicab, resulted in the fatal shooting of one of the pair in a gun battle and the wounding of a policeman.

The dead man was believed to be Harlin Vance, 27, of Detroit. The policeman shot is John Lockridge, 28.

Police were placed on the trail of the bandits by an 11-year-old boy, Steven Thomas, who slipped out a side door while the men were holding up Theodore Artopolides, in his drug store. The men, after taking $35 and a pad of express company checks, fled to a taxicab waiting outside. The boy obtained its number and reported to police.

About 10 minutes later, having been told of the robbery through their portable receiving set, officers in a police cruiser car saw the cab and pursued. When it ran into a blind street the occupants opened fire on their pursuers. One escaped.

Sufferer Felt That Living Was Not Worth the While

Man of 81 Had Given Up Hope of Recovering Health When Konjola Came to the Rescue.

Like the miracles of old seem many of the reports from those who have found new and glorious health in Konjola, the master medicine, which the Konjola Man is explaining daily to crowds of seekers after health at the McCulloch Drug Store, Penn Ave. and Sixth St., this city. Each day adds to the mountain of praise bestowed upon this remarkable remedy for ailments of the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels, and for rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Konjola's vast and astounding success in the most stubborn cases is due to the fact that Konjola goes directly to the afflicted organs, purifying, cleansing, invigorating and spurring them into proper action. Among the thousands of endorsements of this remarkable remedy is one of particular interest: the case of Mr. Christian Hess, 81, of Wheatland, Pa. This venerable citizen, a resident of Wheatland for 60 years, is happy to add his words of gratitude and praise. He says:

"I feel like a new man and all the credit goes to Konjola! For years I suffered from stomach trouble, weak kidneys, faulty liver and rheumatism and try as I would I found not a thing to help me. This fruitless search for health continued over a period of fifteen years, and you can imagine that I was about disgusted with my efforts to find relief. Indigestion, followed by bloating and gas, caused me intense pain and sapped my strength. My kidneys got me up many times at night, ruining my needed rest. Rheumatism in hips, shoulder and across my back added to my misery, and I finally came to the point where I felt that living was not worthwhile.

Konjola was recommended, but I was not impressed. I had been fooled too often with false hopes. But my friends insisted that I give this new medicine a trial. Well, strange as it may seem, I began to feel improvement with the very first bottle of this marvelous compound. With the fourth bottle all of my ailments were swept away as by a magic broom. I can eat anything, sleep all night and what a relief this is. My rheumatism has disappeared. I think it little short of miraculous that any medicine could bring relief to a man of 81 who was afflicted as I was for fifteen years. You may refer anyone to me; I'll be happy to urge any sufferer to find new health in this new medicine."

Konjola is different from any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants, which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of this Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time, many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health thru this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product, until now, Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this section.

The Konjola Man is at the McCulloch Drug Store, Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, explaining the astonishing merits of the renowned Konjola. Free samples given.

GAIN IN CIGARET SALES CREDITED TO ADVERTISING

By W. S. COUSINS,
International News Service Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—It pays to advertise. The most consistent users of newspaper advertising space in the last few years, the manufacturers of cigarets, have demonstrated that fact to their complete satisfaction and are, therefore, planning an enormous increase in the volume, with corresponding improvement in the quality of their advertising this year.

The American cigaret industry in 1928 turned out the huge total of 106 billion cigarets for the home markets, an increase of nine per cent over the previous year, and a new high record for all time. It will be a surprise to many tobacco users to know that cigars retailing for less than 5 cents accounted for more than 51 per cent of the total output of the pleasant weed in that form.

WOMEN SMOKERS HELP

The enormous increase in the consumption of cigarets is directly traceable to the popularizing of the short-smoke over an ever-widening field, including the gentler sex. Things have progressed to the point where the indorsement of a particular brand is accounted a very valuable asset for the manufacturer, who proceeds immediately to tell the world about his new product.

The response from the newspaper advertising of these indorsements have surpassed the best expectations of the manufacturers and their advertising advisers. Not only in the American, but in the foreign market, have these results been shown, and in practically every civilized country the American tourist is made to feel at home through the announcement of the offering of American goods in the American way.

ADVERTISING AN ART

Technically, the advertising profession has made giant strides in the last two decades, transforming some of the crude offerings of a few years ago to works of art that would grace any studio and rank high with the products of the masters in art, literature writing has been attracted by liberal financial compensation to the advertising field from other lines of actively in the business and educational world,

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Relief
From Financial Worry

Every family, at one time or another, is confronted with a shortage of actual cash to meet pressing obligations.

Perhaps an insurance premium is past due—illness comes, or an operation is necessary. Perhaps, for unavoidable reasons, bills have accumulated and must be paid. There are dozens of perfectly good reasons why, at times, it is necessary to have some actual cash quick.

You Can Borrow
Any Amount Up To $300

For many years we have offered a financial service to people whose regular banking connections do not warrant even small loans.

Here you can borrow amounts up to $300—secure the cash usually the same day—and repay in small monthly payments to suit your convenience.

Because of ample capital, increased business and efficient management, we are enabled to make loans at rates nearly one-third lower than the lawful rate.

Under Our New REDUCED RATE

Loans payable in twenty equal monthly payments cost as follows:

$ 50	Average Monthly Cost	66¢
100	Average Monthly Cost	$1.32
200	Average Monthly Cost	2.63
300	Average Monthly Cost	3.94

Loans may be paid in full at any time—you pay only for actual time you keep the money.

QUICK—CONFIDENTIAL—FRIENDLY

All loans are strictly confidential. We do not make inquiries of your employers, relatives or friends. No one need know.

Capt. George Fried, heroic rescuer, says:
"Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet."

"AN S. O. S. from the 'Florida'! We change our course. We on the 'America' strain to arrive in time to rescue the men on their sinking ship, 350 miles away. Through the icy, freezing storm and high seas we plunge on—all speed ahead! Then the night-time rescue, the search lights, the whirling waves, the manoeuvering to get near the 'Florida'. Finally, the 'Florida's' crew coming off one at a time, pulling themselves through the water on the line our men had thrown them.

"These 32 men, dazed, many half clothed, needed reviving after their long exposure. Hot coffee, food and Lucky Strikes—these gave new life to many of them and we on board the 'America,' crew and passengers alike, found after the strain and struggle that there was nothing quite so comforting and relaxing as the inviting, toasted flavor of Lucky Strikes.

"Playing this game with 'Davy' is ever fascinating, ever thrilling. And we who follow the sea must be ever ready for adventure. Ours is an active life, demanding nerve control and physical fitness. In my health program I have found that Luckies are most important not only because they provide a respite for frazzled nerves and an exhausted body but because whenever I crave anything which is over-fattening, I say to myself, 'Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet'. In the toasted flavor of Luckies, I get complete satisfaction. And I find that toasting, by removing the irritants, protects my throat."

"It's toasted"
No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during the year 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR: AMELIA EARHART SPEAKS TONIGHT

CHARLES W. HAMP SAYS GOODBY TO PITTSBURGH

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

AMELIA EARHART will speak on "Every Day Flying" tonight at 7 o'clock through KDKA.

Charles W. Hamp and his "Thirty Minutes of SUNshine," will bid farewell to Pittsburgh at 6:30 o'clock from KDKA. Hamp has enjoyed the greatest popularity of any individual who ever appeared as a guest artist at a Pittsburgh station. His fan mail averaged 700 letters daily, P. A. Boyd announced.

Leon Gordon, painter, is another important figure on the air tonight. He will speak on "Feminine Beauty" at 8 p. m.

Milady's Musicians have an unusual program at 9 o'clock. Different members of the group will enact the lives of the Bach family of musicians. Hans Barth will play a harpsichord solo, "Theme and Variations."

STANLEY REVUE

A new feature will make its debut on the WCAE program at 11 o'clock, Frances Doherr announced. It will be the Stanley Theater Revue, presenting the Dixie Follies with Bessie Brown; Ed Thompson, impersonator, and the Musical Magpies Orchestra.

"Humoresque" will be offered in the Halsey-Stuart concert at 10 o'clock.

Oliver Smith, tenor, will be the guest artist on the Sonora Hour through WJAS at 9:30 p. m. A special arrangement of Rubinstein's "Kamennoi Ostrow" will be featured.

An original composition by a Pittsburgher will have its radio premiere from KQV tonight at 9:30 o'clock. "At Sunset" is the composition of Oscar L. Helfenbein, pianist. Madame Fern Goltre Fillion, soprano, will sing the number.

HYMN SING, WEAF

"Lead, Kindly Light" will be sung by a quartet on the WEAF Hymn Sing at 7 p. m. Other hymns are "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say" and "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand."

That old timer, "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree" will be brought to life at 9 o'clock tonight during the "Garden of Music" program from WLW. Overture to "Katinka" will open the Crosley Hour at midnight. "My Heart Stood Still" will be sung as a duet.

Luigini's "Ballet Egyptian" will be played as the opening number of the hour of Slumber Music to be broadcast at 11 o'clock from WJZ, WRC. Other selections will include the Suite, "In Arcady" and a number from "Apple Blossoms."

"DER FREISCHUTZ."

Carl von Weber's romantic opera "Der Freischutz" will be tonight's offering.

The real meaning of "Der Freischutz" is "free marksman," or a marksman who uses charmed bullets. The story of the opera is founded on an old German tradition that whoever sells his soul to Zamiel, the Demon Hunter, will receive seven magic bullets, with promises of a fresh supply in exchange for any other victims obtained for the Demon.

9:00 P. M.—Aunt Jemima.

NORTHERN VISITORS.

The Higbees, owners of the plantation on which Aunt Jemima lives, are having guests from the North and will entertain them by showing them around the plantation. When the "white folks" reach Aunt Jemima and Uncle Ned's cabin they find most of their colored servitors there, and they stop in to listen to some of the music that is being made. Banjo music, jubilee songs, spirituals and some typical darky stories help to make the Northerners' first Southern trip an outstanding one.

9:30 P. M.—Sonora hour.

OLIVER SMITH, TENOR.

Oliver Smith will sing several ballads, as will the male trio, while the dance orchestra will offer dance music from Broadway's recent "hits."

SOUTH SEA ISLAND.

The taking of a South Sea Island picture will be the subject of tonight's "Close-up." A large part of this broadcast will consist of the voyage to the island, where the main scenes of this film are to be taken. The boat on which the company, stars, director and cameramen are traveling is not a large one, and when it encounters a storm the result is not a very happy one. How unsteady sea-legs affect the dispositions of two stars who are considered by all film fans as a notedly happy couple will afford amusement to all interested in what goes on behind the scenes.

Radio Goods Stolen From Shop Window

Radio equipment valued at $220 was stolen this morning from the display window of the Knox Electric Company store at Foreland and James streets, North Side. Two men were seen to shatter the window with a brick and after removing the equipment, drive away in an automobile.

Dies as She Observes Golden Wedding Day

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 31.—(INS)—Death marred what was to have been a double golden wedding ceremony here.

Mrs. Bertha Mitchell was seized with a heart attack while renewing her marriage vows in the Greek Baptist Church in Ridge road, and died within a few minutes despite the frantic efforts of a physician who was in the church at the time.

FISHER TELLS STATE C. OF C. REVENUE PLAN ENDS LAXITY

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Speaking to an organization which has announced its approval of the repeal of the anthracite tax, one of the state's major sources of revenue, Gov. Fisher described the operation of the new department of revenue as a measure of business efficiency in government, at the annual banquet of the State Chamber of Commerce last night.

The Governor defended the auditing of state governmental departments and institutions, which entailed a cost of $500,000, as a method of exposing lax administration and preparing the way for the inauguration of the revenue department, authorized by the last Legislature, to make for better business in government. The audits, he said, were the agency of determining the state's financial status.

The State Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution yesterday favoring the repeal of the anthracite tax of 1½ per cent and passed a second resolution approving establishment of the department of revenue.

The Governor was asked in a third resolution to publish, at least quarterly, brief financial statements, setting forth the facts of the state income and expenditures and the major functions of the government.

The Legislature was called upon to exercise "real caution" in passing appropriations at this session so that the "increasing cost of state government may be checked and some of the temporary surplus be passed on to the taxpayers in the shape of reduced tax burdens," in a fourth resolution.

Alba B. Johnson, of Philadelphia, was re-elected president of the state chamber at its business meeting, along with its other officers. They are: Vice presidents, F. W. Walker, Beaver Falls; E. J. Poole, Reading, and Frank J. Lanahan, Pittsburgh; treasurer, John Fisher, Philadelphia and general secretary, George E. Foss, Harrrisburg.

The following directors were elected: John Longacre, Norristown; Roland Benjamin, Towanda; Harry C. Graham, Pittsburgh; Frank J. Lanahan, Pittsburgh; R. S. Weaver, Catasauqua; George S. Davison, Pittsburgh; Henderson Gilbert, Harrisburg; C. S. Weston, Scranton; R. F. Lewis, Bethlehem, and Robert F. Brinton, Westchester. Weaver, Lewis and Brinton are new directors of the group chosen to serve until 1932.

Boy Scout Training School Opens Feb. 13

Faculty members of the Boy Scout Training School, which is to open February 13, met last night in Duff's Iron City College, Duquesne way, and discussed the curriculum for the school, conducted by Allegheny County Council West for the instruction of scout leaders. The school will continue until April 10. Prof. Ira L. Spear, of Ralston College, is dean of the faculty.

Two Bandits Escape In Rain of Bullets

Two bandits were sought today by Glassport police for attempting to enter a service station and barbecue at 200 Monongahela avenue, that borough, early yesterday. The pair escaped in an automobile, amid a rain of shots fired by Patrolman Harry McClafferty. McClafferty said he saw the men attempting to enter the station and that when he drew near they fled.

Baby Near Death Falling Down Hot Air Pipe

HULL, Mass., Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Two-year-old Owen Murphy, exploring on the floor of his home, reached the heat register. He tugged away until he removed the top and was sliding down the hot-air pipe just as his mother came into the room.

For 10 minutes little Owen was wedged three feet above the bed of live coals in the furnace. Firemen, summoned by the mother, took the furnace apart.

Owen was taken out alive but his clothing and parts of his body were scorched. Physicians said he would recover.

Two Men Burned In Plant Mishaps

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Jan. 31.—Two men were seriously burned in plant accidents here. John Trico, 39, of Midland, was burned when a bar of molten metal fell upon him. William Young, 55, of Wampum, was burned when his oil-soaked clothing caught fire from an oil torch.

Channel Fog Holds 600 Aboard Majestic

REED TELLS WOMEN U. S. MUST KEEP OUT ALIENS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, yesterday told the Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense that adherence to the existing quota system under the immigration laws was as important to national preparedness as the Army or Navy.

The Senator was speaking on the program of the second of a three-day conference which included a reception by President Coolidge at the White House. Today the women will hear Senators Steck, of Iowa, and Bingham, of Connecticut, and make a pilgrimage to the tomb of the unknown soldier before adjourning.

Senator Reed declared it was necessary to keep America for Americans, "not because we think we are better than the aliens clamoring for admission, but because they do not fit into our scheme of things."

Rear Admiral R. E. Coontz advocated a more powerful Navy for defense purposes and said that "the forces of pacifism are strong and vigorous and dangerous," but declared the fight to carry out the national defense act and approvad naval policy must be won to "preserve our institutions and our trade rights at sea."

Mrs. Florence P. Kahn, representative from California, a member of the House Military Affairs Committee, made a plea for national defense, and Col. C. B. Robbins, assistant secretary of war, outlined the organization and war potentialities of the Army.

MANY GET BACK YOUNG APPETITE

Quick lunches, usually cold, gulped down so the "dinner hour" will not be over before you can do a little playing, is the best way to ruin your stomach, and you suffer from indigestion, heartburn, bloating, nervousness, headaches; and, worst of all, you get thin, pale and weak.

If you must eat that way, always keep a package of Pape's Diapepsin handy so you can chew one of the pleasant-tasting tablets after your meals. It keeps the food sweet so your stomach can digest it.

Follow the experience of thousands who again have a young appetite. All druggists recommend and guarantee Pape's Diapepsin to relieve indigestion and sweeten the stomach in 5 minutes.

Mothers—Try Mild Children's Musterole

Just Rub Away Pain

Of course, you know good old Musterole; how quickly, how easily it relieves chest colds, sore throat, rheumatic and neuralgic pain, sore joints and muscles, stiff neck and lumbago. We also want you to know CHILDREN'S MUSTEROLE — Musterole in milder form. Unexcelled for relief of croupy coughs and colds; it penetrates, soothes and relieves without the blister of the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Keep a jar handy. It comes ready to apply instantly.

CHILDREN'S MUSTEROLE WILL NOT BLISTER MILD

PRISON INQUIRY FAILS TO CHIDE WILLEBRANDT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Condemning the overcrowded condition of federal prisons and the care of federal prisoners in local institutions, the House special prisons investigating committee today submitted a report urging immediate enlargement of the federal penal system.

Minority members failed to carry out their threat to file a separate report condemning Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, for instituting a "spy system" in Atlanta Federal Prison.

O. K. NARCOTIC INSTITUTION

The construction of two penitentiaries and a hospital for the criminal insane were among the major recommendations.

The committee recommended that a narcotic institution authorized under the Porter bill be constructed as quickly as possible.

The committee said legislation to carry out its recommendations would be presented promptly to Congress.

PAROLE ACTION

Other recommendations included enactment of a law to establish a parole board to act upon applications without requiring approval by the Attorney General.

Due to lack of a proper program and to the tremendous increase in the number of persons committed, the committee said the penitentiaries were overcrowded with persons sentenced to prison for more than one year.

ALLIED TRADERS BACK BUS FIGHT

The Allied Boards of Trade will back the West View Board of Trade in its protest against a 25-cent bus fare to Bellevue by the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, after the local board takes the initiative and files the protest, it was decided at a meeting of the special transportation committee last night.

C. V. Shoup, of the West View board, moved that the Allied Boards protest to the Public Service Commission. This motion was tabled and the substitute motion calling for the district board to take the initiative was presented and the support of the Allied body was promised.

Y.W.C.A. Establishes Fund for Leadership

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The national board of the Y. W. C. A. has announced the establishment of a fund for the development of Christian leadership, in memory of Miss Mabel Cratty, who was general secretary of the national headquarters of the Y. W. C. A. from 1906 until her death in February, 1928.

The fund will finance the study of methods of selecting and training leaders, experimentation work in local associations, international exchanges of leaders and continuous inquiry into the needs of women.

Salvationists Offer Gen. Booth Hearing

LONDON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The high council of the Salvation Army assembled informally at the international headquarters here today and decided to meet formally tomorrow and invite Gen. Bramwell Booth either to appear in person or send a representative before the council within a week.

This action was taken to conform with the decision given yesterday in court by Sir Harry T. Eve, judge of the chancery division. The justice enjoined the council from proceeding further in its deposing of Gen. Booth until he had been given opportunity to place his own case before the adjudicating body.

Brig. Gen. Horton Retires Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—After 30 years of service, Brig. Gen. William E. Horton, assistant to the quartermaster general of the Army, retires tomorrow.

Gen. Horton, chief of the Army construction service, has been in charge of the extensive Army housing program. He is retiring with the permission of President Coolidge to resume the practice of law in Boston and Washington.

A hero of the battle of San Juan Hill in the Spanish-American War, Gen. Horton has seen service in two Philippine campaigns and in the World War.

Council Affirms Calliope, Radio Speaker Ban

Ordinances barring calliopes from city streets and prohibiting use of loud speakers in store windows and doors have been affirmed by Council and will come up for final passage Monday.

Loud speakers will be banned when Mayor Charles H. Kline signs the ordinance, but calliopes will get a stay until September 30.

The loud speaker silencer does not apply to the broadcasting of international, national or state events of public interest.

Cascara is Your Doctor's Choice

When physicians pronounce cascara the PERFECT laxative—why experiment with things that lash the system into action? Cascara, you know, is the bark of a tree. A natural and normal stimulus to the bowels.

The Indians, who used to chew this bark, had no word in their language that meant "constipation!"

Perfect regularity is possible today, and to all of us. We have cascara in ideal form; the very delightful-tasting candy Cascaret gives us pure cascara. It has helped at least a million people to habitual regularity. Millions of others, unfortunately, have stuck to stronger things and acquired only the laxative habit.

Your first Cascaret will demonstrate how THOROUGH this gentle laxative is, after all. Your next surprise will be the length of time before you need another. Eventually, you'll see that cascarizing tends to make the bowels move thereafter of their own accord!

A modern drug store must stock many laxatives, but for your own good the druggist would rather have you ask for the inexpensive little box of Cascarets than anything else.

Pimples and Blackheads Affected Face. Healed by Cuticura.

"My trouble began with pimples and blackheads that affected my face. The pimples were in blotches and very red. They itched and burned and nothing seemed to relieve them. The trouble lasted about eight weeks.

"I tried other remedies but they did not help me. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after three applications the pimples started to dry up and disappear. I continued using them and in about three or four weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Jessie Donmoyer, 203 N. 5th St., Allentown, Pa., Aug. 22, 1928.

Smoke All You Like and Still Have White Teeth and a Clean Breath!

Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique Whitens Teeth 3 Shades in 3 Days!

Smoking need not discolor your teeth or make your mouth feel like a "hot box"! Use Kolynos on a dry brush and you can keep your teeth sparkling white, and your mouth and breath sweet and fresh!

Kolynos is a double-strength, highly concentrated dental cream of unique antiseptic and germicidal properties. It is active in principle — foams in the mouth. Hence you can use it on a dry tooth brush. That means you can use it full strength —also that the brush bristles remain stiff enough to scrub the tooth surfaces properly, penetrate the crevices between the teeth and the pits and fissures in the teeth, and to massage the gums.

Removes the "Yellow"

The antiseptic Kolynos foam dissolves the mucin deposit on the teeth which absorbs food and tobacco stains and turns yellow. It washes off this yellow coating and leaves the teeth gleaming white.

The foam also disinfects the entire mouth, killing "tobacco breath" and "tobacco taste", and making the entire mouth sweet, fresh.

NEED FOR TEMPERANCE SHOWN BY PRESS VIEWS

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—"Enormous profits on illicit and poisonous hard liquor and upon raw beer and wine are only a part of the toll exacted from the nation by prohibition. Our greatest loss is in disrespect for the very institution of law, with a resultant lowering of moral fiber. The whole nation is rising to demand the substitution of decent temperance for the reign of lawless prohibition.

"Here is my contribution to the Hearst temperance contest. It may not win a prize, but if it doesn't I shall be happy to know someone else has evolved the successful prize idea."

The preceding paragraph is taken from one of the thousands of letters being received in the course of the contest for the $25,000 cash prize donated by William Randolph Hearst for the best workable temperance substitute for prohibition. Entrants in the contest, after studying the rules published herewith, may send their plans to the temperance contest editor of this newspaper.

Press Comment

Why law-makers, newspapers and the public continue to agitate for modification in favor of true temperance is revealed in these press excerpts:

"Two million dollars was obtained by United States customs border patrol agents at Detroit in rum graft last year, it was estimated today. This and other information came out during the deliberation of the Federal grand jury."—Detroit Dispatch to the New York Herald-Tribune.

"Leadville's entire City Council, its sheriff, city attorney and night police captain, were under summons today to appear next Tuesday before Federal grand jury, as the aftermath of a sweeping investigation of liquor conditions. Eighteen persons in all have been subpenaed. Federal agents say some of the alleged bars in Leadville open at 5:30 a. m. and never close at night, so long as a customer remains."—Associated Press Dispatch from Leadville, Col.

"Since January 1, 1928, the records show more than 2,600 'drunks' have been arrested in Springfield, an increase of 1,207 as compared with the total a year ago. This should be proof enough of the assertion that there's plenty of liquor available for those who want to quench a thirst. Those who aver that enforcement of prohibition is on the upgrade will be hard pressed to explain why arrests for drunkenness have increased each year since enactment of the Volstead act. In some years the arrests have been greater than before the passage of the dry law. It is fair to assume that the situation in Springfield is no different than in other large centers of population."—Editorial in the News, of Springfield, Mass.

George A. Douglas

Prof. George A. Douglas, professor of evidence and criminal law at Suffolk Law School, Massachusetts:

"Prohibition has failed. There can be no doubt of that, after a study of the courts, where calendars are jammed with 'drunk' and liquor cases. In pre-prohibition days, to be sure, there were topers, but they were not the obnoxious type of today.

"The need for other measures leading to temperance is here. We should not shirk our duty, nor fail to recognize compulsory prohibition as a sinister force.

"The lives of our young men and women are being sacrificed on the altar of deception, corruption and perfidy of dry fanatics. I staunchly support the cause of modification. That such a man as Mr. Hearst should come forward and offer a $25,000 prize for a duty which should be obligatory on all only proves that the people of this nation must be led into the light by a crusader. Another reform by a great reformer."

Roland D. Sawyer

The Rev. Roland D. Sawyer, of Ware, Mass., Congregationalist pastor and member of the Massachusetts General Court:

"The recently awarded prize for the best plan to enforce prohibition was a great deal of a joke, offered by an ardent prohibitionist, other ardent prohibitionists acting as judges and awarded to a former prohibition enforcement official. It was a merry little party of mutual admiration, undisturbed by any jarring note.

"No great public problem comes any nearer a solution by such methods, and all who are not fanatically committed to the Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead act will welcome the fine offer of Mr. Hearst, intended to stimulate the thinking of plans for true temperance.

"The advocates of the present law have long held strength before the public because those who opposed them were in the position of being mere objectors. Mr. Hearst senses that weakness, and would evidently seek a constructive program for real temperance legislation. A half dozen European nations have tried and abandoned programs which they thought better than ours, and then there is Canada.

"Fair minded and intelligent students of our social life will eagerly await the plans which Mr. Hearst's offer brings forth and I feel they will all agree that Mr. Hearst has done real public service in making his generous offer to bring out this side of the discussion of a great question. We have not reached finality in legislation of the liquor problem."

7 Rules of $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close on April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

Boy, 18, Must Hang For Hold-up Murder

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Allen Ellis, despite his 18 years, was advised today that he must hang for the murder of Francis O. Weisert, killed during a hold-up.

The State Supreme Court yesterday denied his appeal from the death penalty. Ellis advanced his youth as the only claim for commutation of sentence to life imprisonment. Ellis had two accomplices in the crime, Lowell Davis, 20, and Bill Krieger, 21. They were sentenced to life imprisonment.

ASK $3,000,000 FOR STREETS

Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, has submitted to Council the 1929 street repaving and resurfacing schedule totalling $3,000,000.

Daniel Winters, chairman of the Public Works Committee, said he would call a meeting next week to select thoroughfares to be improved with the $1,000,000 available for the purpose.

Bolivia and Paraguay To Trade Prisoners

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Arrangements for the exchange of prisoners taken by Bolivia and Paraguay in their boundary clashes last month have been virtually completed by the United States government.

In making this announcement Dr. Juan V. Ramirez, charge d'affaires of the Paraguayan legation, said the only detail still to be settled was the date upon which the exchange would be made.

10 POLICE CHASE WOMAN JAYWALKER UP BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—It took 10 policemen to nab the first woman arrested for jay-walking on Broadway.

The red traffic light and the hand of the law were against her when Ella E. Colson tripped across Times Square last night.

Sharp raps on the pavement with a nightstick brought nine other policemen and the Broadway crowd. Another chase and capture.

The desk sergeant was wondering today where 2908 Thirtieth street, Long Island, might be. She gave that address and was released.

EDNA RABBE

It's Growing!

The shoulder-length bob is taking a real place among fashions of the hour for the younger set. In many high schools and colleges, more than half the girls are letting their hair grow to the new length. This style as worn by New York City girls is shown in the above photograph of Miss Edna Rabbe, 1925 Avenue G. Brooklyn.

Miss Rabbe says: "I am certainly delighted that I let my hair grow to the new length now that I have found a way to keep it easily manageable and attractive. My hair is ever so much fluffier and more vigorous than it has been for a long time. And it is free from all traces of dandruff, now. I attribute its improvement to the method I am using to care for it. It's so popular among the girls in my set. All we do is put a little Danderine on our brushes whenever we use them. This makes my hair so easy to dress any way I want it and holds it in place as I arrange it. Danderine soothes my scalp and keeps it and my hair so clean. I don't need to shampoo more than twice a month, now. And all my friends admire the way it makes my hair so bright and sparkling."

Danderine does more to bring out the natural color, the gleam and lustre of your hair, than shampoos or brilliantine. It removes that oily film from it, gives it new life and lustre. It cleanses and invigorates the scalp; helps overcome dandruff. Danderine is delightfully fragranced; isn't oily, doesn't show. All drug stores have the generous 35c bottles.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect. To be beautiful and to keep youth the system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation, which often causes dizzy spells. For 20 years, Dr. F. M. Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Known by their olive color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have sallow complexion, dull eyes, coated tongue, throbbing headaches—all signs that your bowels are clogged, liver is torpid. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. They act smoothly and without griping . . . How much better you'll feel and look! Everywhere wise men and women who know the value of good health take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Exhausted ....
Because of a Cough

A STUBBORN cough can wrack your whole body—sap vitality. Each spasm not only irritates the delicate membranes of your throat but puts a severe strain upon your chest, stomach and other vital organs.

Your health demands that coughs be checked. They feed upon your strength—lower your resistance—expose you to more serious infections.

At the first sign of a cough or throat irritation, take PERTUSSIN. It helps Nature free the air passages of germ-laden mucus, soothes the irritation and quiets the cough. PERTUSSIN has been prescribed more often for coughs than any other advertised remedy.

PERTUSSIN is safe even for small children and convalescents—a good remedy for "coughs that hang on". It is free from dope—does not upset the stomach and can be taken as often as necessary:

Forbes

Many Roads Lead to Top—Recent Executive Changes.

By B. C. FORBES

MANY big positions, presidencies of large corporations and institutions, have been filled recently. An analysis of the new men selected suggests:

First—It is becoming more and more uncommon for men not having a college education to be placed at the head of leading enterprises.

Second—It is unusual rather than usual for $100,000 to $1,000,000 jobs to be given to young men—say, under 45.

Third—Next to men promoted by their own companies, lawyers seem to be preferred for outstandingly responsible business positions.

TWO extremely big industrial appointments have just been made and it is noteworthy that in these cases the new men are under 50.

Andrew W. Robertson, picked to succeed the late Gen. Tripp as chairman of Westinghouse, is a lawyer, of Scottish parentage, 49 years of age. This is not, however, his first non-legal job; he was formerly president of the important Philadelphia Company.

Francis B. Davis, Jr., the new head of the mammoth United States Rubber Company, is a Yale graduate who entered civil engineering; but he demonstrated such business acumen that the du Ponts stepped him up from one office to another, and it is as their representative that he takes hold of the U. S. Rubber Company helm.

HIRAM S. BROWN, recently appointed president of the Radio-Keith-Orpheum combination, also holds a college degree and also is on the sunny side of 50—46. He received his business baptism in the newspaper field, moved into railroading, then into public utilities, and, finally, into the industrial arena, as president of the U. S. Leather. His successor in this last office, David G. Long, is well educated, but not a sheepskin holder. He had automobile and war experience before joining U. S. Leather in 1925 as President Brown's right-hand man.

Myron C. Taylor, recently selected to take up part of the late Judge Gary's duties in the United States Steel Corporation, graduated as a lawyer, but branched into business and rolled up a generous fortune by his unusual talents. He is now 55.

Sometimes bankers switch into business; sometimes business men switch into banking. William F. Merrill, chosen as president of the far-flung Remington-Rand Company, graduated from business into banking, with the National City Company, of New York, and then back again to the business world. He is 51.

FRANK A. KETCHAM, who has just moved into the presidency of Graybar Electric, to lighten the load of Albert L. Salt, now chairman, is an instance of a man rising to the top of his own company after long years of faithful service.

Martin O'Mara, who recently moved from the White Motor Company to the presidency of the Brockway Motor Truck Company, is still young. E. T. McCleary, new head of Republic Iron and Steel, formerly was vice president of Youngstown Sheet and Tube. The new head of Gulf States Steel, William H. Coverdale (58), is a Canadian who holds two college degrees, B. A. and D. SC. He early had railway experience. The man W. S. Durant has just selected to become president of Durant Motors, Frederick J. Haynes, was long associated with Dodge Brothers, finally as president.

IT WAS a 42-year-old lawyer, George L. Harrison, who was chosen for the highly influential office of governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Herbert P. Howell, president of the newly organized Commercial National Bank and Trust Company, of New York, was for years with the Carnegie Steel Company, but shifted into banking a decade ago.

Walter W. Head, called from Omaha to the presidency of the State Bank of Chicago, long has been prominently identified with banking. Robert L. Clarkson, last year made president of the billion-dollar Chase National Bank, of New York, is only 36; unfortunately he has been in indifferent health for quite a time. Three new partners of J. P. Morgan & Co.—Henry S. Lamont, Henry P. Davison and Henry Sturgis Morgan—are under 31; all are sons of Morgan partners.

EDWARD G. BUCKLAND, the new head of the New Haven Railroad, and Hale Holden, the new head of the Southern Pacific System, both are ex-lawyers. F. E. Williamson of the C. B. & Q., is a Yale graduate. Paul Shoup, new president of the Southern Pacific Company, has spent all his life railroading.

Matthew S. Sloan, the dynamic head of New York Edison and allied companies, entered the utility field after qualifying as an engineer. He is not yet 50.

ALL OF which indicates that many roads lead to the top.

New Sheet Steel Record Is Made

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 31.—Iron and steel companies in Northeastern Ohio report that January established a new record production for first month of the year in steel sheets and strips. Heavy demands from the automotive industry are responsible for the record output.

Mills enter February with heavier unfilled tonnages than they had a month ago. Prices are being well maintained, in view of the record requirements.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Raw sugar was unchanged at 3.80c for spots duty paid with 13,500 bags of Cuban for prompt shipment reported sold.

Raw sugar futures opened unchanged to 1 point higher on covering and commission house buying, but met increased hedge selling and reacted, with prices at midday net unchanged to 1 point lower. Trading was light and the reaction probably was promoted by more liberal offerings in the spot market and to the larger European beet sugar estimate. A European crop authority placed the European beet sugar crop yield at 8,337,000 metric tons, which compares with 8,401,000 tons on December 31 and last year's outturn of 8,401,000 metric tons.

Refined market was unchanged at 5.10c for fine granulated, with business confined mostly to withdrawls on old contracts.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 31—After selling off 8 or 9 points from yesterday's closing figures under further liquidation, the cotton market steadied today as prices reached 19.60c for the spring months. It rallied on moderate demand, which was supposed to include some trade buying as well as covering. The mid-afternoon market was quiet and about 4 to 8 points net higher.

Futures closed very steady, 8 to 17 points higher; March, 19.77@19.79c; May, 19.79@19.80c; July, 19.45c; October, 19.29c; December, 19.22c. Spot, quiet; middling, 20.00c.

Trade buying increased slightly around these figures and the offerings were well enough absorbed to steady the market which was quiet later in the morning, with prices at midday showing rallies of 3 or 4 points and ruling within 4 or 5 points of yesterday's closing quotations on old crop positions.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Clearing House statement: Exchanges, $1,193,000,000; balances, $155,000,000; Federal Reserve Bank's credit balance, $135,000,000.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Jan. 31. — Sharply higher prices for wheat, with considerable flurried buying, resulted today from severe cold threatening domestic winter wheat, but the gains failed to hold well. Rising temperatures were expected in the West and Southwest tomorrow and enlarged profit-taking sales led to reactions. Export demand for wheat from North America was better, purchases today for shipment to Europe being estimated at 600,000 bushels.

Wheat closed nervous at the same as yesterday's finish to ¼@⅜c lower, corn ⅜c to ⅝@¾c off, oats, ¼@⅜c to ⅜c down, and provisions varying from 5c setback to an equal advance.

Nebraska wheat crop reports, summarized as "very bad" from all over the state, went hand in hand today with a rush wheat buying here and with word of a new cold wave sweeping the West, forcing in some places the mercury down to 15 below. Missouri messages told of the most vicious cold yet for the month, snow disappeared and ground covered with ice. Meanwhile, Liverpool wheat quotations were higher than looked for, and official predictions indicated a severe drop in temperatures tonight in Illinois and Indiana.

Rain reports from Argentina tended at times today to neutralize in the corn market here the effect of wheat price upturns. The moisture in Argentina was reported to be general over all provinces and beneficial in various sections. Crop damage to corn in northeastern part of Argentina, however, was reported as beyond repair.

Stock Market Strong

Fireproofing Higher

EASIER MONEY GIVES STOCKS STRENGTH

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—With unexpected improvement in the money market, strong support came into the stock market today, and buoyancy spread throughout most of the list, after several sessions of unusual irregularity. Bullish operations were switched from the utilities to the rails.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent, and was in adequate supply at that figure, although a higher rate had been looked for today, as final preparations were made for the February 1 payments. Considerable funds had been attracted by yesterday's 8 per cent rate and some of the $7,500,000 in gold just arrived was evidently put to work. Time money was also easier.

Failure of the Bank of England to increase its rediscount rate was regarded bullishly, as it was believed to leave the way clear for further takings of gold in London. No change in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's rate is expected at the meeting this afternoon. A moderate increase in brokers' loans is looked for, however, but resulting more from heavy new financing than from stock market activity.

The day's news was largely favorable, including announcement of the institution of the policy of paying stock dividends by Studebaker with declaration of four quarterly 1 per cent dividends for 1929. Packard declared an extra dividend of 50 cents. Postum announced the acquisition of Certo Corporation.

About a dozen rails were boosted 3 to 7 points to new tops. A factor in switching to this group was the fact that banks are now loaning more on rails than industrials. St. Louis Southwestern, Chesapeake and Ohio, New York Central, Canadian Pacific, Rock Island, Erie, New Haven, Atchison and Union Pacific were among issues bid up 3 to 7 points.

The new DuPont stock jumped 11½ points on the excellent 1928 earnings report, while United Fruit, National Cash Register, Underwood Elliott Fisher, Studebaker, Pacific Gas and Electric, International Telephone and Western Union rose 3 to 8 points.

Some of the utilities encountered profit taking after their sharp advances, National Power and Light lost 3 points and American Water Works, Consolidated Gas, Electric Power and Light and others sagged 1 to 2 points. American and Foreign Power lost an early gain of 3 points.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Utilities were the center of attention on the firmer curb market today, with a few oils and a number of industrials participating in an advance which carried many issues to levels 15 or more ponts higher. Failure of the Bank of England to raise its rate and expectation that no increase consequently would be made by the Federal Reserve apparently encouraged buying which received further inspiration from the strength of the "big board."

American Gas and Electric, American Superpower "A" and American Light and Traction were in the forefront of the advance of the utilities with gains of 7 to 9 points each. Electric Bond and Share and United Gas Improvement were heavily traded, but the former reacted after early gains.

Checkered Cab continued to gain, crossing 83, a new high, while Niles Bement Pond soared 14 points and Deere 5. General Electric of England reached a new high at 20⅝, but sold down below 20. Mining and metal stocks were irregular, Noranda advancing 2 points and New Jersey Zinc declining 10.

Oil issues apparently were not affected by the reduction in gasoline prices announced by Standard of New York, several showing 2-point gains, among them Standard of Indiana.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

ITALY PLANNING DRUG CONTROL

GENEVA, Jan. 31.—(INS.—Premier Mussolini, influenced by the aggressive fight of the United States against traffic in narcotic drugs, is planning a state monopoly of narcotic commerce in Italy, it as revealed here today.

The revelation was made by Signor Cavazzoni, Italian delegate to the International Opium Commission, during debate upon the proposal of the Americans to limit the manufacture of opium.

The Italian delegate said: "Premier Mussolini favors the United States' plan to the extent he is planning a state monopoly of commerce in narcotic drugs. This is in line with the suggestion in the American plan for control of exportation of such narcotics as opium."

Beechview Engineer Injured in Fall, Dies

Injuries suffered in a fall in his home caused the death early today of George Feather, 57, a railroad engineer of 2217 Saranac avenue, Beechview. Feather hurt his right foot December 24 and was taken to the Mercy Hospital, where he died this morning.

"We Need Drink," Champion Beer Dumpers Sigh

STEUBENVILLE, O., Jan. 31.—"We need a drink," was the only comment by James Hunt and John Connelly, as they left the city jail after hanging up a new local record for beer dumping.

They worked six hours and 40 minutes dumping beer, confiscated in recent municipal raids, into the sewer while police looked on to see that none of the brew was diverted.

As a reward for emptying 2,270 bottles, the two men were given their freedom by Mayor Oliver Conley. They were serving jail sentences for intoxication.

Volstead Helping Effort to Curb Dry Violators

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Andrew J. Volstead has joined Gov. Theodore Christianson in an effort to make prohibition enforcement laws in Minnesota a positive deterrent to lawbreakers.

Volstead, who is legal adviser for the Northwest Prohibition Enforcement Bureau, conferred yesterday with the Governor, who plans the drafting of more effective enforcement measures. Federal Judge Sanborn, S. B. Qvale, prohibition enforcement director, and Attorney General Youngquist also attended the conference.

"ROBLYN," A SILVER PERSIAN

Don't confuse Roblyn with an ordinary cat. Roblyn, born in England and moved to Los Angeles via Canada, is worth $1,000, its owner, Mrs. Harold Adamson, has been told. Roblyn exhibits himself at cat shows. Roblyn is a silver Persian, as cats go. You can be sure that in the Adamson household nobody is instructed to put the cat out for the night.

STANDARD STEEL SPRING SOARS IN LOCAL MARKET

Standard Steel Spring, a newcomer to the local list, was the strong feature of the dealings on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange in the early session today.

Steel Spring is a manufacturer of a wide line of automotive accessories with springs as it principal product. The stock is listed here and in Detroit. Capital consists of 100,000 shares of stock, of which 91,880 shares are outstanding. There are no bonds or preferered stock. Earnings last year were at the rate of $10.80 a share on the outstanding stock. The balance sheet shows cash surplus in excess of the capital liability represented by the 91,880 shares of $10 par value stock. The company's plants are at Coraopolis. It is the intention of the management to inaugurate dividends on the issue at the rate of $4 annually. Public offering of a block of the stock was made a few weeks ago at $56. Initial sales in the open market were in the high 70s with a subsequent advance to 85, after which it dropped back to around 72. The close last night was at 74.

National Fireproofing scored a further gain today in reflection of the declaration of an extra dividend of 72½ cents on the preferred in addition to a 62½-cent payment previously declared and payable April 15. Demand for Fireproofing shot the price up to above 32 yesterday and it was evident today that traders and investors were holding the issue for further exhancement.

Western Public Service and Aluminum Goods Manufacturing were the leaders of the unlisted division, both being in good demand and showing fair gains over yesterday's quotations. Fuel issues in the official list were quiet but steady.

Standard Sanitary was firm around 53 most of the session. The directors held a meeting this morning at which it was expected action on the merger with American Radiator would be taken. The meeting adjourned early in the afternoon, however, to meet again at 3 o'clock. Following the first session it was announced that regular dividends had been declared on the common and preferred stocks. American Radiator recently approved terms of a merger with Standard on the basis of one share of Radiator for 3 2-3 shares of Standard.

VAN SWERINGEN STOCKS BOOM IN NEW DEAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—The formation of the $35,000,000 Alleghany Corporation by O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, of Cleveland, was reflected today in the stock market by rises in the issues of several of the corporations involved.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad stock went up 6 points to 222; Erie climbed three notches to 71, and New York, Chicago and St. Louis, the parent Nickle Plate, added four points to its total to reach 139¾. All rail stocks were strong.

The Alleghany Corporation, a holding company, will take over the holdings of the Van Sweringens and their associates in the Chesapeake Corporation, the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company, the New York, Chicago and St Louis Railway Company, the Erie Railroad Company and the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railway Company.

Stocks having a market value of more than $84,000,000 have been acquired by the new organization, chartered under the laws of Maryland. The corporation will also have approximately $46,000,000 in cash on completion of public financing which will be begun today. An offer of $35,000,000 of the corporation's 5 per cent bonds will be made today by J. P. Morgan & Co.

Vacuum to Install Own "Gas" Stations

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The Vacuum Oil Company, which has been concentrating on the manufacture and sale of lubricants, will follow other large oil companies into the marketing of gasoline through its own stations, it was learned today.

It is expected to launch its new activities in Philadelphia. Vacuum has a refinery at Paulsboro, N. J., near Philadelphia. Heretofore Vacuum contracted with independent service station systems for an outlet for its gasoline.

THESE are samples of the new, reduced station-to-station day rates on calls to points 130 to 1500 miles away. Rates for person-to-person calls within the same distances have also been reduced, in equal or greater amounts than the station-to-station calls.

The improvements in service features made at the time of the previous reduction—longer and more convenient evening and night discount periods, reversal privilege on station-to-station calls, etc.—remain in effect.

This latest reduction in rates is the third to be offered to the public by the Bell System within little more than two years. It is in keeping with the fundamental policy of the System to furnish the best possible telephone service at the least cost to the user. It is another step in making us a nation of neighbors.

DU PONT AGAIN INCREASES EARNINGS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

CONSTANT efforts to increase the range of its products in addition to the steady growth in the return in dividends received on General Motors stock have enabled E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company to show an increase in earnings in every year since 1921.

Although the progress made in the du Pont manufacturing operations has been phenomenal, the company can be regarded as more of an investment trust than an industrial organization. In the last three years the investment in General Motors stock has contributed more to the earnings of du Pont than its own operations.

In 1928 net earnings available for the common stock dividends were $58,733,238, or $21.96 a share. Of this $37,929,327 was contributed by General Motors. This return was obtained in one year on an investment of about $56,250,000 made only a decade ago. In addition a profit of $2,286,000 was realized from the sale of holdings of United States Steel common stock which were bought in 1927 as a temporary investment.

THE E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company holdings of General Motors common both directly and through the 70 per cent interest in the General Motors Security Company amount to 3,992,488 shares of the old stock, or 22.94 per cent of the total capitalization.

In 1927 du Pont's earnings were $41,113,968 of $15.45 a share. Of this $28,941,597 was contributed by General Motors.

Since the war the du Pont organization has been a worker of miracles. The end of hostilities left the company with tremendous facilities for the manufacture of explosives, only a small part of which could find a peace time market. It was necessary for the company to find new ways to use its products and new operations to occupy its plants.

TODAY du Pont products are a part of our daily life. Our homes and furniture may be finished with du Pont paints, varnishes or lacquers. Our toilet articles may be made of pyralin from the same company's plants. The coal that keeps us warm may have been blasted with a du Pont explosive.

The same organization in Wilmington may have made the ammonia we use for cleaning. Rayon, the new textile which has suddenly sprung into wide use is another du Pont product. Our clothes may be colored with a du Pont dye.

We leave our house and step into an automobile finished with Duco. Its windows may be Duplate, two thin sheets of plate glass cemented together with a du Pont pyroxylin plastic. The alcohol in the radiator may have had its origin with the same great industrial organization. The anti-knock gasoline may have been made with du Pont tebraethyl lead. When our car gets us to town we may see a movie on du Pont film.

LAST year the position in the chemical industry was strengthened by the acquisition of the Grasselli Chemical Company, which expanded activities in the production of acids, pigments and zinc products in addition to the expansion of du Pont's own manufacturing operations.

At the end of 1928 the company had $92,811,283 of 6 per cent debenture stock outstanding and 2,811,050 shares of no par common stock. This old stock is being split into new shares on a basis of 3½ shares of new for one of old. General Motors common is being split on a 2½ for one basis. After the capital changes of both companies have been completed, du Pont's 9,838,675 shares outstanding will be about equal to the number of shares in its holdings of new General Motors stock.

On March 31 the investment in General Motors stock was written up on the company's books from $25 a share to $35 a share. This gave the holdings of old stock a value on the balance sheet of $139,737,080. The actual market value of the holdings of General Motors common today is about $818,000,000.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Strong Rally in Stocks.

Stocks rallied in good shape today under the leadership of the best grade industrials and railroad issues. Buying of the rails was in evidence at the start of the market, although the industrial section was forced a little lower on selling induced by fears of another increase in brokers' loans and possible further tightening of the money market. The loan statement will be issued late this afternoon after the close. The money market was fairly comfortable with call loans opening at 7 per cent as against last night's close at 8. When the rate failed to go above the 7 per cent figure by mid-day, the bulls took courage and began bidding actively for their favorites. Westinghouse Electric was one of the leaders of the upturn and there was a resumption of buying in Steel common, some of which apparently was covering of shorts put out yesterday in disappointment over the failure of an extra dividend to come out of Tuesday's meeting. Steel's prospects for earnings, however, are so good that all selling was easily taken and the bears found themselves in trouble when they attempted to cover today. How far the present rally will carry is a question in the Street. There is an impression in certain quarters that the irregularity of the past few days has strengthened the technical position considerably and that the next upswing may be more than a mere temporary flurry such as has been witnessed over the past two weeks. The character of the buying in the rails is said to have been of the best and moderate recessions have uncovered unexpected support on several occasions recently.

Westinghouse at New High.

The Street was somewhat mystified by the spetacle of the two big electrical companies, Westinghouse and General Eletric, going in opposite directions today. Westinghouse soared into new high ground on further urgent buying of the character witnessed yesterday and in one or two previous sessions of the past week. General Electric had the spotlight a short time ago and there was considerable comment in the Street over the fact that Westinghouse failed to go along on the move. The latter moved into the picture about 10 days ago, however, and has had an almost perpendicular rise of about 20 points. Westinghouse was "tipped" all over the Street today and made good with an upturn of several points. This issue is widely held in Pittsburgh and has been a "strong box stock" in Pittsburgh for many years. The company is beginning to reap the benefit of an extensive program of segregation and rearrangement of manufacturing facilities inaugurated several years ago. It is in excellent condition to take care of the enormous new business arising out of the expansion programs of the public utilities and the electrification of rail roads. The company recently offered 296,252 shares of additional common to common and preferred shareholders on the basis of one new share at $105 for each eight shares held. These rights expire February 5. Earnings for the eight months to November 30, last, were equivalent to $6.45 on the combined common and preferred stock, the two issues sharing alike in dividends after $3.50 has been paid on the common. For the six months ended September 30, 1927, the company earned $2.73 a share on the combined stocks. The company's fiscal year formerly began on April 1, but in the future will conform with the calendar year.

Tidal Osage Fight On.

A circular issued to stockholders of Tidal Osage Oil Company signed by E. M. Love, Harrison Nesbit and W. W. Goldsborough, is being mailed today. The circular states: "It has been suggested that the undersigned, each of whom is a large holder of the stock of your company, act as a committee to inquire into the inter-corporate relations between it and the Tidewater Oil Company for the purpose of determining whether your company is being operated for the best interests of all its stockholders, particularly in the matter of dividends, investment of surplus funds, purchase, sale and development of properties and marketing of products. If this inquiry discloses a situation which should be corrected in behalf of your company and its stockholders generally a further suggestion is that we take steps necessary to correct it."

Stockholders are asked to sign and forward an agreement enclosed and if the committee is authorized to go ahead the attorneys will be George H. Calvert, of Calvert, Thompson and Berger, of Pittsburgh and Owen J. Roberts, of Philadelphia.

Rock Island Earnings.

Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific R. R. reports for the year ended December 31, 1928, net income of $13,167,696, after taxes and charges, equal, after preferred dividends, to $12.91 a share on the 743,580 common shares, compared with net income in 1927 of $12,564,830, or $12 a share.

Treasury Surplus Seen.

Although President Coolidge in his budget speech warned of a threatened deficit in government finances at the close of the fiscal year June 30, Treasury actuaries forecast a surplus of about $50,000,000. The Treasury is now $265,000,000 behind this time in 1928. There was a surplus of $397,000,000 last year. Therefore a surplus is forecast for this year of about $130,000,000. But a $75,000,000 additional appropriation for tax refunds must be deducted to give a correct estimate of this year's surplus, and if Congress should approve the additional $24,000,000 prohibition fund, the predicted surplus would be reduced to $26,000,000.

Zinc Production Larger.

World output of slab zinc was 132,710 short tons in December against 127,355 tons in November and 127,085 tons in December, 1927, according to the American Bureau of Metal Statistics.

Improved buying of zinc by both galvanizers and brass manufacturers was outstanding in the week's development in the non-ferrous metal markets, says Engineering and Mining Journal. Foreign demand for copper is good. Germany has resumed its place as the leading buyer of copper.

English Bank Rate Same.

The minimum rate of discount of the Bank of England remains unchanged today at 4½ per cent.

Speculation circles were relieved when the bank made no change in its rate. Such action was feared as a means of checking the flow of gold to New York. The British bank's reserve ratio, however, fell away slightly, and made a higher rediscount rate more likely in coming weeks. A higher rate at London would attract credit from New York and reduce the amount available for speculative purposes.

Gold Imports.

Much comment is heard on the gold imports from London, and optimists contend that there will be large additional shipments in the near future. This opinion is not shared in many banking quarters, where it is pointed out that sterling is getting to a point where it is possible that the movement of the precious metal from England may end shortly.

Local Seat at $14,000.

Arrangements have been made for sale of a membership on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange at $14,000. This compares with the last previous sale at $14,500. A few weeks ago a flurry in seats here ran the price up from around $8,000 to $14,500. About six memberships were sold at the time. Two of the buyers were New York brokerage houses and the others were taken by local interests.

Columbia Graphophone.

It is reported that a large block of Columbia Graphophone has been liquidated recently. The selling came from foreign sources, according to the rumor. If this is true, it is likely that the stock will do much better when the market turns upward again, as the pressure should be removed with the absorption of such a large block of stock.

Postum Gets Certo Corp.

Announcement was made of the acquisition of Certo Corporation by Postum Company, Inc. It is understood that the likely terms are seven shares of Postum for eight shares of Certo, after payment of the 33⅓ per cent Certo stock dividend as of February 28.

The Truscon Steel Company reports earnings equivalent to $3.32 a share on the 546,464 common shares for the 11 months ended November 30, 1928.

Structural Awards Larger.

Structural steel awards the past week totaled 66,000 tons and are the largest in many weeks. McClintick Marshall Company will furnish the steel for a new Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plant at Gaston, Ala.

Eastern Scraps Higher.

Lukens Steel Company, Coatesville, Pa., has placed orders in the eastern market for about 18,000 tons of heavy melting steel at $17.50 delivered. This is an advance of $1 over the price paid a few weeks ago.

American Bridge Gets Order.

American Bridge Company was low bidder on 20 coal barges for the Rock Island, Ill., office of the U. S. engineers. The equipment involves 1,800 tons of plates and shapes.

Pittsburgh Steel Foundry.

Pittsburgh Steel Foundry Corporation report for the year ended December 31, 1928, shows net income after taxes, depreciation and interest of $40,609, equal after preferred dividends to 28 cents a share on the 30,000 shares no-par stock. This compares with net in 1927 of $108,728 or $2.44 a share. The corporation in 1928 received federal tax refund for 1918 and 1926 of $57,266, equal to $1.91 on the common.

Atchison Net Gaining.

Atchison Railroad system's December net operating income jumped to $5,927,638 from $3,308,604 in December, 1927. Net for the 12 months of 1928 totaled $55,332,526 against $54,603,104 the year preceding.

Carloadings Ahead of 1928.

Loadings of revenue freight on the railroads of the United States in the week ended Jan. 19 totaled 931,889 cars, according to American Railway Association. This was an increase of 17,702 cars over the immediately preceding week and 47,197 over the corresponding week in 1928, but 4,280 below the similar week in 1927. All districts except the southern reported increases in the total loadings of all commodities compared with the same week in 1928, and all districts reported increases compared with the same period in 1927, except the Allegheny, Pocahontas and southern districts, which showed reductions.

P. R. R. Freight Movement.

The Pennsylvania Railroad system handled 148,072 cars in the week ended Jan. 26 compared with 147,141 handled in the preceding week and with 137,411 in the corresponding week in 1928. From Jan. 1st to Jan. 26th the system handled 562,226 cars, against 532,685 a year previous.

Van Sweringen Holding Company.

The Alleghany Corporation has been organized by the Van Swearingens, of Cleveland, to hold shares of Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, Chesapeake Corporation, Nickel Plate, Erie and Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railroads. Offering of $35,000,000 5 per cent bonds is made today due in 1944. In addition there will be presently outstanding 250,000 shares of $100 par preferred. Offering of preferred and common will be made by the Guaranty Company. There will also be 7,500,000 shares of no-par common authorized, of which it is expected 2,500,000 shares will be offered next week. The corporation, a holding company, will receive from the Van Sweringen interests 300,000 shares of the Chesapeake Corporation, 20,000 shares of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company, 75,000 shares of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railway Company (Nickel Plate), 90,000 shares of the Erie Railway Company and 139,000 shares of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railway Company. These holdings are valued at $84,000,000.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

Mostly all lines of fruit and vegetables were in demand today at the local wholesale produce district. But little change was made in the quotations.

Butter and eggs continued firm and cheese steady. No change was made in the quotations on these markets.

Poultry was in liberal supply, with the demand slow, market weak and quotations about unchanged.

Car lot supplies were liberal, a total of 655 cars being on track. Included in the arrivals were 15 cars of apples, 1 beets, 7 cabbage, 5 celery, 3 grapefruit, 1 grapes, 4 lemons, 10 lettuce, 19 oranges, 2 peppers, 3 spinach, 1 kale, 4 cauliflower, 9 potatoes, 3 strawberries, 3 sweet potatoes, 5 tomatoes, 4 carrots, 2 turnips and 1 parsnips.

A Spirit of Service
That is Now Tradition

MORE than one hundred years ago, when Pittsburgh had only two bridges over its rivers, Nathaniel Holmes established his banking office. Founded with the ideal of rendering a friendly financial service, that one office has grown into the organization of J. H. Holmes & Company.

Pittsburgh's two bridges have increased to twenty-three; and with the growth of the city and the growth of its industries, J. H. Holmes & Company so retained the old spirit of friendly service that it is now a tradition, handed down to this generation by business men and corporations to whom such service was rendered.

If you would like to receive our "Market Review" booklet, telephone Court 0811 and it will be sent upon request.

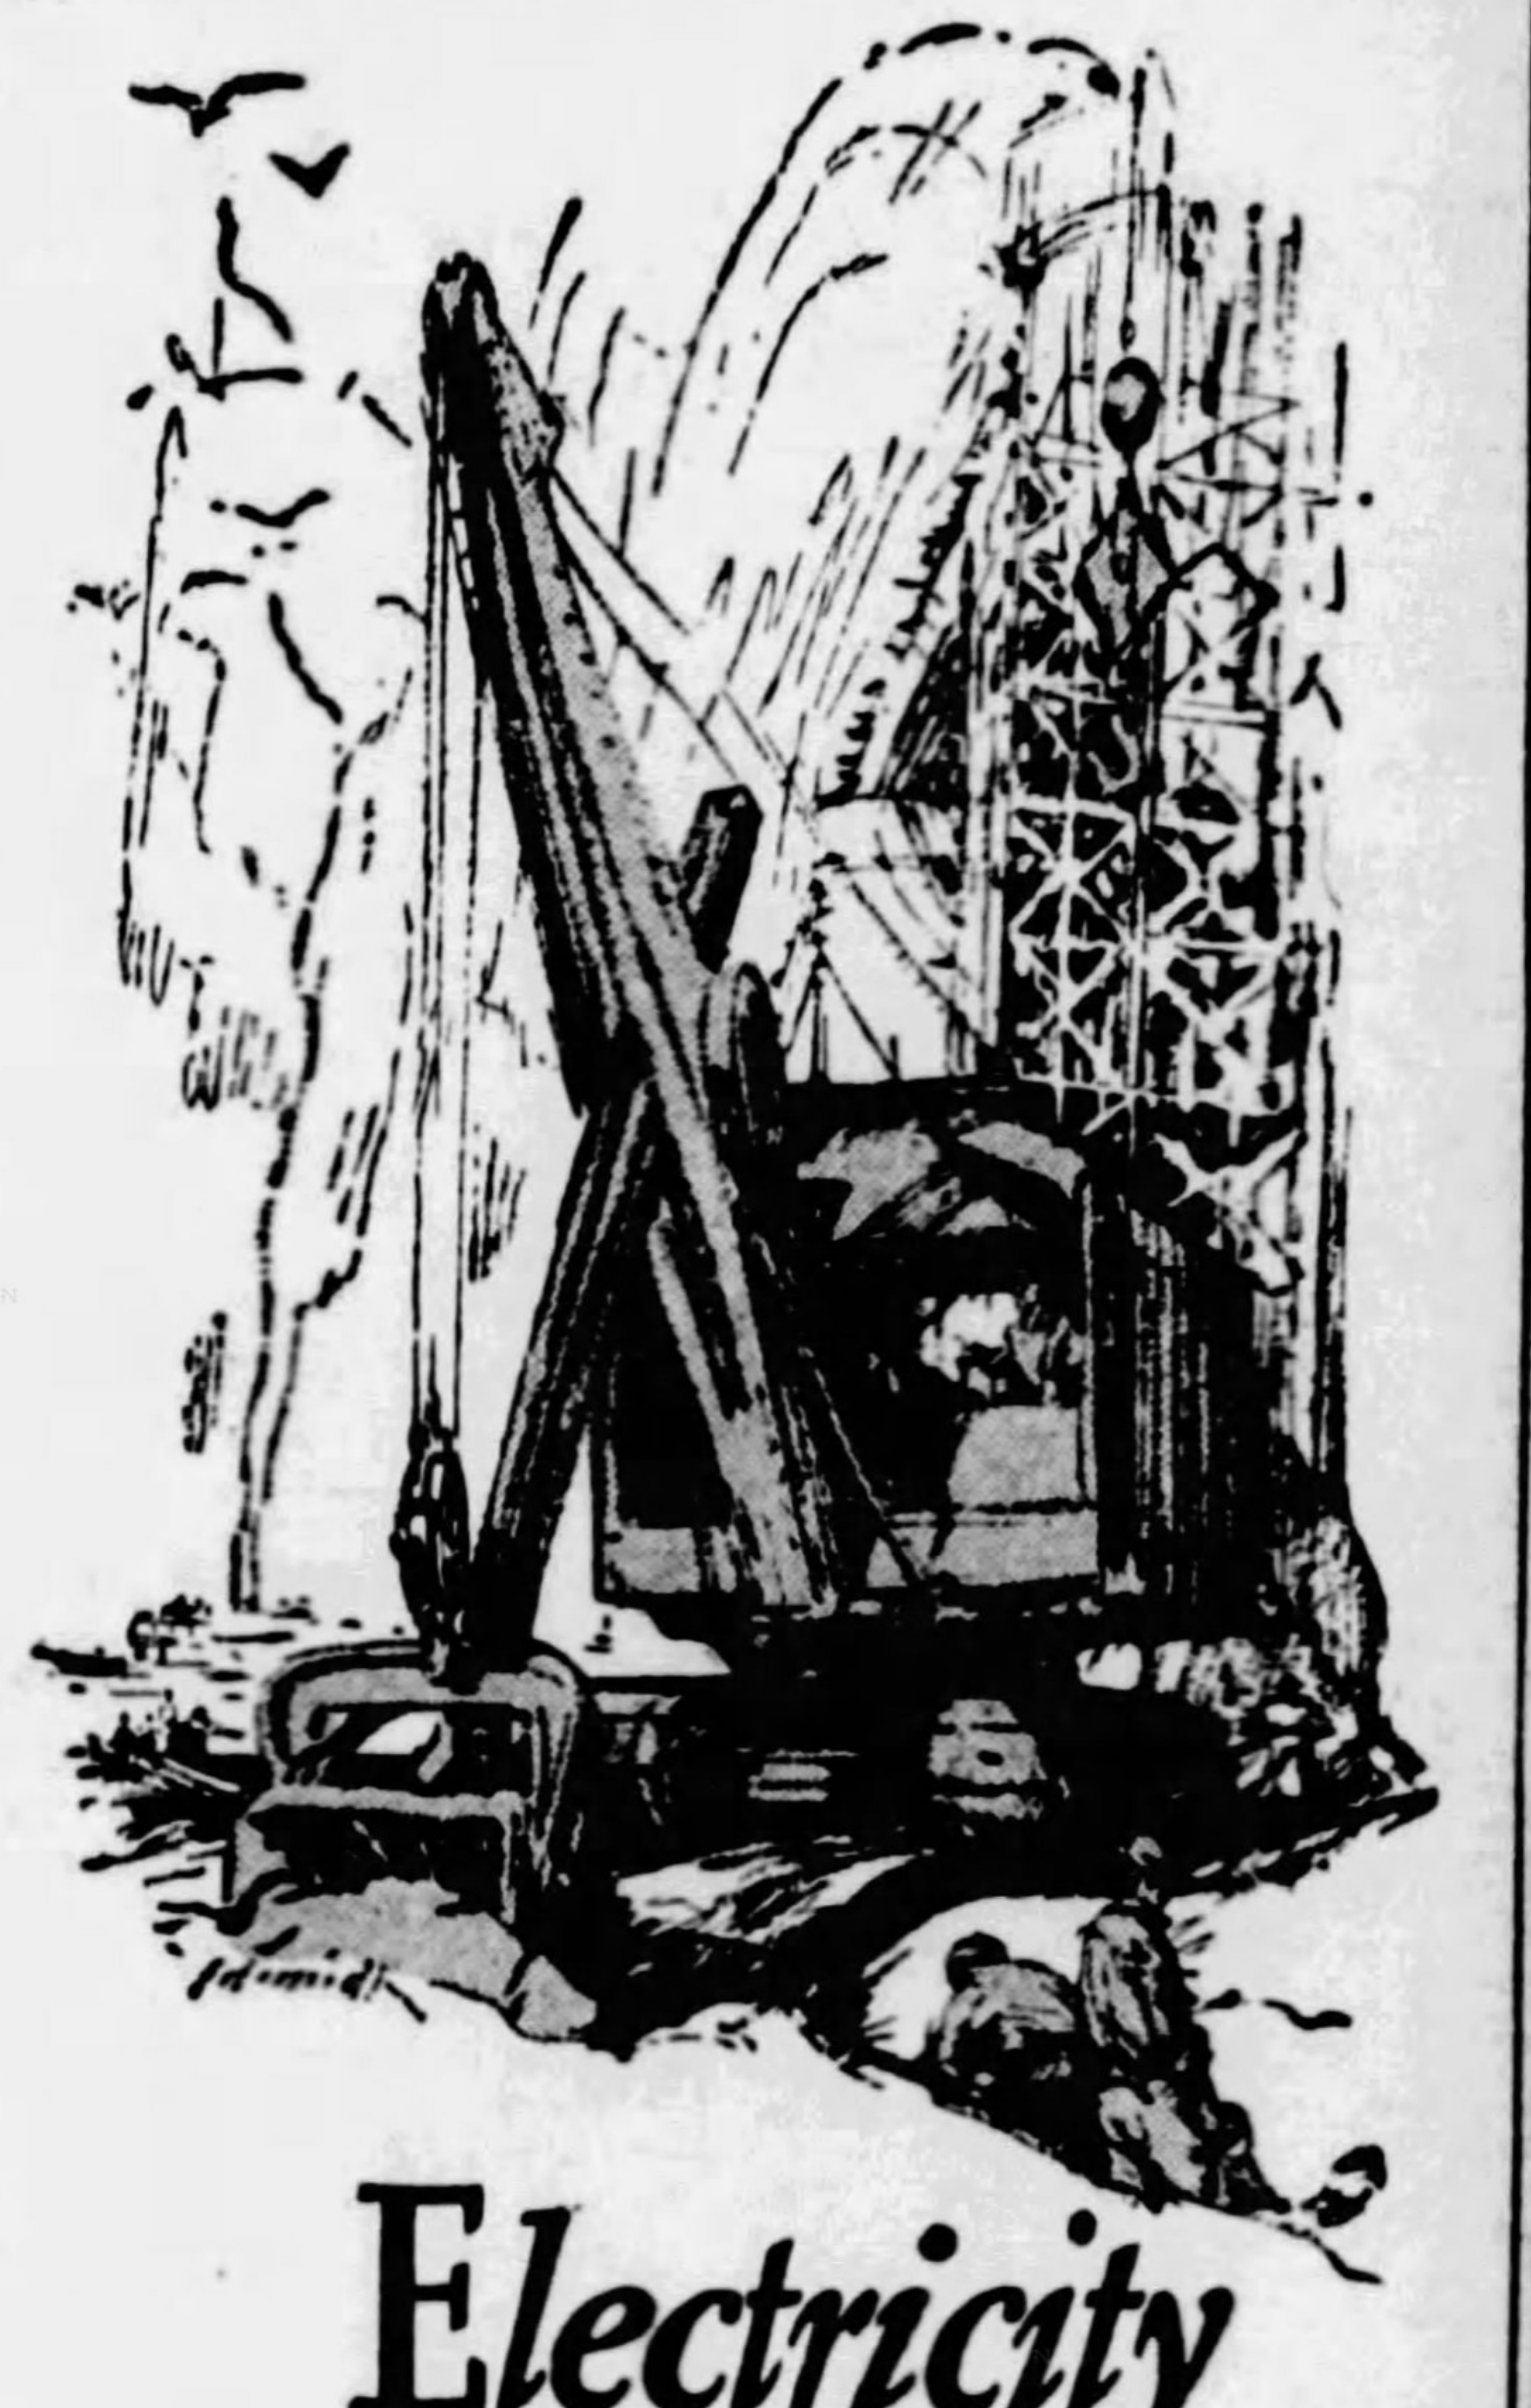
WESTINGHOUSE SERVES EVERYWHERE



Electricity hushes the din of construction

The construction scene becomes a quiet scene when electricity is applied to the builder's task. No chugging shovels, no rattling donkey engines, no clamoring riveters' hammers!

Westinghouse has applied silent electric drive to the excavating shovel, to construction elevators and conveyors used in building work. By developing silent electric arc welding to replace riveting, Westinghouse has made an outstanding contribution to economical structural steel erection.

But quiet is only one advantage of electrical building. Costs are lowered, work proceeds faster, less labor is needed. Men and machines work at higher efficiency.

Penn. Girl is a Winner

Every mother realizes how important it is to teach children good habits of conduct, but many of them fail to realize the importance of teaching their children good bowel habits until the poisons from decaying waste held too long in the system have begun to affect the child's health.

Watch your child and at the first sign of constipation, give her a little California Fig Syrup. Children love its rich, fruity taste and it quickly drives away those distressing ailments, such as headaches, bad breath, coated tongue, biliousness, feverishness, fretfulness, etc. It gives them a hearty appetite, regulates their stomach and bowels and gives tone and strength to these organs so they continue to act normally of their own accord. For over fifty years, leading physicians have prescribed it for half-sick, bilious, constipated children. More than 4 million bottles used a year shows how mothers depend on it.

Mrs. Anna Frank, 1110 North 39th St., Philadelphia, says: "My daughter, Hilda, is a prize winner for health, now, but we had a lot of trouble with her before we found her trouble was constipation and began giving her California Fig Syrup. It fixed her up quick, gave her a good appetite, made her sleep fine and she's been gaining in weight right along since the first few days, taking it."

Splendid Recipe To Stop A Cough That "Hangs On"

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be made at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this home-made remedy loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which usually follow the "flu", are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

PROBE PLANNED IN CELL DEATH

Council has invited Fred R. Kleibacker, 905 Ninth street, to submit at a public hearing any facts that would justify his implication of police negligence in the death, January 1, of C. B. Donameyer in Central Police Station.

Kleibacker has forwarded repeated letters to Council on the subject. After receipt of the first communication, Council asked the police bureau for a report on the case and was advised that Donameyer had died during the night in a cell after being picked up the night before as a patient for the Welfare Department.

Council has asked the city solicitor to investigate the death and has also requested a report from Coroner W. J. McGregor.

State Road Funds Paid to Townships

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The State Department of Highways distributed $63,713 to 12 townships in 11 counties yesterday as the state's share of 21 highway improvement projects under the state reward plan. The largest amount was paid to South Huntingdon Township, Westmoreland County, which received $24,846. Other payments included: North Fayette Township, Allegheny County, $557; Jefferson Township, Butler County, $3,902; Coolspring Township, Mercer County, $2,227; Findley Township, Mercer County, $1,921; Canal Township, Venango County, $321; Oil Creek Township, Crawford County, $4,076; North Beaver Township, Lawrence County, $14,159.

Leaking Acid Halts Traffic in Tunnel

MARSEILLES, France, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—A leak in a tank car full of hydrochloric acid stopped passenger traffic through the Estagel Tunnel. The tank car was on a side track near the entrance to the tunnel and the winds carried the fumes into the bore.

Passenger trains were halted and passengers were taken over the hills in motor cars. Crews of freight trains which pass through the tunnel wore gas masks.

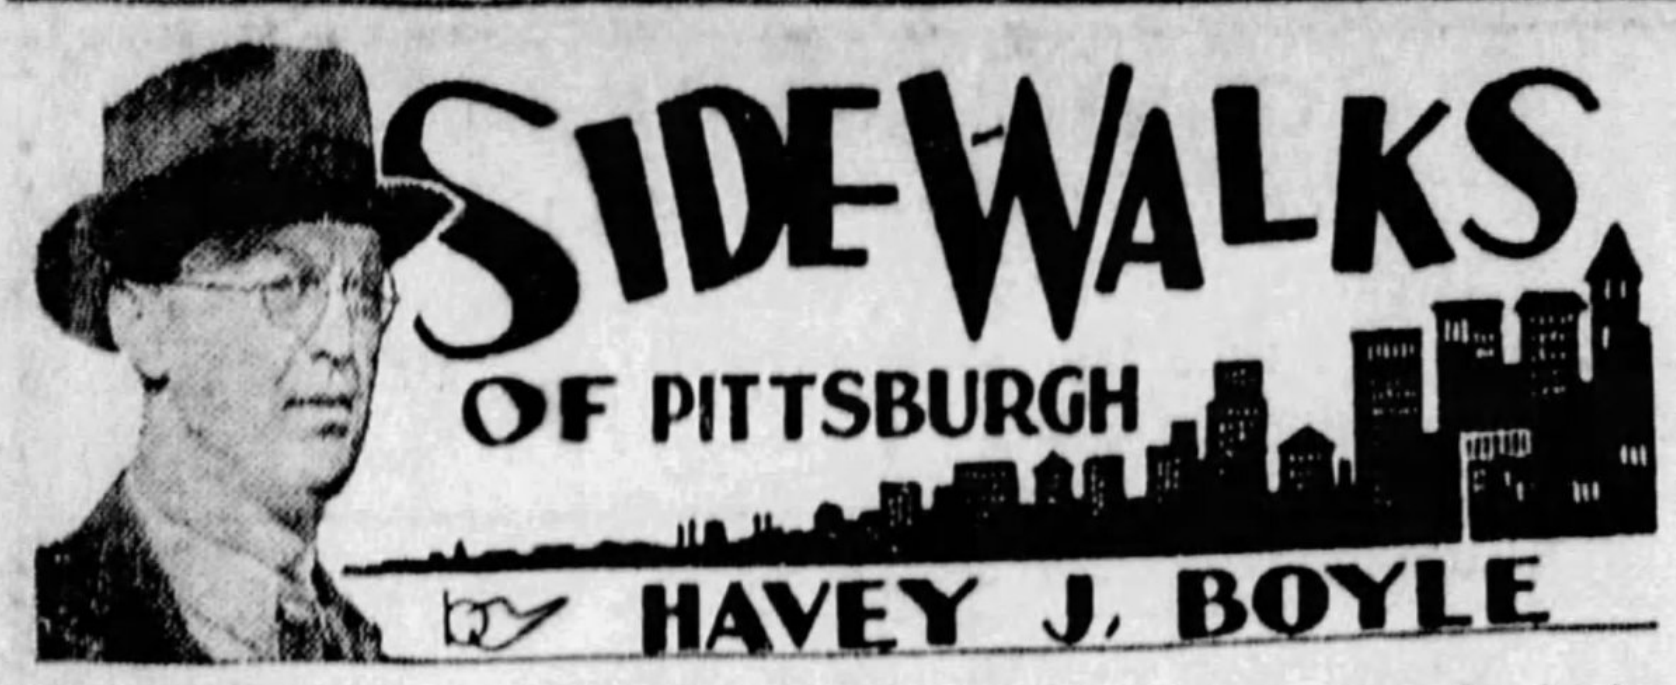
Bandit Ties Taxicab Driver to Steps



SIDE-WALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

I'M a little too old-fashioned to believe the report brought in by Operative 756-A, who reports that some of the young ladies who started out with cigarets have now taken to pipe-smoking. This is altogether too fantastic to believe. However, if it's true be prepared to see soon on the signboards the picture of a dashing co-ed saying: "Nothing like a good corn cob," or "Give Her a Meerschaum for Mother's Day."

I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO GIVE MARY !
GIVE HER A PIPE !

This is waffle month and by the movement to popularize waffles will be added thousands of waffle munchers if the waffles can be made to taste as good as they always look—either on the plate or in the picture.

AN AVERAGE policeman possibly dreams of 20 years' service and a pension; or perhaps promotion to sergeancy, or a lieutenancy or a captaincy. Perhaps, as the roundsman courses his way in the lonesome hours of the night he allows himself to meditate on what he'd do if he'd ever rise to the superintendency. But all are not too ambitious, for one, clicking his heels, said: "I'd rather be a mounted man—with a horse—you know I like a horse nearly the same as I like a human—and some horses better than some humans—and if ever I get a pull, why they can all be lieutenants and captains—if I get a horse to ride and pal with and take care of."

Pete and his father (I think the tall man, with glasses and red cheeks was his father) came in. They both rubbed their hands and stamped their feet and shook their shoulders. It was cold outside.

"That wind was awful today," said Pete. "Pretty cold, it was," said his old man. "But I got warm now and then in the shanty." "Yeah," said Pete, laughing, "you got a nice shanty but that thing I got—why the wind almost blew it over." "Well, why don't you work harder then and you'll keep warm," said the old man. "Pretty cold today—I couldn't keep warm—and say was that a stoney one I had," replied Pete.

HEY PETE--HOW 'BOUT A MOVIE TO NIGHT ?
WELL THATS THAT !

Pete and the old man are two grave-diggers. Pete is fat and happy. And the old man wears gold-rimmed glasses and has red cheeks.

Pete will see this and because he's concerned he'll laugh. Pete's fat and he laughs deep. Pete and the old man seem to be contented with their jobs.

LITA GREY CHAPLIN is in town and her presence serves to recall one of the nicest stories written by one of the best writers, Alexander Woolcott, about the night Chaplin, alone in New York, took a taxi ride and fell asleep and the taxi driver drove until he, too, felt sleepy and he roused his famous passenger. The taxi had reached the poorer section where the taxi driver lived. Chaplin, disliking the long ride back to the downtown, asked the taxi man if he could be put up for the night. He said Charley would have to sleep with one of the boys. And the next morning the happiest kid in the world rubbed his eyes, gazed at his bed partner, and in a few minutes had an army of kids around to see the celebrated and beloved hero of the kids who had been his bed partner. And how Mr. Woolcott wrote that one. And some day read his story of the soldier and the dog.

3 SOUTH SIDERS ASK DIVORCE

Walter H. Porter, 2324 Birtley street, Brookline, sued Mrs. Cassie Mable Porter, 200 Ridgewood street, Dayton, Florida, charging she deserted him December 27, 1922, after they had been married 26 years.

Mrs. Maria Trantner, of Library, sued Anreas Trantner, 3 Overlook street. She charges him with cruelty. They were married October 29, 1928 and separated two and a half months later, on January 7.

Mrs. Lillie R. Olinger, 1724 New Haven avenue, Dormont, charged cruelty in suit against Harvard Olinger, 232 Bingham street. Their wedded life lasted from February 4, 1925 to August 3, 1927.

SUN-TELEGRAPH BOYS IN CHARLEROI WELL PAID

Newsboys who sell and deliver the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in Charleroi are to be envied. Certainly there are not many newsies better treated. They are well paid for a few hours of work after school and receive many other benefits from their jobs. They go to every circus, and about once a week to the movies.

These boys receive their papers from the George S. Might News Agency. Mr. Might, who died recently, was a true friend of the newsboys, and his sons are carrying out his policy.

The boys have a trumpet and drum corps organized by Mr. Might that is famed through that part of the Monongahela valley.

The lads of the Might News Agency handle no other Pittsburgh evening or Sunday paper but the Sun-Telegraph. In addition to their profits from the sale of the Sunday Sun-Telegraph they receive $10 a month for delivering the evening editions.

So that equipment necessary for serving refreshments may be had, every member of the association is being asked to bring a cup to the next meeting when a "cup shower" will be held.

HOME TO HONOR BRADDOCK HERO OF SEA DRAMA

The Tri-Borough Chamber of Commerce, which represents Braddock, North Braddock and Rankin, went ahead today with its plans to fete Fonce Kellams, Braddock sailor, who was one of eight of the SS. America's crew that rescued 32 from the sinking Italian vessel Florida.

Secretary Albert P. Roderus announced that a committee had been appointed to arrange a welcome for Kellams when he arrives Saturday morning from New York. The committee, consisting of Chairman Charles J. Carr, T. W. Nugent and F. G. Bishoff, is to arrange a banquet for Kellams.

HURT IN FALL DOWN HILL

Joseph Simon, 56, no home, a rag picker, is in South Side Hospital suffering from bronchitis and possibly pneumonia, according to hospital authorities, caused, it is believed, when he was found lying in the snow in the Tunnel yards of the Pittsburgh Railways yesterday.

Simon was found by Charles Taylor, inspector of the Railways Company, Mt. Washington police say, after he fell down the hill from Jasper street, Mt. Washington, into the yards, a drop of more than 15 feet. He was given first-aid in the dispatcher's office and later removed to the hospital in Mt. Washington auto patrol.

AUTO HITS HOLE, CITY SUED

Because their automobile went into an ice filled hole 14 inches deep in Maytide street, Carrick, causing it to skid against a pole and injure two Carrick women, the City of Pittsburgh faces damage suits totaling $22,000, entered in Common Pleas Court.

Mrs. Frank S. Hueston, whose husband was driving, suffered injury to her knee cap and internal hurts, she claims, in asking $15,000 damages. Mrs. Edgar Hays, a passenger in the rear seat, was rendered unconscious and severely bruised. She sued for $7,000.

FLASHES POLICE TELEPHONE ORDERS

WILLIAM L. SLOAN, PITTSBURGH POLICE OPERATOR

Operator Sloan tomorrow rounds out 22 years of telephone broadcasting in the Pittsburgh department. Dean of operators here, he flashes orders into all the city police stations.

ENDS 22 YEARS AS POLICE 'EYE'

Twenty-two years of broadcasting—by telephone—tales of holdups and murders, of lost children and minor thefts, will be rounded out tomorrow by William L. Sloan, 50, of 5012 Friendship avenue, veteran police telephone operator.

It was February 1, 1907, that he plugged in on his first line and sent out his first call to desk sergeants in outlying police stations.

Sloan, dean of all police operators, in addition to sending out information regarding most of the important crimes committed here during the past 22 years, can also lay claim to two unique distinctions.

"CAN'T STEAL AUTO"

It was Sloan, who 20 years ago, had to stand for a good bit of razzing from desk sergeants when he reported the first theft of an automobile in Pittsburgh. Veteran police of that day thought he was "kidding" them and wanted to know how anybody could steal an automobile. It was a two-cylinder wheezer of the period.

The other distinction is that he was the first operator here to broadcast the theft of an airplane. That happened a year ago. The plane was stolen from Bettis Field and later recovered in Swissvale. He has seen crime detecting change from year to year. Today he recalled a payroll holdup of 20 years ago and the description of the bandits was sent out. The holdup was committed in Homestead and police were told that the job was done by "two men in a two-horse-drawn buggy. When last seen the horses were being hard-driven." The bandits were arrested at Third avenue and Cherry way.

PLAYED WITH WADDELL

Sloan, born in Butler, Pa., and a one-time fellow ball player with the late "Rube" Waddell, has seen police superintendents and public safety directors come and go. He was appointed operator by Thomas A. McQuaide, then superintendent of police. George W. Guthrie was mayor and Frank Ridgeway was public safety director. He was given his first instruction by John Cahill. All four of these are dead.

"Retire?" said Sloan today. "Not thinking of it. I'm good for another 20 years or more."

DAUGHTER OF MINISTER ACTS AS PASTOR'S AID

Perhaps one of the most unique positions held by any woman in this vicinity is that of Miss Hazelle L. Jewell, of 1541 Grandin avenue, Dormont, who is the minister's assistant at the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church, Dormont.

Miss Jewell, the daughter of the Rev. James S. Jewell, executive and field secretary for the Baptist Orphanage and Home of Western Pennsylvania, has been assistant to the Rev. Edward Bleakney, pastor of the Dormont church, for eight months.

Before accepting the position as the Rev. Bleakney's helper, Miss Jewell was employed for seven years by the Holmes Electric Protective Company. She says she likes her "new job very much."

Services for Sailor Held in N. Braddock

Rudolph Florke of Brinton avenue, North Braddock, a sailor in the United States Navy who died December 7 while with his ship in Japanese waters, was brought back Monday and was buried from his home yesterday. He was taken to the S. W. Wolfe Undertaking Parlors, East Pittsburgh, where services were held yesterday.

W. C. T. U. Will Show Prohibition Film

FARE TAKES $25 IN HOMESTEAD HOLDUP

James Snyder, 27, a taxicab driver, was robbed of $25 and then tied to the banister of a flight of steps at Sarah and Thirteenth avenues, Homestead, early today.

Snyder struggled with the heavy rope that held him fast to the banister and managed to free himself a short time after the robbery.

He told Homestead police that he had picked up a passenger in Homestead and when he arrived at the scene of the robbery the "fare" drew a revolver, forced him against the steps and bound him.

Before reporting to police, Snyder drove about the district in search of the robber, but failed to find him.

$250,000 BONDS DELIVERED

Bonds for $250,000 were delivered to the Prescott Lyon Company, of Pittsburgh, by Mt. Lebanon Township Treasurer Thomas R. Knowlson today. They were awarded to that firm by the township January 14, at a premium of $9,545.

The bonds, voted by the township voters at the last general election, are for the following: $175,000 for a new municipal building to house police, fire departments and general offices: $50,000 for storm sewers throughout the township; $15,000 for floating indebtedness, and $10,000 for the installation of traffic signal lights and the construction of safety zones.

Man Hurt in $3,000 Fire on North Side

Injuries to one man and damage estimated at $3,000 resulted from a fire today in a two-story unoccupied frame building at 76 Heisel street. Arthur Haggerty, 22, of 3907 Menlo street, was cut by glass when he fell through a window while assisting firemen. He was taken to St. John's Hospital where he was treated for lacerations of the right arm.

The building was owned by Alfred Haggerty, of 3907 Menlo street. The damage was estimated by Battalion Fire Chief Daniel Jones. The cause of the fire is not known.

Fleeing Holdup Man, Slips and Breaks Leg

Attempting to flee from a holdup man who accosted him in Chestnut street near Spring Garden avenue, Louis Novak, 48, of 1023 Vinial street, slipped and fell to the pavement, breaking his right leg. The robber fled when he discovered his intended victim had been injured. Novak was found by a pedestrian, who took him to the Allegheny General Hospital. In giving his report to the police, Novak said that this was the third time his leg had been broken.

Robbers Threaten Girl Clerk in Store

A girl clerk in the Suketh and Labretz grocery store at 1400 Spring Garden avenue was threatened with a revolver by one of two robbers who held up the store and escaped with $75 last night. While one of the robbers held the revolver against the girl, the other removed the money from the register. The clerk told police the robbers were young men, both well dressed.

Sewickley Veterans Will Hold Roll Call

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.

President Coolidge wants the cruisers voted for during his administration and paid for out of Hoover's budget. Mr. Coolidge is going to have his budget balanced when he goes out, if he has to give out some IOU's.

Senator Borah wants a conference to decide "Your rights on the seas, during a war in which you haven't yet been able to get into." That is just like holding a convention to discuss the rights of innocent bystanders, during a fight between police and bandits.

Yours, WILL.

THE King of Spain has the largest royal palace in Europe. It is called the Escurial, near Madrid, and is so large that it would take four days to go through all the rooms and apartments.

WHO'S GUILTY????

CAN YOU SOLVE THIS DETECTIVE STORY?

The Escape

By Evelyn Johnson and Gretta Palmer

THE elation at police headquarters was an extraordinary tribute to the intelligence of the captured man, and Sergt. McCormick, who had turned the trick, was wreathed in smiles which he hoped showed a becoming diffidence.

"I sure am glad we got that bird after all these months," remarked Sergt. O'Henry. "He's the smoothest burglar that's ever operated in New York."

"Never left a finger-print or had a confederate in five years. And what crimes! Remember the time he robbed a jewelry store on the Avenue and just calmly waited until daylight, got into a porter's uniform, and swept the sidewalk in front of the store? Three patrolmen saw him and didn't let out a squeak. He carried two big cases of silver off by loading them in his own truck and driving away at six in the morning."

"Yes, we were hot on his trail that time. He had to let Austen in on it to borrow the truck from him and Pip Austen's no Jimmie Dale."

"You know," said the Sergeant, hitching up his chair with the air of one who has anecdote of enormous interest to impart, "Austen told me something about this guy. I thought it was a lot of bologney at the time, but now I'm not so sure. He told me that Get-Away Sam used to go to college. Said he'd told him all about it. His people had money, but he always had a hankering to be a burglar, and when he was 17 he went to an engineering school and decided to take a course in burglary."

"DIDN'T know they taught it," said McCormick gruffly. "That explains why we've had so many dudes languishing in the Tombs this year."

"They didn't know they had it, either," said O'Henry. "But he picked out courses that would help him—you know the sort of thing we study in detective school on the receiving end. Well, he studied all kinds of explosives and acids for breaking into safes; he went into the workshop and learned how to forge instruments. And he took some courses in criminology, mind you, so he'd know how to cut burglar alarms and keep out of the way. Sly bird, isn't he? But I guess he's not clever enough for the Greater New York police force, at that."

"Tell us how you caught him, McCormick," said Officer Kendall. "I've still to hear the bloody details."

"Well," said the sergeant, groping for a vest to thumb at this important juncture and regretting its absence. "As soon as I was called in on this case I decided I didn't like the looks of it. It seemed an inside job from the start. Here was this sassiety tea-party. Here was Mr. Swinnerton, the great feenacier, showing off his collection of uncut jewels to about 25 ladies and gents, fixed up fit to smother. He'd just got back from Europe, you see, and couldn't keep his mouth shut about what he'd bought over there. I never knew people really wore spats—I thought it was just a joke, but they had 'em on there, sure enough.

"WELL, in the middle of I guess about the sixth cocktail, the party was going strong and everybody'd earned their liquor by admiring the gems, so they just sort of let the subject peter out. But the cases were still spread out on the living room table. All of a sudden Mrs. Swinnerton went over to look at them and screamed. The big emerald was gone.

"They sent in a call straight off and Wilson and I buzzed over to see what it was about. I'm never one to be too hard on the servants in a place like that, so I took everybody's deposition, democratic-like, with Mrs. Swinnerton apologizing to every guest and telling me she's known them for years before she brings them up.

"Then she had got all around the room, and I saw her look puzzled-like at a young fellow standing there in striped trousers and a tail coat.

"'I'm sorry,' she said, 'I'm afraid I don't remember your name. Who brought you?'

"You know these people entertain folks they've never met just because they're brought.

"Well, he fished out an introduction from some friend in Europe and said he hadn't had a chance to introduce himself before and all that. She seemed taken in, but I wasn't so sure, so I said, 'I guess I'll begin with you.'

"I TOOK him to another room and searched him like I was on the dope squad. I knew he couldn't have nothing the size of a pinhead hidden when I got through. Then I went through the lining of his hat and tried his cane to see if there was anything phoney there, but he seemed regular, so I said, 'Well, I guess you're eliminated. You can go.'

"I was just starting back to the room where all the others was being held by Wilson, and then, just as I was going in, I saw this bird start out taking a big wolf-hound with him.

"'Hey,' I said, 'where are you going with the cur?'

"'Why,' says he, surprised-like, 'this is my dog. He's been here all along. Some of the people in there admired him and a lot of them gave me scraps to feed him.'

"Well, you know the rest of the story and how we got the emerald back. It was Get-Away Sam, all dressed up. I'd never seen him so I didn't know what a prize I'd landed till we got him safely in the station and looked him up. I put him in the jail this afternoon and told 'em to give him a safe cell.

"'They're all safe cells,' says the buddy at the door.

"'Yeah?' says I. 'Well, go the limit with this bird.'"

"Ah," said O'Henry. "The telephone. You'd think people would have the decency not to call up at four in the morning to tell us their neighbors are making too much noise, or have we seen a little white poodle that answers to the name of 'Cutie.'"

THE Sergeant lifted up the receiver nonchalantly. Then he started. "What?" he shouted. "You blasted idiots! I told you to put him in a safe cell. Well, what of it? You guys can lock up your shoplifters and go out and find him."

Then he turned to the men impressively.

"Get-Away has escaped."

It was Sergt. McCormick who was really in danger of a stroke.

The next morning, as soon as their time at the station was over, the forlorn pair from the Tenth Precinct arrived at the prison. Their remarks to the Warden had best be represented by a row of asterisks. They demanded the whole story, and the Warden, with some embarrassment, revealed the facts.

"Last night Sam acted as peaceful and chipper as you please. He joked with the guards and fed them a lot of blarney about how it was a real pleasure to come to jail when he met such fine gentlemen, and they thought he was great. Henderson was on guard last night, walking from one end of the corridor to the other, armed, and with his keys at his waist."

THE Warden hastened on with the story.

"About 10 o'clock Henderson came out and asked for a messenger to go to the corner and get a copy of every paper. He said Get-Away wanted to read the stories about himself. I told him we weren't running any hotel here, but as there didn't seem any harm in the idea I let the boy get the papers and take them to Sam's cell.

"At three-thirty this morning McCoy came on to relieve Henderson. He didn't find him on duty, and thought that was pretty funny, so he flashed his bull's-eye into all the cells. There was a man stretched out quiet on the cot in every cell. He looked around the building for Henderson and finally gave the alarm. When I was called I had all the men wakened and their cells searched. We found that Henderson's body was stretched out on the cot in Get-Away's cell, with the blanket over his head. He had been killed by a blunt instrument a few hours before.

"One of the iron bars on the window had been filed at both ends and wrenched loose. Outside the window we found this."

He held up a strange rope. It was made of tightly twisted newspapers, bound together by cotton cloth.

The sergeants examined it in disgust.

"HE held this contrivance together by the ticking off his mattress. I wouldn't have believed newspapers would support a man, but I had it tested, and they do if they're tightly wound. The rope reaches nicely to the ground. I suppose he had hidden a file somewhere—God knows where, we'd searched him thoroughly. I've thought today it might have been in the soles of his shoes."

"If you'd thought of that yesterday, it might have done some good," muttered McCormick.

"One other thing. The prisoner in the next cell says that just as he was dropping to sleep he heard Sam call the guard to his cell door and ask him to read him something out of one of the papers. Sam said his own eyes weren't good after reading so long."

"Well, it all sounds too simple to fool a country sheriff," said McCormick.

"There's one funny thing, though," said the Warden. "The guard on the outside wall on that side is a good man who never dozes, and he swears he didn't see him come down or go across the yard."

"He didn't see the rope being lowered, did he?"

"No, but he wasn't paid to watch for no rope. And besides, there's mud at the bottom of that rope—soft mud. It had stopped raining about 10. And there isn't a footmark or a sign of pressure in the mud. Even by swinging he couldn't have cleared it all. Now, what does that mean?"

Three nights later one of the prison cooks, whose room was close to the kitchen on the basement floor, heard suspicious sounds in the pantry. He found Get-Away Sam settling down to an impromptu banquet out of the ice-chest.

Solution of Yesterday's Mystery Story: "The Crawley Robbery"

TOMMY GALLAGHER was in luck when he picked up his unpromising fares, and he did not miss the reference to the emeralds. He also heard Mrs. Crawley intimate that the only telephone was downstairs, which suggested a plan by which he might decoy her from the neighborhood of the jewels. After pocketing his tip, Tommy hurried back to seek Patrick and the loan of his uniform. He returned to the Crawley home dressed like an officer of the law, and was delighted to see a ladder leaning against the house. This he placed against the window as a realistic touch, walking across the lawn to the street. His foot-steps on this occasion, were not, of course, those of a man running away from capture. According to plan, Tommy then crossed the street to a drug store and telephoned the Crawley home, asking for Mrs. Crawley. When he was sure she had been called, he crossed the street, rang the bell, told the startled Mr. Crawley his tale of the second-story man, and hurried upstairs alone. He had ample time to secure the emeralds and carry them out of the house past the unprotesting owners.

Try to Solve Mystery; Prize Story on Saturday

HERE'S the BIG IDEA! Each day the Sun-Telegraph will print a mystery story. Each story has a plausible and more or less exact solution which may be worked out from the situations and clues in the story. The authors have written a correct solution to each mystery. Readers of the Sun-Telegraph who pride themselves on their analytical sense or detective ability should figure out their own solutions and match them with the correct solutions which will be printed on the day following the publication of each baffling mystery.

On SATURDAY in the Saturday editions of the Sun-Telegraph there will be printed an original story by the same authors, the solution of which is in a sealed envelope. The person or persons who solve or come closest to correctly solving the Saturday, or PRIZE STORY, will receive cash prizes as follows:

FIRST PRIZE.....$10
Three Prizes of $5 EACH for the next three.

Contestants for the PRIZE STORY AWARD will have from Saturday morning, the first publication of the PRIZE story, until the following THURSDAY night at 6 o'clock, to send in their solutions. Letters postmarked after that time cannot be accepted, as judges must be able to render their decision on the prize winners in time to make the following Saturday's editions, when the correct solution of the first PRIZE story is printed with a second PRIZE story for you folks to tackle. In giving your solutions you must write several lines telling why you reached your conclusions and justifying your deductions. The decision of the judges is final and without appeal. Put on your disguise and tin badge and see what happened in the mystery printed today. Prizes will be paid only on the Saturday Prize stories.

NANCY DEANE By Roy L. Foley

Wescott Persuades Nancy To Leave Ginger and Live by Herself

CHAPTER XXII.

IF Mrs. Garmondy ever got an eyeful from behind her front parlor lace curtains it was late that afternoon when Howard Wescott drove up in front of The Carmondy in his sporty roadster, and Jerry Durant followed so closely in his that Howard hadn't time to alight before Jerry was calling "Hello."

Jerry knew Howard very slightly, but Jerry was the kind of person who was hail-fellow-well-met, willing to take anybody up at a moment's notice. Things were easy come and easy go with Jerry. He always seemed to have a new job, yet he always seemed to have money, too.

Nancy had heard him speak of his "clients," and concluded that he sold bonds, but bond selling was the farthest thing from Jerry's activities.

Both jumped out of their cars at the same time, but Wescott was the first up the steps. He rang the bell and before Jerry could make it clear that this was an unnecessary procedure at The Carmondy, Mrs. Carmondy, herself, was at the door. It probably was the quickest move she had made in months. She was determined to get a close-up of Howard Wescott.

There were few people of prominence, socially or otherwise, Cornelia Carmondy didn't know, at least by sight. Though she was fat, frowsy and fifty, Mrs. Carmondy had an eye for the men and she loved to waylay the beaux as they came and went from her domicile. She would stop them in the hall, or on the stairs, and under the guise of being rough and blunt, her poor, romantic heart was fluttering as though she were 18.

"Come right in, boys," she said, bowing elaborately, "the gur-r-rls are expecting you."

The two men entered on her invitation and started up the long old stair with its walnut bannister, long worn smooth with the countless thousands of hands that had slipped over it.

Nancy heard the talking in the hall below and suspected just what had happened. She had told Wescott she would be ready exactly at 4, and all he needed to do was to blow his horn and she would come down. She did not want him to come into The Carmondy.

Nancy was no snob, but she knew Wescott would be shocked by the dinginess of the rooming house. However, he wasn't used to blowing the horn of his automobile in front of houses. He knew Nancy would have a suitcase and he intended to carry it to the car for her.

The two men were well up toward the second floor when Nancy bounded down from the floor above.

"Mr. Wescott! Jerry! Please wait. Ginger and I will be ready in a minute. Would you just as soon wait in your cars?"

Wescott said: "Certainly, certainly. I'm sorry. The landlady told us to come right up."

He started to descend.

"Say, since when have you gotten so Ritzy," Jerry spoke up, "you talk as though you never let anyone come up to your room before. Come on, Wescott, she's just trying to give us the high hat."

Nancy had no answer. She could not deny that Jerry and some of his companions had been in her room, but they had come on Ginger's invitation, not hers. And Vic, of course, though he said he came to see Nancy, Nancy had never actually invited him in.

Like Jerry, he took possession of the premises. A picture of the room flashed through her mind as Howard Wescott stood on the stairs, undetermined whether to go up or down.

Nancy wouldn't have wanted her best friend to see the room, much less a stranger. Ginger's clothing was lying everywhere. The dresser was a confusion of spilled powder, burnt matches. The bed was unmade.

"Come on, Wescott," Jerry repeated, pulling the half reluctant Howard up the stairs, "Nancy thinks you'll be shocked if you see her bed isn't made, or maybe a teddy bear peeking out of the closet."

Jerry laughed loudly. Nancy could have screamed. She wanted to beat her fists against him. She turned to Wescott.

"You can come upstairs if you want to. What Jerry says is not true."

"How about your luggage?" Jerry asked. "I know how much junk Ginger always takes on her trips. Say, by the time Wescott and I are through carting it out we'll be fit to join the Trunk Movers' Union."

He took Wescott by the arm again and half yanked him up the second flight. Ginger, hearing the commotion, leaned over the top bannister. She had heard the last part of the conversation, just enough to know there was some hesitation on the part of Wescott.

"Sure, come on up, Mr. Wescott," she said with honey in her voice. "The room looks a perfect fright, but I know you won't mind. You see we've been just rushed to death and I haven't had a minute to do a thing."

Oh, what an actress Ginger was. Nancy groaned. She thought of Ginger's warning to stay away from "that big bum" and she remembered how she had hold her Wescott "took what he wanted."

Now she was actually cooing at him. The two men were at the top of the stairs before Nancy had moved from the second landing.

"Nancy, dear, what are you standing there for?"

Ginger leaned down, and then turned to Wescott. "Look at her day dreamin' down there. An' we wanted to get started early. Isn't she the funny kid, though?"

She said this while Wescott couldn't see her face. But Nancy, looking up at her, could, and Nancy saw, too, that her expression had little relation to her honeyed words.

"Go right in, boys," she said sweetly.

When they had entered, she half ran down the stairs and whispered impatiently:

"For cryin' out loud, what you tryin' to do? Say, if you want to get anything out of this guy Wescott you've got to be sweet to him. Maybe you don't trust him. That's all right, but don't let him suspect it. Treat him right, but just don't let him go too far, that's all. Use your head, but don't be an icicle."

What a girl, Ginger! After living with her this long, Nancy was still unable to fathom her. She was the most contradictory person in the world. She could be hard one minute and soft the next.

She was crafty, certainly, and knew how to play cards, especially as far as men were concerned, but Nancy was too new to this game of card playing to keep pace with her.

Without answering, Nancy ran up the stairs and into the room. The two men, both large, seemed to fill it. They could not sit down because there was no place to sit. Every chair and box was strewn with clothes, shoes, coats. The coffee percolator was half tipping off a magazine rack used by Ginger as a catch-all.

Her curling iron, dropped hastily, had started to burn into the wood of her dressing table, and the smell of scorched varnish, along with the highly scented talcums and toilet waters, was overpowering.

"My bag is all ready. It's over there, Mr. Wescott. Please take it. I'll be right down."

She wanted to get him out of that room as soon as possible. He picked up her suitcase, and a shoe bag, given her by Ziegelbaum, to carry a pair of silver slippers she was to wear with "The Debutante." She fairly pushed him before her, and as she was going downstairs she heard Ginger say:

"Can you beat it? Can you beat the snootiness of that?"

Nancy prayed that Wescott didn't hear. He probably didn't. At least he didn't give the slightest indication that he had. Once they were in the car, Nancy said:

"You can start right away, Mr. Wescott. I don't think we need wait for the others."

She said the words, quietly, calmly, trying to give no indication of what was going on inside her. She tried to be casual when her cheeks were burning with shame, when she felt like bursting into tears.

What would he think of her? How would he judge her? Why hadn't she gotten a room of her own after she received her first week's pay, instead of heeding Ginger's advice to stay on so that they could split the rent.

"You can save money," Ginger had said.

Saving money on $18 a week was pretty much of a problem for a girl alone in a city. Nancy knew. The idea appealed to her. If she could save $2 a week on her room rent by staying with somebody, that meant just $2 a week more she could send home to Mud and Darry. Though she had already earned one week's pay, Nancy was planning to buy some new things for the Maple avenue cottage.

Howard Wescott stepped on the starter and swung his car into the street. He didn't speak until they were well through the downtown district and heading out of the city.

"Seems to me you live in rather crowded quarters, don't you?" he said.

Nancy knew this was coming. She just knew that he wasn't going to drive on without mentioning her mode of living. And long before he spoke she had her pride up, ready for any comment he might make. She had decided that she would apologize for nothing. She hated excuse makers.

"Yes, it did seem somewhat crowded today, but that's because we were in such a hurry. Everything was in such confusion," she said.

"Do you like to live with someone, like that?"

"No, it isn't my choice, and I don't intend to stay there always. But I do want to save some money. It's cheaper if two people divide the room rent."

Her voice was surer now.

She wasn't going to be ashamed for anything. Again she was taking Mrs. O'Day's advice not to be ashamed of anything so long as she was true and honest with her own conscience.

"Oh, that's it. You want to save money?" Westcott answered, "well, in that case, I think we can arrange to adjust your salary a little. What do you say?—I'll raise your pay whatever amount it is that you save on room rent by living with Miss Yarden. Don't misunderstand me. I'm not objecting to Miss Yarden. But I'd rather see you living alone. I think you would be happier."

Nancy knew that Howard Wescott had taken in the whole situation just as it occurred at The Carmondy. He had sensed why she had not wanted him to come up to the third floor. She smiled at her hope of deceiving him. Why, he was a man of the world, and he probably could read her and every other girl like a book. If he knew she didn't want him to come up, why had he done so? He could have declined and waited at the car. Nancy suspected that he had deliberately let Jerry pull him into the room, and that it wasn't Ginger's honeyed words alone that made him go up the stairs.

Wescott remained silent for the space of a few miles. His big car was nothing less than a dream, comfortable, luxurious, yet Nancy wasn't enjoying it. She was too troubled over what he had just said, what he had so lately seen.

"By the way," he said finally, "There are innumerable small places you could rent in a very nice section of town. Wouldn't you really rather live in a little place of your own?"

"Oh, yes. I know of some ducky kitchenette apartments I should love to have," she answered. "Ginger and I looked at some the other night, but they all seemed so expensive. Ginger was willing to take one. She said she would pay three-quarters of the rent until I got through school and could earn more. But I wouldn't consent to that."

Howard Wescott seemed to be thinking over what she said. Again he lapsed into silence, and again he spoke suddenly, jerking Nancy out of her dream of providing the Maple avenue cottage with a brand new rug and new kitchen range.

"I'll tell you what I'll do," he said. "I'll pay you enough so that you will not have to live in a chucked-up room like that. You'd better try to get one of those small apartments. Some of those kitchenette affairs are roomier than you think. Anyhow they would be lots more comfortable than the place you are living in. You'll be through your stenographic course in a few months and will be worth the extra pay anyhow. I'd like to see you comfortably settled."

Nancy's imagination was running ahead of the words she was hearing.

Before Howard Wescott was through speaking she saw herself in one of the "ducky" little apartments, but she wasn't there alone.

Mud and Darry were there and they were looking into the ice box that never had to have ice put into it, that was a marvelous maze of frosty pipes that were always cold; they were holding up their hands in surprise at the luxury of the white tile bath with its silver faucets that poured forth steaming hot water or icy cold water, at the incinerator that ate up the waste, with never a bit of muss or extra work.

It appeared that so many nice things were happening to her lately that she could just explode with happiness.

"Mr. Wescott—could you do that? Would you? If you'll only pay me enough to do that, I'll work like a beaver until I've mastered the shorthand and typewriting, and then when I'm really worth something in your office, I'll pay it back. Ten or twenty dollars a month, or whatever you want."

That struck Howard Wescott funny—a golden headed little girl, just on the verge of nineteen, "working like a beaver" so that she might pay him back.

"You bet, anything you say," was what he told her.

She snuggled down into the robes, slipped her arm through his, and let her imagination run riot again. She would write home to Mud and Darry tomorrow and she would tell them to start getting rid of their old furniture, that she had new plans for them. She would tell them about the ice box that was freezing cold, that never needed ice.

Howard Wescott was thinking too, only there was no Mud or no Darry in his plans.

MIAMI FOLK PLAY BRIDGE, SERVE TEA, ONE MILE UP

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Mr. and Mrs. James N. Gilman, of Miami, entertained at bridge yesterday—one mile above Miami. The Gilmans and six guests took off at noon in a tri-motored transport plane and soared over Miami at 5,000 feet altitude as they dealt the cards and made their bids.

Tea was served to the two tables as the big plane circled lazily over the city and the surrounding country.

The Gilmans and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Allen, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. William McKenna, of Boston, and Mr. and Mrs. James Platt, of Dayton, O., boarded the place at the Venetian causeway at noon and as the big plane took off and steadily gained altitude the eight bridge players began their game.

Two specially constructed tables were placed in the cabin of the plane for the players. Captain O. M. Goodsell piloted the tea party.

Pupils Pledged To Never Mar Anything

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Jan. 31.—As a means toward helping eliminate wanton destruction of lawns and other property by boys, the local schools have made the taking of a new pledge a part of the morning exercises. The boys pledge themselves not to injure any tree, shrub or lawn or mark fences, poles or sidewalks. They also promise to keep their back yards as neat as their front yards.

Bryan's Son Marries California Divorcee

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—William Jennings Bryan, Jr., and Mrs. Ellen Bent Balinger were married here yesterday and left shortly afterward by automobile on a three-weeks' honeymoon. Mr. Bryan, who is aged 39, and the father of three daughters, was divorced two years ago. Mrs. Bryan, two years younger than her husband, was divorced eight years ago and has one son.

Senate Increases Agriculture Fund

WASHINGTON, Jan., 31.—(AP)—The Senate yesterday passed the bill carrying a total of $145,792,541 for the activities of the Department of Agriculture for the next fiscal year.

The Senate added $2,384,494 over the amount approved by the House. The differences in the bill must be adjusted in conference before the measure can go to the President.

Rum Plant Seized In Harrisburg Raid

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Efforts of prohibition enforcement officers to carry out their announced intention of drying up Dauphin County were evidenced here last night when federal agents and state police raided an alleged alcohol "cutting factory" in Market street. Liquor valued at $5,000, a large supply of labels, 2,000 bottles and flavoring extracts were seized.

. . . HANDS UP!

DO THEY LOOK OLD?

NO more prematurely old hands! Never need your hands be red, roughened or coarsened again. Busy as they may be, they can be perfectly protected with a marvelous new kind of massage cream which is guaranteed to keep them soft and white and supple.

THINC Hand Creme (pronounced "think"), is entirely new—not a cold cream, vanishing cream or lotion. It is especially designed to protect your hands, to preserve their precious, youthful beauty.

Try this two-minute test: rub a tiny bit of THINC on one hand. See how it instantly whitens the skin, smoothes away every bit of roughness and soothes tiny cracks without making your hand the least bit greasy! Now compare the two hands. The difference is astonishing. Massage the cream into both hands—it makes them as cool and smooth and white as alabaster. No roughness, no discoloration. You might have been folding them demurely in your lap, so little do they show the signs of use.

If one treatment can work such wonders, think what consistent use of THINC Hand Creme will do for your hands! Your charming, youthful hands can be a source of pride.

Make THINC a daily beauty habit—a youth habit. You can get it at any drug store, toilet counter or beauty shop. Approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. It won't cost a penny if you are not delighted with it. Return the jar and your money will be refunded.

This is the THINC trade mark that you will find on every package of THINC Hand Creme.

"My children despise eggs, yet they ought to have them"

Delight them with this sugar, vanilla and milk egg-nog!

There are many adults also who do not like the taste of eggs. Not only that, but many people, both children and adults, who do like eggs tire of them rather quickly.

Here is a very simple recipe for an egg-nog so delicious that it will satisfy everybody and it is almost impossible to taste egg in it.

Beat the yolk separately and blend in two teaspoons of sugar, then add half a pint of milk and whip in the beaten egg white; add ⅛ teaspoon of vanilla and beat until frothy. This delicious blend may be varied by adding a tablespoon of chocolate syrup, or a spoonful of ice cream.

This tasteful drink encourages an appetite for eggs and milk, both of which are such beneficial foods for children and adults. As every mother knows, it is absolutely necessary that her children have milk, and it is very important that they have eggs.

Note what a little sugar does for taste. Sugar is nature's ideal flavor. Sugar is not only nutriment in its most inexpensive form—it adds zest and enjoyment to nearly every healthful food that is known. There is no substitute for sugar in the daily diet. The Sugar Institute.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

February Looms Rather Bleak as Month of Social Events

FEBRUARY looms before us with a rather appalling blankness, doesn't it? Aside from the few interesting affairs set for the first few days of the month, there is nothing that could possibly act as a deterrent to those Florida-minded folks who are eager to get away from the city. And the fact that Lent begins a little earlier than usual this year—Ash Wednesday falls on February 13, you know—doesn't make the social prospect any brighter. The six weeks that follow Ash Wednesday are excellent for the spirit, but just a bit hard on the society column.

A good many local people, of course, already have forsaken our wind-chilled streets. The Thomas Richard Cowells are among them, having taken a cottage on Chilean avenue, Palm Beach, for the season. They entertained, I hear, on Sunday evening at the Everglades Club, having Mr. and Mrs. Prevost Boyce and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Curtis for their guests. Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Morrow are at Palm Beach, too, for an indefinite stay, putting up at the Breakers. On the very day she arrived at the Beach, Mrs. Morrow entertained a party of eight at luncheon, and, I understand, she plans a number of other parties during her stay there.

* * *

EVERYONE who is away, though, isn't necessarily in the South. Gotham continues to attract members of our social group, and among those who have been spending some time there are Mrs. Morgan B. Schiller and Mrs. William B. Schiller, who have been staying at the Ambassador. Mrs. J. B. Laughlin, of Devonshire street, is also there for a short visit, making her headquarters at the Barclay.

Virginia Kuhn is away just now, too. Virginia is the younger daughter of the William Rittenhouse Kuhns, of Roslyn place, you know, and she left the latter part of last week to spend about 10 days with Mary Seidel, of Reading, who was her roommate at Briarcliff. Later, I understand, she will go on to New York to spend a few days with her sister, Elizabeth, who is living there now.

The Harry Darlingtons are also among the travelers, and their son, Harry, Jr., is with them. They are sailing on the Columbus for a West Indian cruise, I understand, and later they will spend several weeks in Pasadena, Cal.

* * *

WE mustn't forget about the debutantes, though, in the midst of all this traveling. Just yesterday there was a small party in the Twentieth Century Club for one of the buds, Mary Margaret Marshall. Mrs. H. P. Davis, of Wallingford street, was hostess at the luncheon, which was chaperoned by Mary's mother, Mrs. Charles D. Marshall, of Fifth avenue. There were eight guests and they were seated at a table decorated with spring flowers. After luncheon, they all went to the Nixon to see "The Three Musketeers."

Speaking of Mary Marshall, I hear that her younger sister, Jane, will be a debutante during the season after next.

* * *

AND still on the subject of debutantes, you will be interested to know that a former local girl who will be a bud next winter is to be entertained here. This is Mary C. Black, daughter of John L. Black, and she is at school in Florence, Italy, just now. Mary's aunt, Mrs. Frank N. Black, is planning to give a ball for her in the Pittsburgh Golf Club next season, the date chosen being December 16.

* * *

AN informal party scheduled for next week is the tea which Mrs. John Robinson McCune, her son's wife, Mrs. John Robinson McCune, Jr., and daughter, Miss Mary McCune, will give on Tuesday afternoon in the senior Mrs. McCune's home at Fifth and College avenues. The hours are from 4 to 6 o'clock.

* * *

MISS ELEANOR LOUISE NEVINS, daughter of Mrs. Louise H. Nevins, of Reynolds street, has chosen February 19 as the date for her marriage to Howard Milton Silver, of Cleveland. The ceremony will be performed that night in the Hotel Schenley.

* * *

THE University of Pittsburgh Faculty Club will hold an informal dance and bridge party tomorrow night at the clubhouse. A dinner will precede the affair. Jules LaBarthe, Jr., is chairman, assisted by P. M. Snyder, Prentice Dean and A. H. Armbruster.

* * *

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the engagement of Miss Leah Garland McKahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. McKahan, of Waynesburg, to Edward Vernon Carothers, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Carothers, of Crafton. Miss McKahan is a graduate of Waynesburg College and a member of the Junior League there, and Mr. Carothers is a University of Pittsburgh man. Announcement of the engagement was made at a luncheon given in the Fort Jackson Hotel, Waynesburg, by Miss Mary Sanford McKahan, sister of the prospective bride.

* * *

MEMBERS of Decade VI of the Pennsylvania College for Women Alumnae Association will be entertained at bridge Saturday afternoon at Stoney Corners. Mrs. Bryce McQuiston is in charge, assisted by Mrs. Everett L. Kibler, Mrs. Howard M. Schmeltz, Jr., Mrs. Howard M. Wilson, Miss Clara Colteryahn and Miss Margaret Cousley.

* * *

MRS. O. A. MACCHIAROLI has been named chairman for the card party to be held Monday night, February 11, at the Help of Christians Church, Meadow street, for the benefit of the church.

* * *

THE Immaculate Conception Beneficial Society will hold a card party Saturday afternoon in Oppenheim - Collins' auditorium. Euchre, old maid, "500" and bridge will be played. Miss Catherine Flynn is president of the society.

* * *

THE Alumnae Association of St. John's School of Nursing will hold a card party Tuesday night following the monthly meeting.

Carrick Mothers Honor President

THE snug little home of the Carrick Mothers' Club was crowded to capacity yesterday when the members and their guests gathered to do honor to the president, Mrs. John Robson. Mrs. Robson, who was elected first vice president, became president upon the death of Mrs. George L. Gearing. There was orchestral music during the receiving hours, but the only program feature was a recital of beautifully sung contralto solos by Mrs. Anne Hagmaier Woestehoff, with Mrs. Ruth G. Belsmeyer accompanying. Mrs. John M. Phillips, founder and honorary president of the club, introduced Mrs. Robson and received with her and the other officers. During the tea hour Mrs. Robson called on the several visiting presidents for greetings.

"THE ROUND TABLE," the latest work by Lennox Robinson of Dublin has been chosen as the play which the drama department of Carnegie Institute of Technology will give for the Pittsburgh Drama League on Thursday evening, February 7. The invitation has been extended to the league through the courtesy of Chester M. Wallace, of Carnegie Tech, a member of the League, and will be part of the organization's celebration of Drama Week. Lennox Robinson, author of the play, has also written "The Whiteheaded Boy," "Harvest," "Patriots," and other plays. Mrs. Joseph Kunkel is looking after the distribution of tickets among the League members.

THE Fourteenth Ward League of Women Voters will give a dinner at the Morrowfield Hotel Monday evening. The speakers for the evening will be Dr. George St. John Perrott, of the Bureau of Mines, whose subject will be "Coal, the Modern Aladdin Lamp," and Stephen Q. Hayes, who will give an illustrated talk on South America. Reservations are being made through Mrs. Frank A. Bond, program chairman.

* * *

MISS BIRGET NISSEN, of Jar, Oslo, Norway, who was on the editorial staff of "The Norges Koinder," a newspaper published in Oslo, and who is now doing research work in the department of higher education at the University of Pittsburgh, will be the guest of the Women's Press Club Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Woman's City Club rooms, William Penn Hotel. She will discuss Norwegian journalism. A tea will follow.

* * *

THE Colfax Parent-Teachers' Association will have its next meeting on Tuesday evening, with Mrs. H. S. Daly as leader. Dr. Gary C. Myers' "Problem Parents" and current articles will be discussed by Mrs. K. R. Cunningham, Mrs. B. Lassman and E. A. Owens. "Your Growing Child," by H. A. Bruce, will be reviewed by Mrs. J. H. Dice, the musical program will be given by Mrs. T. D. Mylrea, and a social hour will follow.

* * *

AT the February meeting of Hadassah Chapter of Pittsburgh next Wednesday, Mrs. Lew Davis, chairman of program, will present a program entirely Yiddish in character. This will consist of violin solos by Miss Della Herring and songs and readings from Yiddish folk writers by Saul Ashkensky. During the social hour, which will follow the program, Mrs. S. I. Lebeau will preside at the tea table.

* * *

ON Saturday afternoon at the Council House, Mrs. Thomas P. Horan, president of Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women, will entertain the membership drive captains and helpers at cards. Preceding the games there will be a short business session for reports.

* * *

H. R. MELLOR, of the Smoke Abatement League, will address the Women's Community Association of the Twenty-seventh Ward at its meeting on Monday evening in the John Morrow School. The social hour will be in charge of Miss Nancy Bricker and Miss Marie Saul.

* * *

THE next in the series of card parties being given by the Young Ladies' Relief Society will be held Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. David Hill, Hobart street. Assistant hostesses include Miss Ann Myers, Miss Jean Simons and Miss Frances Raphael.

Movie Fans Must Pay for Stars' Photos

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Movie fans no longer will get autographed photographs of their film favorites free of charge. The Association of Motion Picture Producers ruled at a meeting yesterday that, hereafter, the deluge of fan mail would be checked by answering requests for the coveted photographs with a card suggesting that a nominal price be sent to pay for the picture.

The ever mounting cost, which was declared to have grown into a tremendous item for the movie studios and their stars, was given as the reason for the economy edict.

Pitt Teacher Ends Course Over Radio

What is said to be the first complete university course ever given over the radio was ended last night when Dr. Robert T. Hance, head of the zoology department of the University of Pittsburgh, summarized a series of talks which he has given from the University of Pittsburgh studio of KDKA on "The Machines We Are." The series of 23 lectures which he gave constitute a complete semester's course for freshmen in zoology at the university.

Three High Schools Graduate 319 Pupils

Three high school graduations were held last night, 319 pupils receiving diplomas. Schenley High School with the largest class, 173 pupils, held exercises in the Soldiers' Memorial Hall. Fifth Avenue graduated 84 pupils at exercises in Carnegie Music Hall. Oliver High School held exercises in the school auditorium, 62 seniors being given diplomas.

W. & J. ALUMNI TO FETE BAKER

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 31.—President S. S. Baker, of Washington and Jefferson College, will be the guest of the Western Pennsylvania Alumni Association of the school at a banquet in the William Penn Hotel, Pittsburgh, on the night of March 1.

It will be known as "President's Night" with Dr. Baker as the principal speaker. Members of the board of trustees will be invited to attend as guests as well as members of the 'varsity football squad.

Charles H. Miller, of Pittsburgh, president of the Western Pennsylvania Alumni Association, has named A. J. Williams, of Dormont, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Miami Awaits Lindy For Panama Flight

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Col. Charles Lindbergh, who is to pilot the first air mail plane from Miami to Panama on February 4 in an extension of the international air communication routes that have their hub here, will arrive in Miami by airplane Saturday.

Officials of Pan-American Airways, Inc., for which company Lindbergh is technical adviser, said he will leave New York tomorrow.

Young and Morgan Pay Coolidge Visit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Owen D. Young and J. P. Morgan, who are to serve as American unofficial representatives at the coming reparations conference, conferred with President Coolidge for more than an hour yesterday at the White House.

Afterwards the two called upon Secretary Kellogg at the State Department, and later it was said they were sailing for Europe Saturday and had dropped in to pay their respects before departing.

FOR A GOOD CUP OF COFFEE: Don't waste its fine aroma by letting coffee percolate too rapidly or too long. And have the pot very clean. Nothing so spoils the exquisite enjoyment you get from Maxwell House Coffee as a few stale grounds or the residue left in a pot which has not been scrubbed with soap and water and thoroughly rinsed in hot water.

"GOOD TO THE LAST DROP"

created by patient, expert

BLENDING

BECAUSE coffee is so important, every household has its favorite way of making it. But whether your coffee is percolated, dripped, or boiled in an old-fashioned pot, one thing is above all necessary—the coffee itself must be right to start with.

The creator of the matchless, mellow flavor of Maxwell House Coffee went back to this first principle.

He was a gentleman of the Old South—bred in the South's tradition of good living—and he knew coffee. He had tried them all—the "heady" coffees of Arabia, the mild coffees of Java, the rich and syrupy coffees of Brazil—and every one was tantalizingly not quite perfect. So he had the inspiration to make a new coffee flavor—to combine in one gorgeous drink the diverse virtues of many choice coffees. After months of experimenting, at last his genius triumphed in a coffee which delighted even his critical palate.

It got its first acclaim at the famous old Maxwell House in Nashville. Thence news spread abroad of the unique sparkle and flavor of Maxwell House Coffee until today it is in demand all over the United States.

"The Old Colonel," as he is known to his friends, has lived to see the coffee he perfected become his country's favorite—the choice of America's most prominent hostesses, the fine coffee served in America's foremost homes from one coast to the other.

Your own grocer has Maxwell House Coffee, sealed in tin to preserve all its fragrance and flavor.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Love's Price-Tag

MARRIAGE is not guaranteed to make a woman perfectly happy —it is only guaranteed to make her less UNHAPPY than any of its substitutes.

* * *

Prescription for keeping love alive and healthy: Put a grain of sugar into everything you say to a man—and take a grain of salt with everything he says to you.

* * *

The worst shock that a woman receives in this life is the discovery that even love's young dream has a price-tag attached to it.

HELEN ROWLAND

* * *

After a woman has lain awake half the night in order to be able to call her husband in time to catch his train, it's rather hard to be hated for it, just like an alarm clock.

* * *

A man's life is robbed of one of its greatest kicks by that skeptical look in his wife's eyes when he complains of the way the women in the office pursue him.

* * *

It's awfully hard for a woman to believe that the man she has nursed through his colds and jollied through his grouches could be some other woman's Prince Charming.

* * *

Life always holds some new excitement!

"Ghosting" for wives who are spending their winters in Florida might be listed among the new avocations of the modern business girl. Thus, altruism often leads to alimony!

FROM time to time one of my readers begs for an article on some particular subject. I try to respond to every such appeal, but there are so many things to talk about that it isn't easy to cover all the ailments.

DR. COPELAND

As a matter of fact, I am not interested in diseases nearly as much as I am in such modes of living as will prevent the development of diseases. To live such a life that you can snap your finger at disease, is much better and wiser than to spend a lifetime in getting rid of an ailment.

There are many disorders of the body. When one of them appears it is natural for the patient and his friends to ask a lot of questions. They are eager to know all about the nature of the particular ailment. In the presence of the family doctor the patient and family may be timid or forgetful. After the physician has hurried on to his next charge, all unite in expressing regret that they forgot to ask questions.

Knowledge of the common diseases and much about the human ailments, too, should be included in the education of the masses. Knowledge is power, it is said, and I am confident knowledge of the causes and nature of disease is an incentive to its avoidance.

But I started to tell you about a certain disease of the nervous system. This is known to the doctors as "sclerosis" or "multiple sclerosis."

That you may understand it, I must tell you something about how the brain and spinal cord are made. They are constructed of soft and tender material. This substance is held in place by a firmer supporting tissue, called the "neuroglia." My scientific friends will laugh at the comparison I am about to make, but it will serve a useful purpose if it makes clear to the lay mind the underlying changes which take place in certain diseases of the brain and spinal cord.

The neuroglia may be likened to the waxy cells of the comb which enclose and contain the honey. If the cell walls should thicken materially, the cells would be restricted, the cell space would be lessened and of course this would reduce the quantity of honey it could hold.

In sclerosis, in which there is hardening of the nerve tissue, the neuroglia is so increased that the brain and nerve cells are squeezed and hardened. In consequence, the nerves which arise in these particular cells are rendered more or less useless.

In multiple or disseminated sclerosis, this condition is found here or there, in more than one spot. There are patches scattered throughout the brain and nervous system.

Just what will happen to the victim depends on what part or parts of the nervous system may be involved. The sight, speech, muscles, power to walk, and the various special senses may be affected. Twitching of the eyeballs is a common symptom.

The disease is not inherited, although several members of the same family may be subject to the same exciting cause and in consequence may suffer alike. Scarlet fever and other infectious diseases, as well as injuries to the brain and cord may be causes.

It is an obstinate and chronic disease. Its development is very slow.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

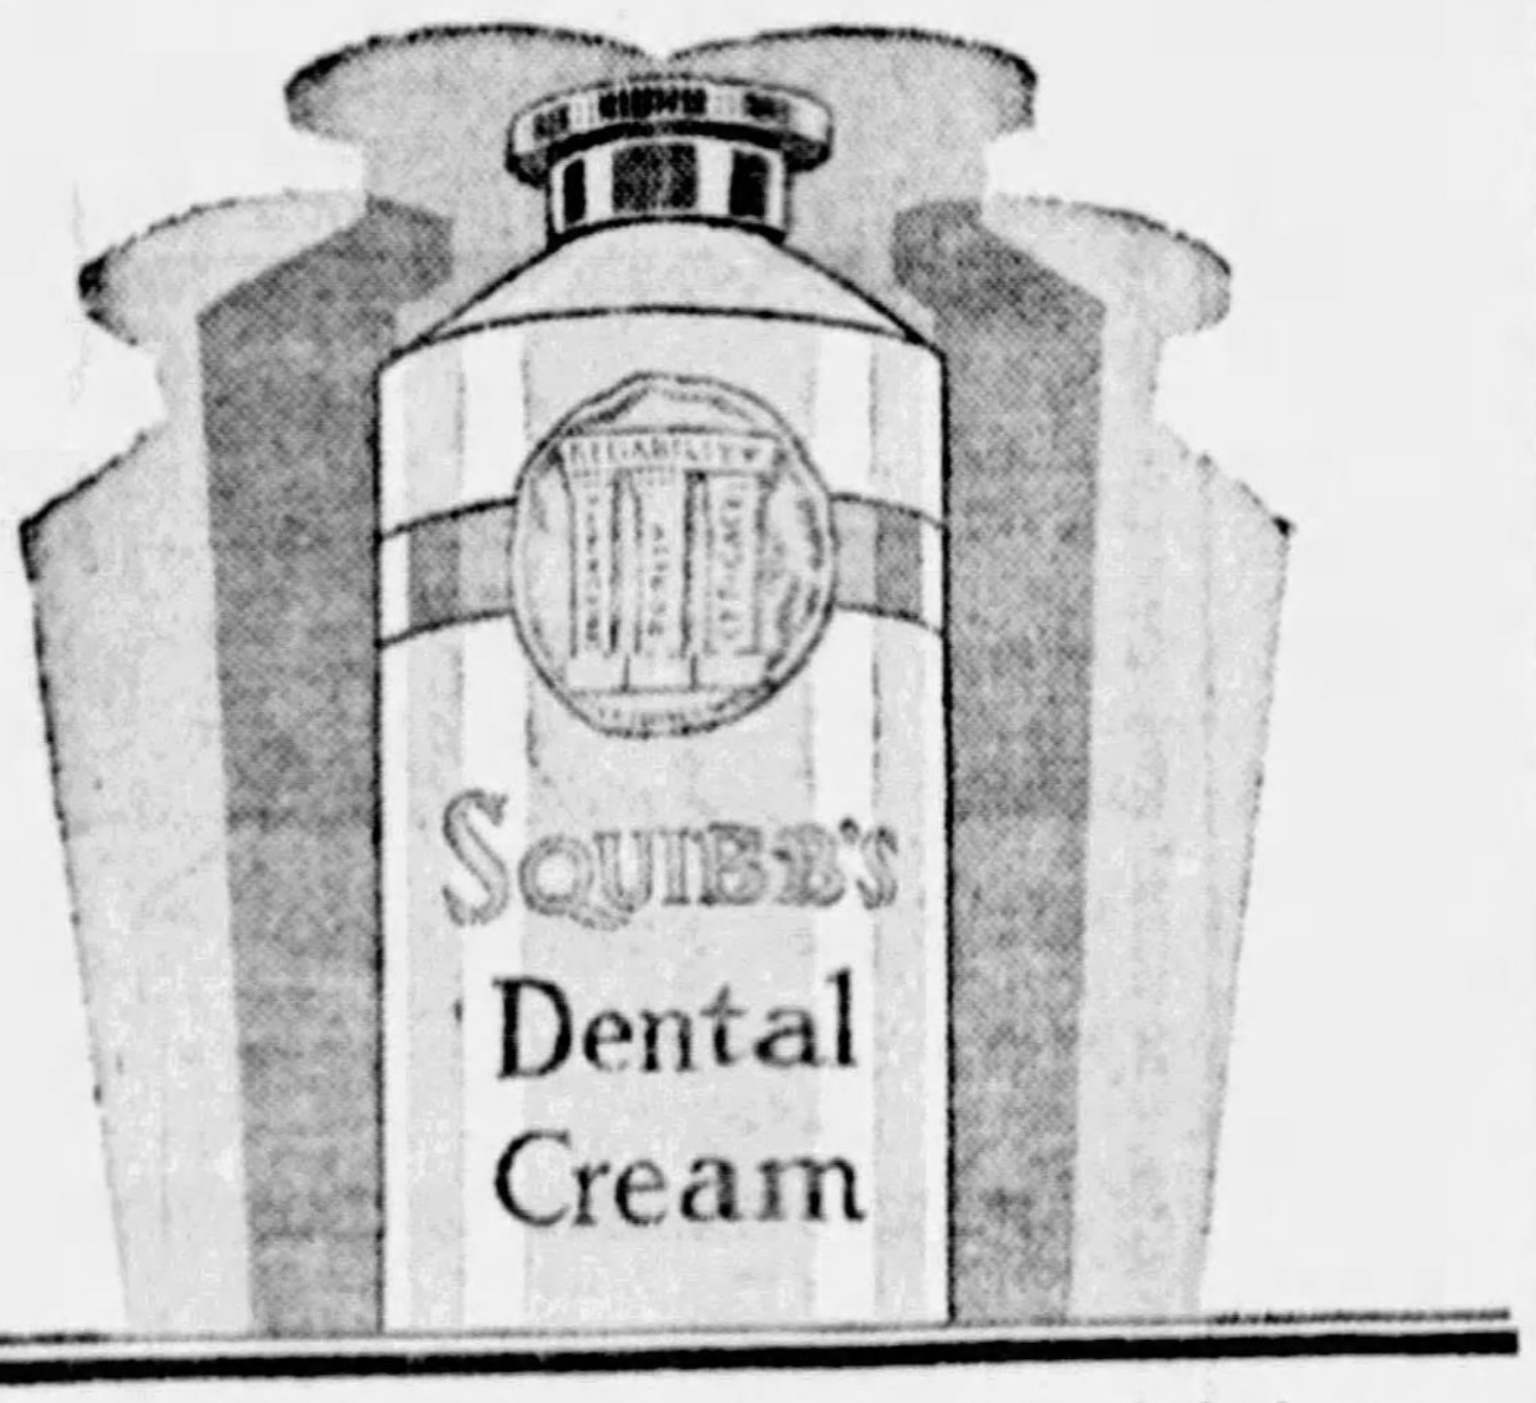
Friday, February 1

THE astral influences for this day may not be considered as propitious. There are several forces at work to thwart and obstruct as well as to cause complexity and depression. Those in the employment of others are in particular danger of disagreement or inharmony and should safeguard their positions. Tongue and temper should be kept under firm control, and irritability should not be allowed to enter the home or the personal relations.

Those whose birthday it is may reconcile themselves to a year of more or less stagnation, with some delays and obstacles. They should be particularly careful to safeguard their employment and to maintain harmony in their personal relations and in the home.

A child born on this day should be equipped to surmount difficulties and inharmonies in life, as it may have a contradictory nature, subject to fluctuating conditions and qualities.

I am not now in Fortune's power; he that is down can fall no lower.—Butler.



HERE is the way most tooth decay and gum irritations begin. Particles of food lodge in the tiny V-shaped crevices at The Danger Line—the line where teeth and gums meet. These ferment. Acids are formed, causing decay and often gum irritations.

You can prevent this by using Squibb's Dental Cream, made with Squibb's Milk of Magnesia—the safe, scientific means of counteracting the acids which attack the teeth and gums. Squibb's Dental Cream protects you from the threat of acids, keeps the teeth beautifully clean and lustrous and preserves healthy gums. At all drug stores, 40c a large tube.

'THE THINKER'S' 'Fine Thoughts Are Wealth'

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

DO I LOVE HIM?
DOES HE LOVE ME?
HOW CAN I STRETCH FIVE DOLLARS INTO TWENTY-FIVE?
HOW CAN I HELP MY BABY TO BE A GREAT MAN?
HOW CAN I BE FAMOUS—QUICKLY!
MONEY OR LOVE?
WHICH OF MY FIFTY PAIRS OF SILK STOCKINGS SHALL I WEAR?

THAT'S a fine thought in itself. How many of us have found out that the box that holds our thoughts, if we make it work, holds our best treasure! How many of us are poor except for that. And how many of us with plenty are poor because of the emptiness of that ordinary-looking, but how eternally puzzling box!

There is a figure of a man, in bronze, now known as well as the world-known "UNKNOWN soldier," or Lindy's plane, but once new to the world and wildly surrounded by argument that milled back and forth, admired and scoffed, but stayed to stare, . .a figure by one of the world's grandest, greatest sculptors; Rodin's "Thinker."

The great crowd of the city, changing, passing, posing, hurrying, lagging, scowling, smiling, are all "thinkers." You may chortle at that and I'll laugh along with you, for we know that there are faces that pass us on the pavement, or face us in the subway, or eye us at the opera, who do not THINK! Not as we define that word! But they think something! Even if that something is an atom under the microscope, or a frothy, vapid thought that never gets the owner of it anywhere. It's that they think something, and what that something is likely to be, that makes faces things to wonder at.

While one solemn girl is wondering how to stretch her piteous five dollars into twenty-five, another is vacantly going around in a circle trying to decide which of her 50 pairs of silken stockings to wear next. While an intense-faced little mother is wrestling with the never-quiet thought of how she is going to help her baby to be great and good—which is no fragile job, as anybody who has tried to help themselves or anybody else BE THAT knows—another intense-faced young woman is matching Love with Money to see which has the best points for an investment. Light thoughts. Heavy thoughts. Thoughts that build, and thoughts that break down!

Don't think that the thoughts in your head will never show on the outside! The drip from an absinthe keg through a marble slab in a tiny shop in New Orleans took many years to wear through; the handsome tree on the mountain slope took years to look as it does; bad thoughts take a long time to wear a trail on your visage; good thoughts not quite so long. But quite suddenly you come to, to find yourself with the footprints of one or the other quite plain to see, and your FACE MADE INTO WHAT IT IS BY THEM.

NELL BRINKLEY.

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Head of Blackmail Rises Through Series of Checks.

WITH the feeling of something decidedly unpleasant in the offing, I took the magazine Dicky handed to me and spread it out before us as he had commanded. It was one of the immense affairs devoted to feminine needs, and made an effective screen between us and the eyes of Mary and Marion in the front seat if they should happen to turn their heads or glance into the mirror.

At first I was furious at Dicky for choosing this time for showing me Mary's bank book and check book, which he had kept in his pocket after I had picked them up in the hall at the farmhouse. Then I realized that if we wished to get them back to Mary without her suspecting we had seen them, we would have to work quickly upon our arrival. I hoped Dicky had some plan for this. I was so upset by his warning to "prepare to be jolted" that I felt incapable of coherent thought.

"Take this first," Dicky murmured, taking hold of the magazine and slipping me the bank book. "Don't exclaim!"

I would have been annoyed at the fussy and unnecessary mandate if I had been able to feel any emotion save fear as to the revelation which I might find in the bank book. I opened it and scanned its brief record of deposits, the dates a month apart. The record presented nothing new to me, for I knew the amount which Braithwaites sent to Mary and the day of the week on which the remittance came. The date of the deposit was invariably within a day or two of the weekly receipt of her remittance.

"Never mind trying to tally it," Dicky muttered. "I've got all that dope made out for you. Just note the approximate date of those deposits and give the book back to me. Then look at this."

I gave the bank book back and received into my hands the folding check book, turning its pages and scanning each entry carefully. They covered the weeks of the Summer and were two in number on each week. One for a ridiculously small sum, was made out to cash, and the other, representing almost the balance of the weekly allowance, was made out to "Janet Rawdon." Over and over that name appeared upon the check stubs, and when I came to the last entry, made but two days before, I felt as if I were driving a car through a heavy fog.

Mechanically I folded the book and handed it back to Dicky. He put both books into their case, his eyes warily fixed upon Mary, and then slipped a paper covered with figures into my hands.

"This sizes up the thing and is a complete record of it, if we need it," he said. "Better show it to Lil after we get home. Harry's seen it already and agrees with me that we've got to get busy and find out who this mysterious dame is. The devil take the girl! I thought we were through with all worry over her actions, but I guess she's a glutton for punishment."

I put my finger to my lips, for his voice was rising and he quickly fell silent.

"Don't jump to conclusions," I whispered in loyalty to Mary, but I found it hard to follow my own advice after I had looked over the figures Dicky had jotted down. They made so plain the fact that Mary had spent less than a fifth of the very liberal allowance her uncle and aunt had given her, and that the greater part of the remainder had been turned over to the mysterious "Janet Rawdon."

The "blackmail" reared its ugly head within my consciousness as I folded the paper and tucked it carefully away in the bill compartment of my purse. Was this "Janet Rawdon" associate of Jack Leslie, who was threatening to reveal the secret of Mary's escapade as the masked dancer?

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headache, and to break up fevers and colds.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Matron's Signature

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Please tell me if it is correct for a married woman to have her name and address on her stationery, and how should she sign her name?

B. M. N.

FOR the letter-paper that she uses for business letters or professional letters, it is correct for a married woman to have her full name and address printed (or engraved, if she wishes) on the sheet. But for social letters, she uses either her monogram engraved (always engraved), or her street address engraved on the top of the sheet.

For business letters or for letters to those who do not know her formal name (such as, for instance, a letter to me) this is the correct form for the signature of a married woman:

Very truly yours,
Mary Brown Smith.
(Mrs. Henry Smith.)

Very Improper

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am going away on my vacation very shortly and will visit several cities where I do not know anybody. Would it be appropriate to ask the clerk or manager of the hotel where I will stay to introduce me to some gentleman who would be glad to take me around to the various places of interest, or isn't this done?

CONSTANT READER.

NO, ma'am, this certainly is not "done," and if you do such a dangerous thing you will be showing not only extremely bad taste, but extremely bad judgment.

No Gifts Required

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Should the recipient of a birth announcement feel at all obligated to send the baby a gift? I was given to understand that this is so, but do not believe it. I would like to send out some announcements, but would not want the recipients to feel them bids for gifts.

J. M.

NO, a birth announcement does not at all mean that a present should be sent or is "expected." It simply makes the announcement in the simplest and most formal way. Of course, there are always some people who consider that any kind of announcement means that they are expected to send a present, but "accustomed" people don't feel this way. So don't worry about sending the announcements.

Hot Tea Breaks a Cold!

Stop FLU

There's a certain kind of tea that breaks up a cold in quick time. It beats dosing yourself with all kinds of medicines. At the first sign of any chill or feverish feeling, get a small package of hamburg tea in a sieve, pour a cup macy. Put a tablespoonful of this hamburg tea in a sieve, pour a cup of boiling water over it, and drink a cupful at any time. It heats the body, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold or case of grippe at once. Hamburg Breast Tea is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

Comment on Theater and Amusements Told in Words and Pictures

FOUR THINGS HURT THEATER, THINKS "PERFECT FOOL," KNOWS FOUR CURES

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

GEORGE SEIBEL

PEOPLE who see Ed Wynn, the "Perfect Fool," performing his amusing antics in the Alvin this week, may not realize that he is one of the wisest heads in the theatrical business. It takes brains to work out the ingenious nonsense for which Wynn is famous, but aside from that his head works on many other things. Like Will Rogers, he has saner ideas about public affairs than many so-called statesmen. It wouldn't be a bad plan to turn the affairs of the nation over to the humorists for a few years. What they need in Washington is a sense of humor, to see the folly of most of their doings.

Ed Wynn has ideas and ideals. He showed that in a talk about the troubles of the theater, an institution he loves and reveres.

"There are four reasons for the present slump in things theatrical," he said. "The first is real estate speculation. There are 71 theaters in New York City, built to earn rentals. But there aren't 71 good playwrights to furnish them with good plays. There aren't even 71 good managers to provide good productions. The result is that there are a few outstanding successes in the course of each season, and the rest languish till they die as they deserve. But the people who go to see these mediocre or even vicious shows are disgusted with the theater as an institution—soon or late they stay away even from the good attractions, afraid they will be robbed again."

Second Reason: Cut Rate Tickets

"That's the first reason," I said. "Now where's the second?"

"The second is in the cut-rate ticket offices. People do not go to the box-office any longer. They go to the basement of the drug store where they can get seats at half price. Because of ruinous extravagance in productions, the result of mad competition, managers cannot very well reduce the prices of seats. Then they must resort to a bargain counter in order to discount their losses. So things go from worse to worse, and the third factor begins to operate."

"Which is?"

"Filth on the stage—just plain malodorous muck. The manager thinks he can attract the crowds by providing a sensation—and he turns to profanity and degeneracy. The limit is soon reached, and then people take an ocean trip if they want to get seasick. Meanwhile more and more of the decent playgoers have been disgusted with the theater, and stay at home, away from the stench of the Augean stable."

"And the fourth reason?" I inquired. "Is a fourth needed?"

"The fourth is the attitude of the managers toward the people who wish to clean and fumigate their premises. Too many of these managers think they are Napoleons. They think they have made the theater, when it is the theater that has made them. If a critic arises to tell them their mistakes he is made to feel their displeasure. That's as silly as a sick man kicking his doctor. But this high-and-mighty policy has gradually lowered the value of criticism and estranged the independent critics. They have lost sympathy with a commercialized and bawdy octopus. And that means less interest in and less revenue for the 71 theaters, bringing us back to where the vicious circle began."

"But how about the road?"

"New York failures are trotted out over the road in the hope of recouping some of the losses. But the people of other cities are no fools, as the managers are fast discovering."

"And what's the remedy?"

"That too, is fourfold—deflation, fumigation, rejuvenation, and brains. The last is the most important and the hardest to procure. The supply seems to be running very low. But they will have to apply it to the theater to save the patient."

Ed Wynn has studied the theater in America and abroad—he understands it and loves it—he is a very serious person when he is not the "Perfect Fool." It wouldn't be a bad idea to make him Czar of Broadway for a few seasons, and send a few of the Napoleons into exile on Coney Island.

Film Debut

DOROTHY BURGESS

Dorothy Burgess, a recruit from the legitimate stage, makes her movie debut in the all-talking outdoor drama, "In Old Arizona," coming next week to the Aldine. She was "discovered" by the picture makers while playing an ingenue role in "The Squall" on the Los Angeles stage.

AMUSEMENTS OF NEXT WEEK

"Pleasure Bound," the new Winter Garden revue, which will be presented in the Alvin all next week, offers a new form of entertainment, combining a musical comedy theme with a revue. "Pleasure Bound" tells a story of characters somewhat similar to "Potash and Perlmutter." In the cast are Jack Pearl, Phil Baker.

"The End of St. Petersburg," Russian Soviet film purchased abroad by Arthur Hammerstein, will be presented in the Nixon for one week only, opening Monday afternoon, February 4, with matinees daily.

Among the "types" to be presented by Karyl Norman, "the Creole Fashion Plate," head of the Davis vaudeville program next week, will be "The Debutante," "The Woman of the World," "Just Me," "The Co-Ed" and "The Flapper."

In "The Rescue," by Joseph Conrad, which comes to the Penn screen next week, Ronald Colman is starred and Lily Damita, the new French find, is his leading woman. The stage acts feature Teddy Joyce and "Cheerio."

Dolores Costello plays the role of an Apache dancing girl in the Warner vitaphone production, "The Redeeming Sin," booked for the Stanley screen next week. Conrad Nagel will be seen as her sweetheart.

"In Old Arizona," outdoor all talking feature drama, will be seen and heard in Loew's Aldine next week with a cast headed by Warner Baxter, Edmund Lowe and Dorothy Burgess. It is a Fox Movietone production.

Jean Hersholt and George Sidney will be seen on the Grand screen next week in "Give and Take," a comedy.

Among features of "Wine, Woman and Song," in the Academy next week, will be Snooky Woods, and her singing and dancing ensemble for their first appearance in the East.

H. B. Warner is featured in the Vitaphone production, "Stark Mad," due in the Enright Saturday. A stage show also will be offered.

Nancy Carroll plays Rosemary in the Paramount sound screen production of Anne Nichols' "Abie's Irish Rose," which opens in the Regent, East Liberty, Saturday.

Vaudeville in the Harris next week will include a musical comedy, "Boy Friends," the first half, and Hardeen, brother of the late Houdini, the last half. A talking screen feature will be "The Spieler."

Hardeen, brother of the late Houdini, will head the vaudeville in the Sheridan Square the first three days of next week. The talking screen feature will be "The Spieler," with Allen Hale and Renee Adoree.

STAGE AND SCREEN :-: TO FEATURE :-: STARS SHOWN HERE

Katrina Kaja plays in "The End of St. Petersburg," Russian Soviet photoplay, with no professional actor in it, which is to be presented in the Nixon.

Newman's Pictures And Talk Tonight

E. M. Newman will lecture on "Germany 1928" in the Carnegie Music Hall tonight. His talk will be illustrated with motion pictures, including views of Friederichshafen, with its Zeppelin works, and of the training of German police dogs. All of the larger cities, as well as smaller towns of historic, as well as modern interest, will be dealt with.

Our Daily Short Story

HOME

By ERIC HEATH

AUNT HATTIE had become an institution in the Haynes family.

If there were any babies to be taken care of for the afternoon, they were dumped on Aunt Hattie. If there were any hems to be turned up, Aunt Hattie turned them up. She was the only one who knew just how many clean shirts Herbert Haynes, her brother-in-law, ought to have in his bureau drawer, and just where little Mildred's roller skates were.

She had come to visit her sister, Ida, for a few months when Ida had only been married to Herbert a short time, and has stayed on, until Ida's oldest daughter, Ruth, was about to be married.

No one thought of treating Aunt Hattie as a servant, and yet that was what she really was.

It was in the midst of the wildly exciting preparations for Ruth's wedding that the unexpected happened.

Ida was indulging in a scolding spell because Hattie had gotten one of Ruth's trousseau petticoats an inch and a half too long. Suddenly, without a word of warning, Aunt Hattie's sewing dropped from her lap to the floor, and she stood up, drawing herself to her full height.

"You'll have to fix the petticoat yourself, Ida," she said quietly, as if she were just passing a remark on the weather. "I'm leaving tomorrow."

"Leaving?" Ida echoed blankly. "Why, what in the world do you mean?"

"I'm going to rent a small flat, and do china painting. You know I've always wanted to do china painting," Hattie elucidated.

"You mean to say you're going to give up a good home for—"

"For a flat, yes, I am," Hattie answered. "Now, no use talking, Ida. I've made up my mind."

That evening, Ida held an anxious consultation with her husband. Herbert seemed to be even more disturbed over the news than she had imagined he would be.

"I suppose there's no use beating around the bush, Hattie," he began, waveringly. "I've got to tell you sooner or later. That money you gave me to—to take care of, for you——"

"You don't mean to say anything has happened to my money?" she demanded.

"You asked me to invest it for you, and make something if I could, and——" His voice trailed off, helplessly.

HOME

By ERIC HEATH

"Well, considerable. Enough to give you an income of about $25 a month. So you see, Hattie, you can't go, you can't leave. I know you wouldn't be mean enough to give me away.

Hattie's eyes flashed in indignation.

"I won't tell on you, you miserable fool," she said. "Not for your sake, but for the sake of Ida and the children. But as far as leaving is concerned, I'm leaving, just the same. I'm going to rent a flat and have a home of my own."

"But how can you?" he demanded. "It costs money to——"

"I'll manage somehow," she replied grimly. I'll have my china painting. And, as to the money you stole from me, Herbert, you can pay that back, $5 a week, and you can begin right now."

"All right, Hattie," he answered weakly.

"I've got to make a go of it," Hattie returned. "I've always wanted a home of my own, and a job of my own, and now I'm going to have both."

LADY TELLS HOW SHE SUFFERED

Coraopolis Resident's Stomach Trouble Ended by Famous Ten Herbs,

"I had suffered with my stomach for the past ten years and had almost given up hope of ever finding relief," was the recent statement of Mrs. George Phillips, 1219 Fourth Avenue, Coraopolis, Pa., (near Pittsburgh), to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this famous natural compound. "But I can truthfully say that your medicine has relieved my health troubles and made me feel better in every way," Mrs. Phillips continued.

MRS. GEORGE PHILLIPS

"Gas used to form after eating, causing severe pains through my body. I would have terrible heartburn and an awful sour stomach. At times I would vomit a hot liquid. Sometimes I could not even hold water on my stomach. I lost all desire to eat. I was so badly constipated that I was constantly using laxatives. My nerves troubled me and I could not sleep well. These troubles caused my system to be undernourished, with the result that I became weak.

"I heard so much talk about Ten Herbs and read of so many local persons being helped by your medicine, that I started using it. The results were beyond my expectations, considering the short time I used Ten Herbs. I have been relieved of indigestion and its accompanying gas, pains, heartburn and sour stomach. The pains are gone from my body, and I do not vomit that hot liquid any more. My appetite is splendid. Constipation has been relieved, and I no longer lie awake at night. I made the trip here today to get a bottle of Ten Herbs for my cousin, to whom I have recommended your fine medicine."

Protect yourself from influenza and other serious diseases. Build up resisting power by taking Ten Herbs. It cleanses and tones up the whole system, and is especially beneficial to the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Upon his retirement from the ring, Johnny Ray for a time was matchmaker at Motor Square Garden. Now, at the age of 32, he has gone in for managing and developing boxers and hopes to turn out some star local talent. With Jess L. Miller as his partner, he has outfitted a gymnasium on the second floor of the building at 6306 Penn avenue, East End, where he supervises the training, afternoons and evenings, of a string of ambitious young mittmen. The gym is outfitted with all modern facilities, including handball courts, electric cabinet, reducing machine, pulleys, showers, regulation size ring and heavy and light punching bags. Three of the most promising young boxers using the gymnasium are Johnny Warner and the Hebner brothers, amateurs of Clairton, who plan to turn professional soon. Others include Tiger Joe Randall, the Negro welterweight of Elizabeth; Bob Krate, Pennsylvania Railroad middleweight champion; Harry Palmer, welterweight, of Punxsutawney; Joe Azzara, of the East End, and Frankie Moran, of Homewood. Miller, Ray's partner, is superintendent of construction for the firm of Heyl & Patterson and is an old boxing enthusiast and a former manager. He handled Billy McIsaacs and Tim Honan a quarter of a century ago. In the group picture above are, left to right: Back row—Albert Hebner, Eddie Hebner and Paul Leiby, trainer. Front row—Jess L. Miller, Tony Azzara, Frankie Moran and Johnny Ray.

RAY, THE BOXER

Here is how Johnny Ray, former local boxer, looked in his heyday, when he was boxing Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion; Charley White, Matt Brock, Johnny Dundee, Rocky Kansas, George (K. O.) Chaney, Eddie Morgan, Patsy Brannigan, Young Goldie, K. O. Mars, Dick Loadman, Dick DeSanders, Ray Pryel, Johnny Kirk and other notables. He boxed Dundee five times and Chaney and Kilbane twice each. He began his ring career in 1913 and made his final appearance against Jack Zivic in 1924. He was one of the cleverest boxers ever developed in Pittsburgh.

JACK SHARKEY LEAVES HUB FOR SOUTH

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 31.—(AP.)—W. L. (Young) Stribling, bearing the hopes of the South in his campaign for the heavyweight title, has arrived here to pitch his training camp and prepare for his battle with Jack Sharkey, of Boston, at Miami Beach, February 27.

Stribling, apparently in the pink of condition, was accompanied by Pa Stribling, his manager; Ma Stribling, his wife and two children, and his brother, Baby Stribling, a lightweight.

The youthful Georgia heavyweight, no stranger in Miami, was the center of an admiring throng wherever he went and was given an ovation by the crowd at the Miami Beach Kennel Club when he appeared there with Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion.

STRIB FETED

Dempsey was host to a dinner party last night in honor of Stribling, who is the first of the principals to arrive for the bout planned by the late Tex Rickard as an elimination fight in the tournament to choose a successor to Gene Tunney.

Stribling's arrival interrupted Dempsey in a busy day in which he opened the sales office for tickets for the fight. Sales, Jack said, already have approached the $150,000 mark. Tickets for mail reservations were being mailed from the office of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, backers of the bout.

Jack announced that Govs. Henry C. Caulfield, of Missouri; Louis L. Emmerson, Illinois, and Fred W. Green, Michigan, had bought tickets.

Dempsey refused to comment on a statement by Madison Square Garden officials in New York City that he would meet the winner of a series of elimination bouts for the heavyweight championship of the world in September.

SHARKEY STARTS SOUTH

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, started his quest for the title vacated by Gene Tunney when he boarded a train here last night for Miami, Fla., to prepare for his bout with Young Stribling on February 27.

Sharkey, accompanied by his wife, Johnny Buckley, his manager, and Mrs. Buckley, expected to arrive in Miami tomorrow. He said he intended to rest several days before resuming his training.

Acting on instructions from relatives the body will be placed aboard a ship for Key West this morning, accompanied by a grandnephew of the veteran turfman, Eugene Cheek.

GRID NUMERALS INTRODUCED BY PITT

OFFICIALS of the New York American League club say they are not worried in the least over the refusal of the New York Nationals and other big league outfits to go along with the Yankee plan to put numbers on the backs of baseball players next season so that the athletes may be readily identified by the fans. The Yank bosses express confidence that present opposition to their plan cannot endure for any great length of time, and that sooner or later the numbering system will have to be adopted by the clubs that are now refusing to consider it.

Percy D. Haughton.

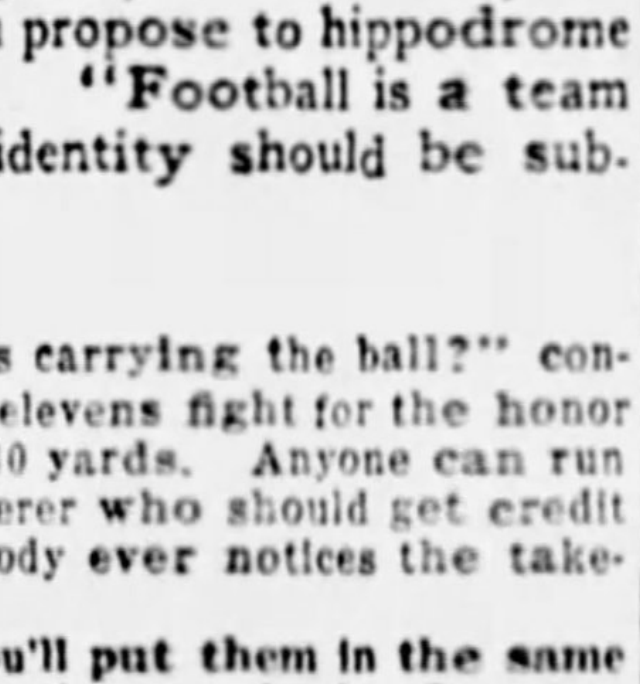
This optimism is based on the eventual success of the same idea in football. Ed Barrow and other Yankee officials point out that when the numbering of gridiron players was first suggested in the East, some of the "Big Three" leaders, particularly the late Percy D. Haughton, of Harvard, declined to entertain the proposal. "You propose to hippodrome football," roared Haughton in protest. "Football is a team game, one in which the individual's identity should be submerged.

"WHY should the spectators know who's carrying the ball?" continued Percy. "They pay to see two elevens fight for the honor of their colleges, not to see Jim Jones run 80 yards. Anyone can run through a field of dead men. It's the interferer who should get credit for somebody else's brilliant dash, but nobody ever notices the takeout man.

"If you number the football players you'll put them in the same class with six-day bike riders, jockeys and other professional entertainers," concluded the Harvard coach. But though Harvard continued to frown upon numbers after Haughton had passed out and Bob Fisher had come in, the day arrived when even Crimson teams fell into line and donned the numerals to keep up with the parade. The Yankee chiefs predict a similar outcome in baseball.

SPEAKING of the numbering of football players, the big baseball men who are now referring to the days when that system was introduced are slightly off in their dope when they say that certain teams in the East were the first to wear the numerals.

The system did not originate in the East, but right here in Pittsburgh, and the credit for the introduction of the numbers belongs to the University of Pittsburgh. Football record books name 1915 as the year in which numbers were adopted, but they were worn by the Panthers long before that season.



Clifton Heathcote.

SOMETIMES an extra man or utility player on a big league baseball team is of far greater value than his individual playing ability would appear to indicate. His worth to the team often extends a great deal farther, though the fact is not apparent on the surface of things. The mere fact that he is on the roster and present on the grounds every day has been known to help a club considerably even though he may not take part in a game very often. When Gabby Hartnett first joined the Cubs, for instance, he proved a splendid investment if for no other reason than the fact that he made Bob O'Farrell a much improved catcher. O'Farrell had been taking things in easy style, but with Hartnett around he was forced to hustle. And now the same club has another case of the same sort, with Outfielder Clifton Heathcote as the central figure.

HEATHCOTE is not used regularly. The former Pennsylvania State College boy is a fine fielder and thrower, and as fast as a streak, but he doesn't carry the hardest batting punch in the majors. In 10 years with the Cardinals and Cubs he has hit .300 only once. Last year his mark was .285. However, he is not only valuable as a substitute, but his presence on the bench helps the club because the regular fly-chasers know that he is just about good enough to step in there and play regularly if they happen to slump.

The result is that the other Cub outfielders are forced to keep hustling. They play better ball than they would put up if Heathcote were not hanging around. They've got to do so, in fact, to protect their own jobs, for each of them knows that if he doesn't keep going

GENEVA SCORES 36-20 WIN OVER TECH

By JESS CARVER

Tonight's continuance of the week's skimpy college basketball program has its action centered in Morgantown, where West Virginia and the Davis-Elkins Senators clash in the first of a two-game series. The game is only one of two tonight. Its attraction and color make up for the lack of numbers on the collegiate program.

There is one other game, sort of a last-minute affair. Westminster's Titans will put on a contest at New Wilmington with a strong intersectional flavor, playing Detroit City College. This game was booked a week ago, when the Detroiters found they would be coming through here on a trip.

Last year the Senators kicked the Mountaineers over thrice. They won the first game in Morgantown 46 to 43, took the Men of Stadsvold over at Elkins a week or so later, 39 to 28, and then returned to Morgantown for the next to the last game of the season and won 41 to 31, scoring this victory a week after West Virginia gave Pitt such a close battle.

D. & E. RECORD FAIR

The Davis-Elkins record for the present season is not an overly impressive one. In their only major contest, the Senators lost a close contest to the Salem Tigers, West Virginia Conference champions last year, by the narrow margin of one point.

Coach Francis Stadsvold, of the Mountaineers, says the Senators have a good ball club. He fears tonight's game. His Mountaineers, with their six-game winning streak, are in just the right position to crack and with D. & E. holding somewhat of an Indian sign over them after last year, the Mountaineers may stumble.

GENEVA GETS REVENGE

Ken Loeffler's Geneva College Covenanters had Carnegie Tech throwing 'em from out in front down at Beaver Falls last night, the steady defense of the Gold and White proving a very effective barrier against any "working in" ideas the Plaid may have held. The Genevians won, 36 to 20, securing satisfactory revenge for the defeat suffered here in Pittsburgh earlier in the year.

Geneva presented its new star, Tony Paulsey, in a forward role, later shifting him to center when Montgomery entered the game. Paulsey went well, and with a little more college experience, will do very well.

Geneva led 17-9 at the half, after Tech had taken a two-point lead early in the game. Friedman and Paulsey were the scoring stars, each dropping in four field goals.

The lineup:

Geneva—36.		Carnegie Tech—20.
Friedman	F	(C) White
Paulsey	F	Crum
Ransom	C	Merton
Merriman	G	Nease
Emerick (C)	G	High

Score by periods:

Tech	9	11—20
Geneva	17	19—36

Substitutions—Tech, Brown; Geneva, Montgomery. Field goals—Geneva, Friedman 4, Paulsey 4, Ransom 2, Merriman, Montgomery, Emerick; Tech, High 2, White, Crum, Merton, Nease, Brown. Fouls—Geneva, Friedman 2 out of 2, Paulsey 1 out of 3, Ransom 2 out of 4, Emerick 1 out of 3, Montgomery 3 out of 4; Tech, White none out of 1, Merton none out of 1, Nease 3 out of 7, Brown 3 out of 5. Team fouls—Geneva 10 out of 18, Tech 6 out of 14. Time of periods—20 minutes. Leading scorer—Friedman, Geneva, 10 points. Referee—Dan Dougherty. Umpire—Graham.

PIRATE HOCKEY, BIG BANQUET SAME NIGHT

Boston at Toronto.
Chicago at Montreal.
N. Y. Americans at N. Y. Rangers.

By CARL W. SHATTO

Officials of the Pittsburgh Hockey Club have abandoned efforts to have the Pirates' game with the Boston Bruins, scheduled to be played at Duquesne Garden on the evening of Thursday, February 14, postponed to a later date. A shift in the program was contemplated when it was learned that the date of the Boston game conflicted with that of the John Gruber testimonial banquet to be given by the Pittsburgh chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America at the William Penn Hotel, but the National League schedule is so arranged that no postponement is possible.

In addition to the February 14 game with Boston, the Ice Pirates will be hosts to Ottawa on February 16, and will meet the Rangers in New York on February 17. Postponement of the joust with the Bruins until Friday would necessitate the Pirates playing three games in three days, and no such task ever is attempted in the big league of the ice sport.

REGRET CONFLICT

Hockey officials, hockey players and hockey fans alike regret the conflict in dates, for both the banquet and the league game will be magnets to sportsmen. Many ice fans, eager to pay tribute to the dean of sports writers and to hear the addresses of many of the leading figures in the sports world, will elect to spend the evening in the William Penn ballroom, and league and Pittsburgh club officials will be among the 1,500 or more expected to make up the banquet crowd. The players, several of whom have achieved sufficient renown to warrant their appearing at the Gruber testimonial in the roles of celebrities, must heed duty's call and will have no choice in the matter.

The National Hockey League is to be represented by President Frank Calder, of Montreal. Benny Leonard, owner of the Pittsburgh franchise and treasurer of the Pirates, will appear in the dual role of hockey and boxing celebrity, for his fame as an ice magnate is secondary to that of "retired undefeated lightweight champion of the world." Charley Leonard, brother of the former ring king and secretary of the Pittsburgh club; Attorney J. F. Callahan, president, and Joseph Huhn, vice president, will help Benny give the Ice Pirates proper representation.

FREDERICKSON OUT

Members of the banquet entertainment committee well may regret the fact that Frank Frederickson, star center of the local ice squad, will be unable to attend, for Frankie has a well-schooled voice and is one of the best soloists outside of grand opera.

Sportsmen who prefer a big league banquet to big league hockey will have several opportunities to be entertained by the puckmen before February 14. The Montreal Maroons are to make their last appearance of the season at Duquesne Garden Saturday night, and Toronto and Les Canadiens will precede Boston here.

Fight Results

At Providence, R. I.—Tiger Jack Payne knocked out Leo Mitchell, 7 rounds.

O'DOWD AND MAYBERRY IN CLASH TONIGHT

TWO fast, clever, hard-hitting bantamweights hook up in the 10-round main bout at McKeesport tonight, when Midget Mike O'Dowd, of Columbus, and Howard Mayberry, of Donora, former Canadian champion, sling leather. The bout is a natural for this district, wherein Mayberry has been undefeated and O'Dowd recently registered a hit beating Jackie Rodgers.

Howard Mayberry.

O'Dowd is being brought to the Tube City by Charley Jones, a former McKeesport boy, who first gained fame in fistic circles as the manager of Tommy Ryan, of that town, and since has roamed the land with a host of good boxers under his wing. He now makes his home in Louisville.

Almost as much interest attaches to the semifinal tonight as to the main event, for it marks the first professional appearance in the Pittsburgh district of Buck McTiernan, former local amateur star, who has caused critics in Cleveland, Youngstown and other cities to rave over his boxing form. Buck's opponent will be Allen Beatty, Negro welterweight, of McKeesport, who last week knocked out Young Guido in the same ring. George Kerston and Lee Sala box the second bout and Young Angelo and Harry Hileman meet in the opener.

CARD FOR MOOSE TEMPLE

The Moose Temple card for tomorrow night is complete. It embraces a 10-round windup between Battling Gizzy, of Donora, and U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, and three six-round preliminaries, as follows: Johnny Dunn vs. Joe Elrene; Max Ziff vs. John Brucker, and Sammy Paris vs. Paul Kesner, of Cumberland.

Pete Zivic, Dan Billick and Herman Folins, all local boxers, appear in a show at Jersey City tonight. Pete is in the main bout with Bobby Brady and Billick and Folins will box six-round prelims.

Phil Scott, the British heavyweight champion, boxes Ted Sandwina and Gypsy Daniels meets Jimmy Mendez in bouts in London tonight.

Tech to Play W. & J. Five February 18

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 31.—Graduate Manager William G. Theurer, of Washington and Jefferson College, has announced that Carnegie Tech basketball teams would come to Washington February 18 to play the games which were originally scheduled for early this month, but were postponed at that time due to the influenza epidemic prevailing here, which resulted in the college being closed for several weeks.

The schedule for the local frosh follows:

Cleghorn Ill; Leonard Acts As Pilot

Odie Cleghorn, manager of the Pirate hockey team, today is confined to his home with a severe attack of grip and tonsilitis and probably will not be at the helm when the Bucs meet the Montreal Maroons at Duquesne Garden Saturday night.

Cleghorn was stricken Tuesday night and was ordered to bed by his physician yesterday. No improvement in his condition was reported today and it is not likely that he will be able to resume his duties before next week.

Charley Leonard, secretary of the Pirates, has assumed Cleghorn's duties as manager. He was in charge of the practice session yesterday and will direct the workout scheduled for tonight.

CUBS TO GET BELL, REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Lester Bell, third baseman of the Boston Braves, will be sold or traded to the Chicago Cubs when the National League magnates meet here next week, according to a report in circulation here today. Considerable cash and perhaps a player will be sent to the Hub in exchange for Bell, according to the report.

With the Cardinals Bell hit .325 in 1926, but lost interest in Boston and batted only .277 last year. He is a long distance hitter, however, and makes most of his blows count.

Babcock, Fownes Win in Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—The narrow escape of A. C. N. Gosling, defending champion, from elimination and good golf by R. L. Babcock, of Oakmont, and Nicol Thompson, Jr., of the Hamilton Golf Club of Canada, featured the opening round in Bermuda amateur championship at Riddells Bay Club yesterday. Babcock had a 75. H. C. Fownes II, of Oakmont, also won his match.

Scores of the championship flight follow:

Gosling defeated Montague 1 up, 19 holes; Babcock defeated Potter, 4 and 3; G. H. Beavis, England, won from George Milliken, Old Flushing, by default; Howard Trott defeated M. J. Campbell, Belmont, Mass., 4 and 3; Thompson defeated George Smith, Bermuda, 5 and 4; H. St. George Butterfield, Bermuda, defeated D. C. Durant, Montreal, 3 and 2; Costello defeated West 1 up, 19 holes; H. C. Fownes II, Oakmont, defeated G. A. Snider, Des Moines, 9 and 7.

Locals Win, Lose In Miami Event

R. Lottke, of Pittsburgh, however, was less fortunate. He was eliminated in the second round by Annis, by 3 and 2.

BUCS TO STAND PAT ON SQUAD MAKEUP

By JAMES J. LONG.

Though weather conditions in Pittsburgh this morning were anything but suggestive of baseball, signs of the approaching diamond season were in evidence at Pirate headquarters when Manager Donie Bush blew in from his home in Indianapolis.

The Buccaneer skipper made the trip for the purpose of holding a series of conferences with President Barney Dreyfuss, during which arrangements will be completed for the spring training jaunt. Bush will depart for home tonight or tomorrow night, and will not return to this city until February 17, one day in advance of the date set for the advance guard's start for Paso Robles.

WILL STAND PAT

"It is unlikely that there will be any further changes in the make-up of our spring squad," said Donie in discussing the Pirate situation and his spring plans. "I intend to stand pat on the present lot of material, and all of the 38 players now on the roster will be taken to the training camp. There is a chance that one or two youngsters will be picked up for a tryout, but the possibility is remote.

"I do not feel that there is any occasion for worry about the players who have not signed their contracts. There still is plenty of time for them to fall in line, and I have no doubt that all of them will be on deck when they are needed.

JESS PETTY IN LINE

"Jess Petty, our new left-hander, will be there with the rest. I received a letter from Jess recently and everything is O. K. with him."

The Pirate chief announces that he is going through with his plan to shift Pie Traynor to shortstop and try Jim Stroner, Wichita recruit, at third base.

"I have every confidence that the new combination will work out successfully," Bush said. "Traynor is one of those rare ball players who can be made to fit in almost anywhere in the infield, and his work in the shortfield may be a great surprise to the doubting ones. And Stroner is an exceptional recruit on whom I am pinning high hopes. Good judges who have watched him at work inform me that he just can't miss in the major leagues.

"Adams and Bartell will fight it out for the second base job, and I am counting confidently upon Earl Sheely to please the home fans by his playing at first base.

NO SHIFTING PLANNED

"Contrary to some reports, I am not going to do any shifting at first base. It has been rumored that Sheely would be used against lefthanded pitchers, and George Grantham against righthanded hurlers, but there is nothing to that story. I expect to keep Sheely right on first base from day to day, and have no intention of alternating there with Grantham. Sheely can hit right-hand flingers as well as left-handers, and I will not take him out at any time unless he falls below my present expectations.

"Earl was a consistent .300 hitter in the American League and I am hopeful that he will show the same for us. There is no doubt about his ability in other departments. He is a wonderful fielder and thrower and fast enough for all requirements.

"Grantham is to be a candidate for the left-field position. Comorosky and Brickel also will be tried there, and out of the three we ought to get a capable man for the place. All around, the outlook for the team is very encouraging."

Bush reported that he had met Pitcher Carmen Hill in Indianapolis yesterday and that the hurler had informed him he was again in the best of physical trim and confident of getting back this year into the form he displayed in 1927.

JOHNSON READY TO FIGHT "ALL DAY" AT RENO

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

IN the first half of this story of the recollections of Frank Sutton, local hotel owner and friend of Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion, published yesterday, Sutton related what occurred when the late Tex Rickard came to Pittsburgh to see Johnson about signing for his bout with Jim Jeffries at Reno, Nev., in 1910, and of some of the incidents in connection with the staging of that battle, including the attempts made by gamblers to have Johnson agree to let Jeffries win and to "fix" Sutton, who personally prepared Johnson's meals in his training camp, to render Johnson impotent for the bout.

The story as told by Sutton reveals the many inaccuracies contained in the orgy of tales on the life of Rickard since the promoter passed to his reward.

That Jeffries was far from the "hollow shell" he was conceded to be after the fight is brought out by Sutton in his description of the Jeffries-Johnson bout as it was fought.

JOHNSON TOOK NO CHANCES

"Johnson never doubted for a moment that he would win and retain the title he had snared from Tommy Burns in Australia," Sutton said, "but he was determined not to take any chances. You will recall that the bout was listed for 40 rounds and was to continue until a winner was determined if the end was not reached in that time. Johnson prepared accordingly. Before he entered the ring he had made up his mind as to his plan of battle. He was perfectly trained and knew he could go the route, and he was in no hurry to finish the affair. He was ready to fight all day if necessary.

"Jeffries was in a bad mental state for the bout. Regardless of what may be said to the contrary, he broke under the strain when word came to him three days before the fight that Johnson intended to play out his string and would not concede defeat as the men behind Jeffries had told Jim he would. However, physically, Jeffries still was a strong and formidable gladiator when he entered the ring and as late as the fifth round he raised Johnson clear of the floor with a terrific blow. I asked Johnson later if the punch hurt him and he said it didn't, but I know it did. I had been hit similarly during my boxing career and even had spat out teeth and yet had been too proud to admit I had been hurt.

"Johnson's watchful waiting policy justified itself when Jeffries tired and weakened perceptibly after the tenth round and the finish came in the fifteenth. Had Jeffries been able to keep going he would have found Johnson coasting along with him. Jack never deviated from his plan to take no unnecessary chances."

RELIGION PLAYED PART

"Reno was a town of only about 1,300 inhabitants. Not more than 10 or 15 Negroes lived in the community and when word went out that the Jeffries-Johnson fight would be staged there the citizens banded together and vowed that Johnson would not be permitted to enter the town, much less fight there. Tom Flanagan was sent on to look over the situation. He discovered that of the 1,300 persons in Reno more than 700 were Catholics. Johnson also was of that faith and Flanagan took it up with the churches. He asked them to join him in seeing that Johnson got a square deal and won them over, with the result that Johnson and his party received an ovation on their arrival and, if anything, were given even better protection than Jeffries' camp."

After the fight at Reno, Johnson returned to Pittsburgh and was married to the former Mrs. Duryea in Sutton's hotel in Wylie avenue. Mrs. Duryea, a white woman, now dead, was one of the five persons who sat in on the conference in the hotel at which Johnson and Rickard first talked about the Jeffries match. The wedding ceremony was performed by Squire John A. Fugassi, now superintendent of county roads, whose office was in Grant street where the William Penn Hotel now stands.

In mid-December of last year Sutton made his most recent trip to New York and while there tried to see Tex Rickard to straighten out a misunderstanding that had come between them over a statement attributed to him by Jimmy Dougherty, manager of George Godfrey, in reply to an announcement made by Rickard a year ago that he would not stage any more mixed matches for the heavyweight championship, and for this reason Godfrey could not enter the eliminations. Sutton attended a boxing show in Madison Square Garden, but missed connections with Tex, and now it is too late. Tex has gone on over the Great Divide.

BEGAN AS BOXER

Sutton's first connection with the ring game was as a boxer. He scaled around 148 pounds and was one of the best men his weight in these parts. He did some of his boxing under the management of James (Red) Mason, veteran local handler of mittmen. His last appearance in a bout occured 24 years ago last Christmas night. Among the men he boxed were Larry Temple, Fred Broad and Eddie Kennedy. One of his memorable clashes was with Phil Kramer, of Allegheny. Sutton was from Mt. Washington and great rivalry sprang up between the pair. They fought on a winner-take-all basis, with sidebets, and Sutton cleaned up $1,400 on the bout. After it was over, he gave Kramer, who was badly battered, 100 silver dollars out of his haul. John Gruber, veteran sports editor, who will be honored with a testimonial banquet by the local scribes on February 14, was stakeholder and the late Rody P. Marshall, attorney, was one of the sportsmen who bet on Kramer. In Mt. Washington the odds were 10 to 8 on Sutton; on the North Side they were reversed, with Kramer the favorite, while downtown the wagering was at even money.

According to Sutton, the only real defeat he ever suffered was by Fred Broad, now a prominent resident of New Kensington. Eddie Kennedy, now a local referee, knocked him out, but Sutton claims that bout was one of "those things." He says he did not take the match seriously and drank a bottle of beer shortly before entering the ring and Kennedy nailed him early.

DROPS FROM LIMELIGHT

For a man who played such an active part in the fistic history of the city, Sutton has been strangely silent for a long time. And he would not have opened up at this stage if this chronicler had not gone to him for the real "lowdown" on Rickard's quiet one-day visit to Pittsburgh almost two decades ago to sign Jack Johnson for the Reno battle.

KEN WITHEROW NAMED BY U.S.G.A.

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

The United States Golf Association today announced its sub-committees for the ensuing year. Local men have been given several places, as usual.

James Francis Burke, former general counsel for the U. S. G. A., and J. Frederick Byers again have been placed on the most important committee in the entire association, that of the rules of golf.

J. Frederick Byers again has been appointed chairman of the international relations committee.

Kenneth C. Witherow, well-known local linksman, for the first time has been placed on the public links section executive committee. He succeeds John Jay Burke, present city office manager of the Allegheny County parks, who has held a place in that committee since it was organized, Burke tenderd his resignation at the Nationl public links tournament at Philadelphia last year due to pressure of business.

H. H. Ramsay heads the rules of golf, championship and publicity committees; Prescott S. Bush is chairman of the membership and reinstatement committee; Rodman E. Griscom will direct the amateur status and conduct committee: Cornelius S. Lee is chairman of the selection of courses group, and Herbert Jaques will head the implements and the ball committee.

Ganson Depew, of Buffalo, nephew of the late Chauncey Depew, has been renamed chairman of the executive committee of the public links section; Charles H. Sabin heads the finance and budget body; Wynant D. Vanderpool, the green section, and John G. Jones, the intercollegiate affairs committee.

LIGHTER BALL NOT LIKELY

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Abandonment of the United States Golf Association's proposal to adopt a lighter and less lively ball seemed imminent today, much to the satisfaction of the longer hitters among the championship players. According to advices from Washington, the bureau of standards has been unable to satisfy the desire of the association for a certain resiliency upon which they could effect standardization of the ball.

Herbert H. Ramsay, of New York, vice president of the Association, will head three sub-committees for 1929. He will serve as chairman of the rules of golf committee in addition to the championship and publicity committees, which he headed last year. Bobby Jones is a member of committees dealing with the selection of courses for championship play and the problem of a lighter ball.

COMISH CALLS TRUCE WITH AMATEURS

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 31.—With a temporary truce declared between the Boxing Commission and the amateurs, the amateur program in Uniontown went on without molestation from Havey J. Boyle, boxing commissioner, who was present, last night.

TO TAKE LEGAL STEPS

Boyle stated that he had no intentions of interfering with the Uniontown show other than to see that the law pertaining to boxing was obeyed. Al Sandorfy, head of the Al Sands Club, agreed to pay the state its tax of 5 per cent, but refused to employ professional referees. This morning Sandorfy said that he had reconsidered, that he had not paid the "cut" and would be governed by the advice of his attorney.

Boyle said he would make no attempt to stop the show, but would lay the entire matter before David Glick, of Pittsburgh, deputy attorney general, today, and have his opinion govern future amateur bouts in Uniontown.

Boyle explained the interference by state police at the last show by stating that a complaint was made by a Uniontown person and that he did not know whether the bouts were amateur or professional.

MAKES STATEMENT

"Speaking as an individual member of the commission, I would like to say that after conferences with Mr. Sandorfy and Attorney McDaniel and after some investigation myself, I believe the best interest of boxing will be served by allowing this show to proceed. Mr. Sandorfy has agreed to pay the state tax. He has denied the commission the right to appoint the referee. A report of this will be submitted to the legal department of the state and the commission will proceed as directed by counsel. I am hopeful that before your next show a court opinion will have cleared the present confusion.

"I can assure you that no matter what eventually is decided this commissioner wants to see boxing interests among amateurs and professionals grow in Uniontown."

In response to requests made during last night's show, hundreds of persons today are preparing letters to Fayette County representatives in the state Assembly urging them to support the amendment to the boxing bill which will definitely settle the present difference. A counter amendent is expected to be laid before the Assembly by the Boxing Commission that is much opposed to the amendment.

EIGHT CREWS MAY RACE

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—America's greatest rowing treat, the annual intercollegiate regatta on the Hudson at Poughkeepsie, more than likely will see eight crews stretched across the river at the starting line this year. The board of stewards of the Inter-collegiate Rowing Association expect that many colleges to send their entries to the mark on June 24, the date decided upon for the event.

Price Signs Three-Year Contract

BERKELEY, Cal., Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Clarence (Nibs) Price has been given a three-year contract to continue as head football coach at the University of California, it was announced today. He was also given a contract of similar length as basketball coach. It is understood the two contracts call for a total of approximately $12,000 a year.

THOMPSON CANCELS BOUT

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Due to illness, Jack Thompson, of Chicago, will be unable to go through with his bout with Jackie Fields, Los Angeles welterweight, at Madison Square Garden, February 15. Matchmaker Tom McArdle is trying to arrange a scrap between Fields and Baby Joe Gans, of California, as a substitute.

SOCCER GAME GROUNDS SHIFTED

By TOM BIRKS

With the consent of the secretary of the National Amateur Cup competition, the Pittsburgh Soccer Club has transferred its game Saturday with the Cleveland Sparta Club from the Homewood Playgrounds to the Westinghouse High School Stadium.

This move was forced on the home club when no break seemed ahead in the cold spell. The playgrounds lot is far too rough for the playing of a National Cup tie. Of course, had there been a warm spell, the local officials intended to put a heavy roller on the playing space, but it would take more than a roller to take the bumps out of that ice-bound surface now.

On the other hand, the Westinghouse stadium is always in good condition. When the La Flamme club played there in the National, the Easterners pronounced it the fastest playing soccer field they had ever seen. In that game a terrific rainstorm broke; other fields would have been a quagmire—but not the high school field, and La Flamme passed some nice compliments before they left town.

Secretary Davy Herron has received a playing list from the Clevelanders, which also includes an added effort to have the game changed to the Forest City. The Pittsburghers, however, did not swerve from their first stand when the draw was made. The game must be played in Pittsburgh.

Jack Lowther was on the phone last evening asking the following players to report at the stadium not later than 1:45 o'clock Saturday noon: Boyle, Strachan, Miller, Murray, Schang, McNair, Behling, Herron, Toman, Galle, Moran, Hennigan, Evans, McGinn and Secane.

Arrangements are being made to handle the largest crowd of the season. Cleveland has sent some fine soccer teams to Pittsburgh, but advices state that in the Sparta team Pittsburgh soccer fans will see a real fast, scientific, goal-getting aggregation that will make plenty of friends.

Waddell, Tech Coach, Father of Baby Boy

Robert N. (Bob) Waddell, football coach at Carnegie Tech, is passing out cigars today, having been presented his second son in the South Side Hospital yesterday. Both mother and son are doing well. The Waddells have named the youngster Robert N. Waddell, Jr. They have another boy, James, aged 2½ years.

Ruth Due to Reach St. Petersburg Today

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Babe Ruth was due at the training camp of the New York Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla., this morning. Ed Barrow, business manager of the world champions, revealed that the home run king was bound for St. Petersburg when he fled from newspapermen here Tuesday night.

NURMI RUNS TONIGHT

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 31.—(INS.)—Paavo Nurmi will make the third start of his current American campaign here tonight when he competes in a two-mile handicap event at the St. Joseph's games. He will start from scratch.

DAZZY VANCE ASKS $25,000 SALARY

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Is Dazzy Vance, strikeout king of baseball, worth the $25,000 salary he is reported to be asking for the coming season?

A vote on this question would be interesting. If the ballot were restricted to the fans of Brooklyn the Dazzler's request probably would be O. K'd, Vance being extremely popular with the home folk. On a straight business basis, however, the outcome might be in doubt.

That Ol' Dazmarine is the best drawing card in the National League seems to be a fact. Take the one and only Bambino out of the reckoning and Vance, perhaps, would be at the top in pulling power throughout baseball.

Dazzy is more of a card at Forbes Field than Rogers Hornsby, in the opinion of some observers. When he is advertised to pitch you can look for a big turnout, even though the Dodgers be a poor card as a team.

Baseball is at best when the efforts of nine players are co-ordinated, yet the average fan seems to dote on a display of individual prowess. He loves to watch Dazzy in his efforts to whiff the hitter.

Vance probably draws in more than enough fans to make his equity 25 grand, but it is another thing to collect. On the other hand, the Robins would be in a sorry mess without him, and the fair-haired one doubtless laughs up his sleeve in Florida when he ponders the situation.

Dazzy fanned 200 batters last summer; he had to get the last hitter of the season on strikes to reach the double century. It is quite a treat to hear him describe, in his quaint way, the power he calls into play in order to get his man.

LAFAYETTES, GOLDENSONS FACE TESTS TONIGHT

By JULIUS LEVIN.

THE battle for first place in the second round of the Allegheny County League will be resumed tonight when the two leading clubs, the Duquesne Lafayettes, twice winners of the championship, and the Goldensons appear in games against strong opposition.

Both the Lafayettes and Goldensons have been running neck-and-neck in the second half of the County League fight and the results of tonight's contests are certain to play a big part in determining which of the two teams will hold the top rung.

CHAMPS MEET RAUHS

The Lafayettes, boasting three straight victories over the Rauhs, will attempt to make it four in a row tonight when they clash at Columbus Temple. The Rauhs have shown a big improvement in recent games and it would not be surprising to see them check the champions.

Over at the South Side Market House, the Goldensons, who many fans consider the best quintet in the circuit at present, will entertain the strong Duquesne Light passers. Since the addition of George Babic, former Goslin and Knickerbocker star, the Lighters have taken a decided brace and they should make things interesting for the South Siders.

The Goldensons are the only team to score a victory over the Lafayettes this season, defeating the champions in a first-round game at the Market House by 15 points. The South Siders are determined to win the second-round title and it goes without saying that they will be on their toes against Kemp McNutt's charges.

BATTLES IN P. & O.

Two fine attractions are listed tonight in the Pittsburgh and Ohio Valley League, a circuit that stands out with the best ever organized in this section of the state. Joe Dobbs, popular manager of the Immaculate Heart Club, takes his boys to Munhall, where they are scheduled to meet the M. J. Conleys, who finished in a tie with the Morrys for the first half title, while in the other game the Jeannette Felders oppose the McKeesport Alumni team in the Tube City.

Followers of the P. & O. loop are eagerly awaiting next Monday night's battle between the Morrys and Conleys for the championship of the league. The game, scheduled for the Elks Temple floor in Homestead, promises to draw a capacity crowd.

Local basketball fans who are planning to go to Cleveland next Sunday to see the Cleveland Rosies meet the New York Hakoahs in an American League battle are requested to make their ticket reservations with John J. Freund, Jr., at Lafayette 4297. Freund is the local representative of several American League clubs. Quite a number of Pittsburghers are figuring on going to Cleveland on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, which is conducting an excursion this week-end. The train leaves Sunday at 10 a.m. and arrives in Cleveland at 1:45 p. m. The return trip will begin shortly after midnight Sunday, arriving in Pittsburgh at 7:30 Monday morning.

DRIBBLES

The Butler Armco quintet will meet Olson's Terrible Swedes in Butler tonight. The Swedes are making their annual tour of Western Pennsylvania. The game is scheduled on the Butler Y court.

John J. Freund, Jr., is handling the booking arrangements for the Rochester Centrals, including in their lineup Johnny Beckman, former Celtic star. The Centrals plan to invade Pittsburgh next week. Teams interested in arranging games call Lafayette 4297.

MANGANS AHEAD

The Mangan Club defeated the McKeesport Alumni five, 32-30, in a P. & O. League game last night. The lineup:

Mangans—32.		Alumni—30.
E. Jesko	F	H. Yecies
Meade	F	Wineberg
Slutsky	C	E. Wineberger
Tecky	G	Angerman
F. Jesko	G	W. Yecies

Substitution—Woldocan for W. Yecies. Field goals—E. Jesko 5, Meade, Slutsky 4, Tecky 2, F. Jesko 2, H. Yecies 5, Wineburg 2, E. Wineberger 3, Anterman 2. Foul goals—Mangan, 4 out of 8; Alumni, 6 out of 9. Referee—Griffith.

The Coal, Oil and Iron Circuit did not convene, but tentative dates for that organization also were listed subject to a meeting to be held later.

Joseph M. McGraw, of Washington, was re-elected president, and Harry White, of Indiana, was re-elected secretary of the Keystone Short Ship Circuit.

The Keystone Short Ship Circuit dates decided were:

Waynesburg, August 20-23.
Washington, August 27-30.
Wheeling, September 4-6.
Indiana, September 10-13.
Dawson, September 17-20.
Bedford, September 24-27.
Carmichaels, October 2-4.

Dayton, August 6-10.
Ford City, August 14-16.
Butler, August 20-25.
Clarion, August 27-30.
New Castle, August 27-30.
Junction Park, August 31-September 3.
Stoneboro, August 31-September 3.
Mercer, September 10-13.

SPORT COMMENT

By JAMES J. LONG

"BACK in 1927 when I was in a hitting slump and then one of my ankles was injured," relates Hack Wilson, Bruin centerfielder. "Heathcote was sent to centerfield. I was glad to get out, so that I could get back my batting eye, but I soon found that the team did not need me.

"First day out, Heathcote spanked a single and two doubles. Next day he made a single, a double and a triple, and on the third day he made three doubles and a home run. I immediately decided that my ankle would stnad the strain in centerfield better than my nerves would stand bench-riding with Heathcote hitting like that. I am taking no time off with Heathcote waiting to step in."

Lester Bell.

MENTION of the Cubs draws attention to a rumor than the Chicago management has not abandoned its efforts to get Third Baseman Lester Bell from the Braves. This dickering was begun at the suggestion of Rogers Hornsby. Bell always shows to better advantage when on the same team with Hornsby, his worst slump having come while they were separated in 1927, and the Rajah believes that if the Cubs could acquire him he would be a great improvement over Fred Beck at third base. Last year Bell hit .277 to Beck's .257.

TOMMY GORMAN, manager of the New York Americans in the National Hockey League, has another scheme to increase scoring. Pittsburgh fans remember when there were seven men on a hockey team. Eventually the number was reduced to six. Now Gorman would go a step further and cut it to five.

"Make no rule changes but reduce the teams to five men by abolishing one defense position, just as the rover's job was abolished," Gorman suggests. The best hockey is seen when each team has a player in the penalty box and is playing with only five men on the ice. It would be good to see that kind of hockey at all times.

"TO ATTEMPT wide open hockey is suicide, because it opens the way for the other team to score. Then that team, after scoring can fall back on defensive hockey and hold the lead to the finish.

"Just take out one defense man and the game will improve, if higher scoring is an improvement. A wider net is my second choice, but I believe the elimination of one defense player is the logical move."

FRANK NIGHBOR, center of the Ottawa hockey team, and rated by many good judges as the best poke checker in the game, declares the rumors that he will be forced to retire because of a knee injury are without foundation. Nighbor now has his injured knee in a plaster cast, but he says he feels sure that when the cast is removed he will be able to play. "I'll play as long as I can skate," he said. When told it had been reported that he was afraid to play again on account of the possibility that a further injury would make him a cripple, Nighbor is reported to have registered extreme disgust and to have asserted that his record in professional hockey was enough to prove that he never showed fear.

Weather Conditions.

Low barometer covers the eastern states, with a rather weak center over the Ohio valley; lowest barometer, 29.96 inches, at Indianapolis. It is causing cloudy weather everywhere east of the Mississippi River, and light snow in the Ohio Valley states.

The Northwest high developed considerably in pressure and in extent. It now covers all the country from the Mississippi to west of the Rockies and from the Gulf of Mexico to north of the field of observations in Canada. Highest barometer reported was 30.90 inches, at Havre, Mont. The high is causing a decided drop in temperature throughout its area. The zero line extends as far south as Kansas, and the freezing line to Central Texas. The high is advancing eastward and will produce zero weather and below over this section Friday and Friday night.

River Conditions.

The rivers are at low stages everywhere and falling slowly. Stage at Pittsburgh is 11.9 feet; Dam No. 2, 2.4, and Dam No. 6, 8.0. The dams are down. Light ice is running in the Allegheny and the Ohio. River about one-third full.

American Oculist Succumbs in Paris

PARIS, Jan. 31.—(AP.)—Dr. Louis Borsch, American oculist, who had a wide practice among European notables, died during the night. Dr. Borsch was born in Philadelphia, but for a long time had been a resident of Paris. He was opthalmic surgeon at the American Hospital and was active in war work, being decorated several times.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

Moire rayon was employed for this attractive model. Crepe satin is also very desirable, with the full side out, and the satin surface used for seam piping and for the cuffs or alternating on the waist and yoke portions. The new voge of many pieces is expressed in this design. The waist front is formed of three shaped sections, curved from right to left. The skirt is mounted on a yoke with curved lower edges, and forms a pleasing dip at the left side.

The pattern for this distinctive style is cut in 8 sizes: 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52 inches bust measure. To make a 48-inch size will require 4¼ yards of 39 inch material. For a finish of bias binding as illustrated in the large view, 5⅝ yards will be required. The width of the dress at the lower edge with fullness extended is 1¾ yard.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department. The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

BORROW FROM "HOUSEHOLD" SAVE
Almost One-Third
Loans $10 to $300

This old established organization by reason of large volume, efficient management and ample capital is now making a substantial reduction in the cost of loans up to $300 by lowering the interest rate from the lawful maximum of 3½ per cent a month on unpaid principal balance to 2½ per cent.

FOR EXAMPLE ON LOANS.
Payable in 20 Equal Monthly Payments.
You Save as Follows:

$ 50 Loan—You Save	$ 5.25
100 Loan—You Save	10.50
200 Loan—You Save	21.00
300 Loan—You Save	31.50

THE SAME PROPORTIONATE SAVING ON OTHER AMOUNTS.

Loans may be paid in full at any time and you will only be charged for the actual time you keep the money. You get the full amount in cash—no deductions of any kind. We do not notify your employer, neither do we make inquiry of your friends, relatives nor tradespeople. If it is not convenient to call personally phone Atlantic 1198 or Atlantic 0735 and we will send a representative to your home.

BUGS BAER Says

WE ENJOY WILHELM'S BIRTHDAYS—NOW.

Arthur "Bugs" Baer

The Fifth Horseman is riding a bicycle now. The years unwaxed his temperament and his mustache.

He has also grown a beard. Which is a sign of intelligence.

The next time he sticks his chin out he will have a mattress on it.

He attributes his present good health to the fact that he has not been defeated lately.

He still retains the titles of All Highest, Majesty, Kaiser and King. He thinks he is a quartet.

But he hasn't lost his humor. He is not sore at America nor does he continue to regard treaties as picnic plates.

He is bitter against France.

France stopped the finest parade that Wilhelm ever started.

It was a beautiful procession until it reached the given point. Then Wilhelm sat on the point.

Wilhelm wants history to know that he was not responsible for trouble in Europe.

He says he didn't start the war.

He didn't finish it either.

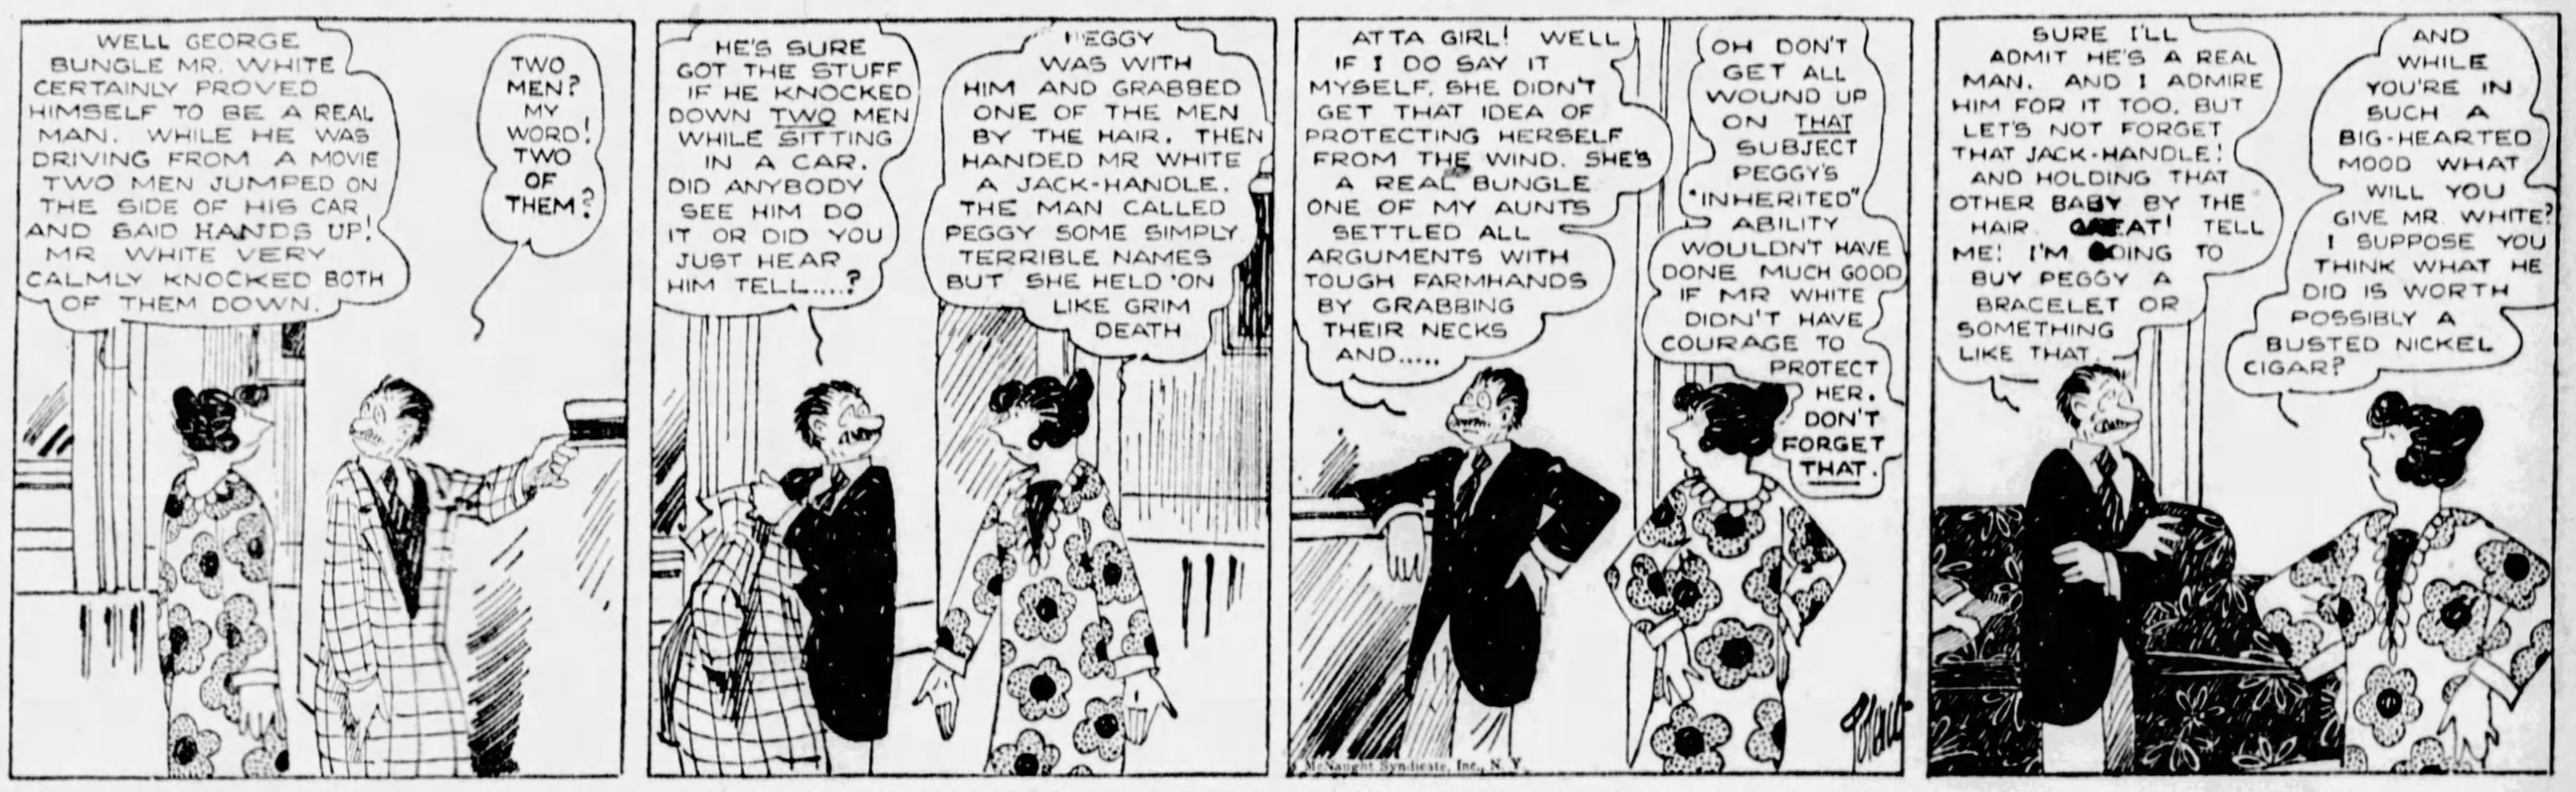
THE BUNGLE FAMILY

Hero or Heroine



WELL GEORGE BUNGLE MR. WHITE CERTAINLY PROVED HIMSELF TO BE A REAL MAN. WHILE HE WAS DRIVING FROM A MOVIE TWO MEN JUMPED ON THE SIDE OF HIS CAR AND SAID HANDS UP! MR WHITE VERY CALMLY KNOCKED BOTH OF THEM DOWN.
TWO MEN? MY WORD! TWO OF THEM?
HE'S SURE GOT THE STUFF IF HE KNOCKED DOWN TWO MEN WHILE SITTING IN A CAR. DID ANYBODY SEE HIM DO IT OR DID YOU JUST HEAR HIM TELL....?
PEGGY WAS WITH HIM AND GRABBED ONE OF THE MEN BY THE HAIR. THEN HANDED MR WHITE A JACK-HANDLE. THE MAN CALLED PEGGY SOME SIMPLY TERRIBLE NAMES BUT SHE HELD 'ON LIKE GRIM DEATH
ATTA GIRL! WELL IF I DO SAY IT MYSELF, SHE DIDN'T GET THAT IDEA OF PROTECTING HERSELF FROM THE WIND. SHE'S A REAL BUNGLE ONE OF MY AUNTS SETTLED ALL ARGUMENTS WITH TOUGH FARMHANDS BY GRABBING THEIR NECKS AND.....
OH DON'T GET ALL WOUND UP ON THAT SUBJECT PEGGY'S "INHERITED" ABILITY WOULDN'T HAVE DONE MUCH GOOD IF MR WHITE DIDN'T HAVE COURAGE TO PROTECT HER. DON'T FORGET THAT.
SURE I'LL ADMIT HE'S A REAL MAN, AND I ADMIRE HIM FOR IT TOO, BUT LET'S NOT FORGET THAT JACK-HANDLE! AND HOLDING THAT OTHER BABY BY THE HAIR. GREAT! TELL ME! I'M GOING TO BUY PEGGY A BRACELET OR SOMETHING LIKE THAT.
AND WHILE YOU'RE IN SUCH A BIG-HEARTED MOOD WHAT WILL YOU GIVE MR WHITE? I SUPPOSE YOU THINK WHAT HE DID IS WORTH POSSIBLY A BUSTED NICKEL CIGAR?

Prominent Group Wants a More Liberal Sunday Law

Proposal Is Step in Right Direction, But Doesn't Go Far Enough.

The scope of the revolt against blue law rigor of 1794 being applied as a stricture on modern life is reflected in the personnel of the sponsors of a meeting to be held today in the Chamber of Commerce to outline plans for a reasonable Sunday observance law. The significance of this move is indicated by the high standing of the group of men and women, prominent in commercial, social and civil life of our community, who come forward and boldly announce their intention of taking a side against an oppressive and long out-dated law.

Their purpose is "to bring about an observance of the Sabbath Day more in keeping with present-day life, under which certain diversions and amusements * * * may be legalized * * *." It is stated their plan is to work for legal sanction of wholesome recreation of noncommercial entertainment on Sunday.

While those who oppose blue Sundays of Pennsylvania will welcome the aid of this influential group of men and women there will be many who think their aim does not extend far enough. Many of these good people belong to golf and country clubs, and they realize the injustice of the fact of Sunday golf while even amateur baseball and football is banned. But if the "noncommercial entertainment" idea of their program is adhered to there will still remain the injustice of movies in the clubs while the same form of entertainment will be forbidden in the commercial theater, available to the poor as well as the rich.

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph believes the aims of these representative men and women are of the most commendable nature, but that they do not go far enough to give absolute justice to all. It believes that wholesome and innocent amusement and recreation needs no restriction except that of strict regulation for the personal and moral protection of the public.

Recently this newspaper commented editorially on the handicap to industry that is contained in the law of 1794, with reference to making the city undesirable as a place of residence for workers. It said that skilled workers now living where there is a modern liberal Sunday observance would not consent to be moved here, making it difficult for the Chamber of Commerce to realize one of its aims—expansion of industry.

It is gratifying to note that among those in the group of men and women above mentioned are many who are directors of the Chamber of Commerce. If so many of its directors, perhaps even a majority of the board, are in favor of a liberal Sunday, why does not the Chamber of Commerce, itself, go on record in the matter? It is a matter of so much commercial mportance that the city's business organization should be a leader in the movement.

As the Sun-Telegraph has pointed out repeatedly, the best way to help Pittsburgh in a commercial and industrial way, would be in the repeal or modification of the outrageous Sunday blue law, many of the provisions of which no one even seeks to enforce.

It commends the high ideals of the broad-minded men and women who have set themselves to the task of bringing about a change in the old, hampering, unjust, discriminative law, and hopes that they ultimately will see their way to make the job more complete than appears to be their present intention.

Time-Clause Heart of Naval Building Program

All those Senators who are not in favor of the all-important time clause in the Naval Replacement Bill now before the Senate are really against that measure.

Because the time clause directs that the construction of the 15 10,000-ton cruisers and the aircraft carrier which the pending bill authorizes shall begin within the next three years,

Therefore to strike this clause from the bill as the Republican leaders of the Senate are scheming to do would cut the heart out of the whole building program, which is the purpose of the pending bill. And without the time clause the passage of this bill would merely fill the files of the Navy Department with blueprints instead of building up the fleet by replacing obsolete cruisers with modern ones.

Surely the time has come for the government at Washington to stop turning out blueprints as a substitute for a Navy "equal to the strongest."

That was the Navy which was promised to the American people when a Republican administration scrapped thousands of tons of new construction and threw away hundreds of millions of dollars in accord with the terms of the absurd Hughes Naval Limitation Treaty.

That treaty was ratified under the false pretense that it would be followed by the maintenance of a Navy "equal to the strongest."

Instead of that sort of Navy the American people have seen their sea forces dwindle until they are not even a good second today among the fleets of the world.

And to remedy this disgraceful condition the Republican leaders of the Senate now propose more blueprints by way of another fatuous and futile gesture in the face of foreign governments.

Surely the Senate did enough gesticulation for one session when it ratified the ridiculous Briand-Kellogg Treaty.

Why make another foolish gesture toward the outside orld by passing the cruiser bill without its time clause, for out that clause that bill will only be a gesture.

R. Wage Boost Helps Prosperity of Pittsburgh

A fine boost for prosperity is contained in the announcement that nearly $1,000,000 a year is to be added to the payroll of the Pennsylvania Railroad in the Pittsburgh district through an increase in wages, announced yesterday. The increase, effective February 1, will affect many thousand men employed in the several Pittsburgh shops and yards of the company as well as those in Pitcairn, Conway and Scully.

This announcement follows a conference attended by 22 representatives of the company and 34 representatives of the employes, at which it was decided the new wage scale would range from 60 cents an hour for apprentices and helpers to 82 cents an hour for machinists, the latter increase being four cents.

The railroad payroll is the backbone of commercial life in a number of the communities in which this advance in wages will be felt, and it is an important part of the vertebral structure of Pittsburgh itself. The railroad payroll has the estimable quality of stability. Those who share in it seldom are floaters. They are dependable citizens, permanent residents of the communities in which they reside, a mainstay on whom tradesmen can rely.

Hence it can easily be imagined what effect there will be in giving them a million dollars more per year to spend in im- ving their homes and adding to their comfort in various

Tales That Are Told

Gentility Left Off

MRS. GOLDMAN had recently engaged a new maid. She was a thoroughly good girl, truthful, honest, very willing and obliging, but she lacked tact.

One evening, when her mistress was going out to dinner and the theater afterwards, the maid noticed that a favorite rope of pearls was missing.

"I am not wearing them, Winnie," replied Mrs. Goldman. "I don't fancy them tonight."

Puzzling

THE women's choir was competing in a choral competition, the two items being "Orpheus With His Lute" and "The Little Brown Bird."

One of the women was taken ill and could not attend. She was very disappointed, so the secretary promised to telegraph results.

Who Knows?

LITTLE Betty came running into the house in a state of great excitement. She went at once to the oval glass in the drawing room and regarded her reflection seriously.

"What's the matter, child?" asked her mother, who was busy dusting.

Her daughter turned round from the mirror.

"Well, mummie," she answered seriously, "I'm not sure; but I think I've got the stronger will."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

I LIKE to hear about the lawyer that got bawled out and all befuddled when he went to heckling the wrong guy in court. It's a story that's told in a lot of ways, but I reckon it ain't true. Seems like most any lawyer's got sense enough to pick his victims so's he won't get bawled out too bad.

This here witness was being pretty peaceful, and the lawyer for the other side was trying to make a monkey out of him.

Finally the lawyer says. "Ain't it true that you've been suspected of insanity by your own people?"

"Yes," says the witness, "but that was when I was talking about hiring you for my lawyer, and so I never blamed my people for thinking I was crazy."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

HOW much are you married? Eight hours per day—or all twenty-four?

Are you so much married that you'd get all in a titter if you had to take a lady friend to lunch without phoning the wife—or go for a ride with an old schoolmate without the husband's permission?

If you are, you're in a dangerous way, my friend, and you'll need to read Jess Lynch Williams article in the March Cosmopolitan. It's about Platonic Friendship and it's lots of article.

It gives the real reason why so many of our marriages go smash. Not the melodramatic reasons of the divorce document, but that cruelest, most insidious of all forms of torture—BOREDOM.

Here's what he says about Adam and Eve. He says it with a laugh, but he nevertheless reveals the secret tragedy that has wrecked many a Garden of Eden.

"'It is not good for man to be alone.' That is true, like so many things in the Bible. BUT GOD DID NOT MEAN MAN AND WIFE TO BE ALONE EITHER. And there, I think, we discover the inside story of why the first young married couple moved out of their first happy home.

"Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden were all alone from morning to night, with nothing to do except love each other and name the animals. They got bored to death and could not stand the monotony. No friends, no new interests, no fresh ideas to bring into each other's lives, not even any work to do. Nothing but humdrum happiness and enervating idleness. That is not Paradise. So when the Devil in the guise of a serpent suggested trying the fruit of the tree, 'they did eat.' They wanted a new sensation. Well, they got it. We all know the results."

"BOREDOM IS NOT A MERE AFFLICTION—IT IS A SIN!" says Jesse Williams, and proceeds to show that it is a sin against life, against that law which decrees that all living creatures must keep on the move, must constantly change and demand change.

"One has to work to make a success of marriage," says Mr. Williams. "I don't mean merely working for your bread and butter. I mean exercising your mind and imagination for making a fine thing of the most important relationship in life. It requires vision and courage to make a success of marriage—THE DIVINE PURPOSE OF A SPIRITUAL UNION CANNOT BE FULFILLED BY TURNING HOLY MATRIMONY INTO AN ENDURANCE CONTEST."

Has YOUR marriage become "a vulgar endurance contest?"

How much "courage and vision" are YOU putting into your union? How many changes have you made in the last few years? How many new interests have you brought into it, if any? Or are you still plugging along at the same old plan and wondering why everything is beginning to get your goat?

If so, a few lively Platonic Friends might help the situation a lot. Dangerous? Yes. But probably the best thing you need.

BACTERIOPHAGE

By Garrett P. Serviss

THE question of defense was settled for us by nature when she devised the blood and furnished it with fighting forces against disease. Nature, from her position of advantage, knew that no league of microbes or disarmament agreement among bacteria could insure the peace of life within the body. From the character of its constitution, life must fight for its existence. Balanced opposition is everywhere the order of the cosmos.

Perhaps the most important of all the activities of medical science at the present day is discovering and facilitating the work of the defensive forces of the body. There is no casuistry here about friendly enemies or about coddling evil. "Down the enemy or die!"

Among our most effective allies in this war for life is the invisibly minute "bacteriophage," a word that means "bacterium eater." Whether this is, as d'Herelle, one of its discoverers 10 years ago, believed, a real living organism ultramicroscopic in size and able to pass undetected through a porcelain filter, or, as others think, an unliving enzyme, or ferment, at any rate it is a merciless destroyer of some of the worst disease-producing bacteria that afflict humanity. It is one of nature's most decisive answers to pacifism from her point of view. It devours on sight the terrible bacterium dysenteriae, B. typhosus, B. coli, and other intestinal enemies. Its methods are quick and thorough, it turns the guns upon the enemy by using their own methods. It is parasitical, as they are. They are parasites in man; it is a parasite in them. It is the old story of the fleas and the subfleas, "ad infinitum."

A report recently has come from Dr. N. W. Larkum, of the Michigan Department of Health, that bacteriophage is now being successfully substituted for typhoid vaccine among patients in the Michigan state institutions. Dr. Larkum reports that it is a more efficient aid to the defensive forces of the blood in combating typhoid germs than is the typhoid serum. He found that a single inoculation of bacteriophage had a more lasting effect on the blood than a single inoculation of vaccine. But three inoculations gave less satisfactory results than a single one.

The fact that the bacteriophage—if it really is a living organism—is of extreme minuteness, recalls the newest form of defense against insect foes, which is conducted on the ally system. Insects are found which are potent enemies of those that afflict man or destroy his sources of food. And nothing that he can do directly is so effective as the work of these insect allies.

And so it runs throughout nature; each kind of living being is for itself and its allies and against inimical kinds and their allies. Man with his altruistic ideas and his moral precepts may be able to keep the peace among his fellows without either offense or defense—some times; but he cannot teach his morality to the insects or the bacteria or to any of the vital forces below his level.

Bible Passages

"Love Is of God"

(I. John 4; 7-21.)

BELOVED, let us love one another: for love is of God; and everyone that loveth is born of God and knoweth God.

He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love.

In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him.

Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins.

Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.

No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us.

Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit.

And we have seen and do testify that the Father sent the Son to be the Savior of the world.

Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God.

And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him.

Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment: because as he is, so are we in this world.

There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear: because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love.

We love him, because he first loved us.

If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar: for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?

And this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God love his brother also.

Night

SO kind is night, that brings sweet rest
To every weary, troubled breast,
That only happiest hearts dare sigh
When evening darkens earth and sky.
So kind is night that lends loved dreams
In place of day's uncertain schemes,
That joy must touch each thoughtful soul
To see the red sun near its goal
And paint the sea or mountain crest
With rainbow glories in the West.
For as the moon with magic light
Can touch dull earth to rare delight,
So, too, night's softly shining eyes
Change creeping thoughts to butterflies.
So kind is night, toil, strife withdrawn,

y Another Egg

By Herbert Kaufman

NOBODY ever knew you to throw away the deck because the first shuffle didn't bring a topping hand.

So why abandon ambition and further hope of a career after one disappointing deal?

The patient waiter always repeats his winnings, and gets his innings. A 100 per cent batter never lived, and the foremost bridge expert can't expect to "draw 'em right" all the time.

The late Paul Armstrong began by writing the worst plays that ever reached a manager's waste basket. But his last dramas showed the technique of a master.

Rupert Hughes hit-and-missed for a dozen years before magazines starred his novels. And Franklin K. Lane's early adventures in newspaper publishing were staged in the red-ink bottle.

Otto Mergenthaler built and destroyed a score of type-setting machines before the linotype performed. And meanwhile battled hardship and privation to the very gutter edge.

If everyone quailed and quit as promptly as you dropped out, the world would be a heluva place.

We're all capable of a hundred times more than we achieve.

No man has yet fully investigated the stores in his brain cupboard. But you confess mental bankruptcy after one half-hearted try at distinction.

Isaac Holden didn't let his thoughts go wool-gathering when he discovered the lucifer match, neglected to patent it, and went broke; but turned them to wool-combing, revolutionized weaving, and died a guinea millionaire.

Active minds and hens aren't discouraged by infertile eggs. If an occasional batch doesn't hatch, they keep on, and lay others.

Success is a cultivable habit. Edison's fecundity wasn't a birthright—it's a trained product. He keeps everlastingly at it, regardless of "bloomers," and demonstrates by the variety and multiplicity of his inventions that persistence is bound to yield a recompensing average of results.

Joseph Bramah also revealed the infinite resources of determined intelligence with the hydrostatic press, the safety lock, a banknote numberer, fire engines and paper-making machinery.

And Baron Armstrong's credits include the hydraulic accumulator and crane, a flock of electrical devices and the breech-loading gun.

Providence furnished them with a standard working kit—the same set of faculties that you received.

They gave their inherited tools a thorough try-out, and kept applying them at new jobs, while you let yours rust, before experience could give them even a second chance.

PARIS, Jan. 31.—The same thing has happened to night life in Montmartre that happened along Broadway a while back. It doesn't tick any more. Even the Royal Box at Zelli's in rue Fontaine is deserted. Of course, it is the dull season, but even so the cabaret business was never in such doldrums.

Only a handful may be found nightly in such haunts as Perroquet, Florida, Embassy and the Plantation. The biggest play seems to be in The Blue Room where Billy Reardon ringmasters the hoop-la. Pepe de Albrew is dancing at Perroquet. He is the ex-husband of Wilda Bennett, if that means anything.

Nocturnal gaiety centers around Ciro's, where the creme de la creme of tourists gather for 9:30 dinner, dance a little, depart before midnight and arise early to see if they are listed "among those dining at Ciro's last evening" in the Herald's society news.

Montmartre, like Broadway, merely overplayed its hand, and the debacle was inevitable. Suckers grew tired of split lead pencil additions. This, for example, is what happened to us in a rue de Clichy sin parlor last night. There were six in the party. With exception of myself perhaps, none looked like a Rotarian on the loose.

All had been places and done things yet at each plate was a bottle of inferior champagne at superior prices. None was in a champagne humor, yet the management refused to remove it. There was a $1 covert charge, although there was no music until midnight, when we made our bow out.

A succession of annoying pests tried to sell us long-legged French dolls, Spanish lottery tickets, perfume and tickets to a restaurant waiter's ball, held last summer. In addition two scented gigolos sought to dance with the ladies—at 20 francs per dance. And three "hostesses" sat uninvited at the table, ordering copious drinks.

To complete a terrible night out, taxis in front refused to carry us to our hotels unless assured triple the meter tariff. And while we wrangled, a group of impertinent cadgers surrounded us in a threatening manner. I never so longed for carpet slippers, a pitcher of sassafras tea and one of those evenings at home humming old songs.

* * *

On our way home we stopped in at another bazaar to pick up—you do that literally as a rule after midnight here—some friends. And it was here I ran across what is to my notion the stupidest waiter in the world. A matron and a gigolo sat at one of the tables. The waiter handed the check to the gigolo. Juggle that one!

One of the new hotels offers the dernier cri in service. At each bedside is an electrical push button. If one desires to know the time in the dead of night, the button is pushed and a light shines over the face of the clock on the opposite wall. It takes a Frenchman to think up a silly thing like that.

* * *

The worker here is paid little and consequently works little. But there is a consolation. He rarely loses his job. At a hotel where I have been stopping for 10 years I know of only one change in the personnel. A telephone boy in the bar is missing, but he did not lose his job. He was conscripted for service in the army. Year after year, one sees the same doormen, the same clerks, the same managers and same upturned palms. Seemingly there are no promotions. When one takes a job it becomes, such as it is, a lifetime career.

* * *

* * *

I stopped in at the postoffice in Rue Cambon this morning for a few timbres—gradually I'm forgetting all the English I used to know. The postoffice was no different from that of Plattsburg, Mo. A group of gossipers were warming themselves around a coal stove. There was a sawdust box for long range spitters. A clerk in gartered shirt sleeves waited on me, and all of a sudden the place was deserted to see a lively dog fight out front.

* * *

And unless one has tried to write with a pen in a French postoffice one has really never known exasperation. The same effect can be had trying to write with a string or something.

Why is it a taxi driver always knows exactly where you want to go until he has taken you about six miles beyond that point and discovered that YOU don't know where you want to go?

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

AFTER several years of married life it may seem to you rather foolish to send flowers to your wife on her birthday or some special occasion.

But she will not consider such a gift in that way.

Then flowers were among the most frequent gifts, perhaps most appreciated.

Many men think they have fully met expectations and desires if they give the wife a valuable present two or three times a year.

How about a Saturday night offering of fragrant blooms, a potted plant or the sort of greenery that does well in the house?
